Standardized Code Of Commercial Laws For Empire Is Urged

Resolution Passed By Imperial Press Conference at Ottawa; Harmonizing of Curricula of Universities of the Empire Is Suggested.

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—(Canadian Press)—Standardized commercial laws and naturalization laws throughout the British Empire and standard curricula for the universities of the Empire formed the subjects of a resolution submitted to the Imperial Press Conference this morning.

Dr. A. Bartolo, Malta, spoke to his resolution, which read as follows:

"That with a view to further strengthening the bonds of the Empire, the Imperial Press Conference submits:

(1) To the Empire Trade Conference meeting in Toronto in October next the advisability of bringing the commercial laws of the various Dominions as much as possible into line and possibly evolving a code of commercial laws for the whole Empire.

"(2) To the Imperial Conference meeting next year, the necessity of standardizing the naturalization laws of the Empire and requiring identical qualifications for the attainment and recognition of imperial citizenship.

"(3) To the Congress of the Universities of the Empire meeting in London next year, the advisability of harmonizing the curricula of the universities of the Empire as far as possible, and consistently with the exigencies and requirements of each, in order to render possible or facilitate the interchange of lecturers and students."

After some discussion the first and third paragraphs of Dr. Bartolo's resolution were carried after amendment which deleted the reference to the Empire Trade Conference and the Congress of the Universities of the Empire. Consideration of the second paragraph was postponed.

Newsprint.

At yesterday afternoon's session of the Conference newsprint and the supply of this commodity to the newspapers were the chief themes. Experts on behalf of both the Canadian publishers and Canadian manufacturers were heard on the subject.

Newsprint difficulties at the Antipodes were emphasized by a number of the delegates. In Australia, one delegate said, they paid as much as $450 a ton for newsprint, when they could get it, and they had to depend on Canada for it. And why it should increase 100 per cent. in price over the Canadian and United States prices was another thing they could not understand.

A number of important resolutions concerning the production of newspapers was passed by the conference at the day's sessions, which lasted

DENVER STRIKERS READY TO RESUME

Street Car Men Ask to Be Re-employed in a Body

Denver, Col., Aug. 7.—Striking tramway trainmen here at a meeting to-day voted to call off their strike if the company will permit them to return to work in a body and send the strikebreakers out of town.

Denver, Colo., Aug. 7.—Denver is quiet to-day following a night of rioting in which three persons were killed and a dozen wounded in a clash between sympathizers of the street car strikers and the strike-breakers.

Two hundred and fifty regular army soldiers from Fort Logan took charge of the situation early this morning when Mayor Bailey issued a proclamation turning the city over to the control of the military under Colonel C. C. Ballou. Five hundred additional troops from Camp Funston, Kansas, are expected to-night in answer to a request from Governor Shoup.

Mass Meeting.

Interest centred to-day in a mass meeting of strikers called by their leaders to vote on a recommendation of the union executive committee that they return to work.

In a statement issued to-day, F. W. Wild, general manager of the tramway company, declared the union would not be recognized, no working agreement would be entered into and strike-breakers would be given preference in employment.

Colonel Ballou to-day ordered all strike-breakers disarmed. Troopers rode on the top of each car leaving the barns.

HAMILTON NURSE TO GO TO ROUMANIA

Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 7.—Miss Lilas Morden, of Hamilton, has been chosen by the Queen of Roumania for special training work in that country in connection with the plan for Canadian nurses to go to Roumania.

COAST-TO-COAST PLANES APPROACH SAN FRANCISCO

Reno, Nev., Aug. 7.—The two all-metal aeroplanes blazing a trail from New York to San Francisco for the coast-to-coast mail service left on the last leg of their journey at 8.30 this morning.

SAYS WEST READY FOR HIGHER RATES

Hanna Thinks Canada West of Great Lakes Approves Railway Increases

Toronto, Aug. 7.—D. B. Hanna, president of the Canadian National Railways, has returned to Toronto from a five weeks' tour of the Western provinces firmly convinced that, as he stated in an interview, "there is no opposition in the West to an increase of freight rates for the railways."

He further asserted: "When the battle opens next week at Ottawa I do not think there will be any doubt of an increase."

Mr. Hanna said he had spoken to members of boards of trade on his trip and "they all agreed that the railways needed an increase; the only thing that worried them was that we might not get an increase high enough."

He added that if a transcontinental railway was to do effective work it must be assisted and it must receive a revenue commensurate with the service it was able to give.

HARVESTING BEGINS IN MANITOBA

Winnipeg, Aug. 7.—Harvesting will be general next week in Manitoba, officials of the Dominion-Provincial employment bureau said to-day. They added that there was already a demand for workers in some districts where harvest operations are under way.

The first trains of harvesters from the east are expected to arrive in Winnipeg Wednesday and the men will have no difficulty in finding work at good wages, labor officials said.

JEWS IN UKRAINE IN SAD PLIGHT

Many Reported Starving; 138,000 Declared Killed in Pogroms

London, Aug. 7.—(Jewish Telegraphic Agency).—Nearly ninety delegates representing the Jews of twenty-eight countries, are gathered in Karlsbad to discuss problems affecting relief and reconstruction of East European Jewery.

Delegate Temkin, one of the most noted of Russian Jewish leaders, reporting on the present situation in the Ukraine, drew a terrible picture. To date, Temkin said, the committee of which he was head was in possession of evidence that 568 pogroms had taken place, with 138,000 killed. These figures were exclusive of sixty-nine pogroms carried out by General Denikine's army, he asserted.

Many hundreds of thousands, he added, were literally starving and more than 130,000 orphans were virtually homeless and shelterless.

REMOVES RIGHT OF TRIAL BY JURY

British Commons Passes a Measure to Apply to Disturbed Ireland

Courtsmartial and Courts of Summary Jurisdiction to Handle Cases

London, Aug. 7.—The text of the Irish Crimes Bill, given third reading with overwhelming majority in the House of Commons last evening, is in part as follows:

1—Whereas it appears to His Majesty-in-Council that, owing to the existence of a state of disorder in Ireland the ordinary law is inadequate for the prevention and punishment of crime or the maintenance of order, His Majesty-in-Council may issue regulations under the Defence of the Realm Consolidation Act, 1914, hereinafter referred to as the Principal Act, for securing the restoration and maintenance of order in Ireland, and as to the powers and duties for that purpose of the Lord Lieutenant, the Chief Secretary and of members of His Majesty's forces and other persons acting on His Majesty's behalf, and in particular regulations for the special purposes hereinafter mentioned.

No Juries.

2—The provisions of the Principal Act with respect to the trial by courtsmartial or courts of summary jurisdiction and punishment of persons committing offences against the Defence of the Realm regulations shall extend to the trial and punishment of persons who have committed crime in Ireland, whether before or after the passing of this Act, including persons committed for trial against whom indictments have been found, provided, however, that:

(a)—Any crime when so tried shall be punishable with the punishment assigned to the crime by the common law.

Murder Trials.

(b) A courtmartial when trying a person charged with a crime punishable by death, shall include as a member of the court one person (who need not be an officer) nominated by the Lord-Lieutenant, being a person certified by the Lord Chancellor of Ireland or the Lord Chief Justice of

PREMIER AND BOWSER HAVE "RED HOT" TIME

Met For Three-Hour Combat on Same Platform in Pouce Coupe

Presumably with the object of relieving the monotony of a tour exclusively devoted to the examination of railway conditions, Premier Oliver has been able to devote a little time to engineering while in the Pouce Coupe section of the Province.

According to a wire received at the Parliament Buildings this morning both the Leader of the Government and the Leader of the Opposition—who traveled together north-westward on the E. D. & B. C. train the other day—have appeared on the same platform for the special delectation of the northern central electorate.

Mr. Oliver's message indicates that he and his gladiatorial opponent went to the mat for three hours on Thursday evening in what the Premier describes as a "red hot" time, the tournament being one in which railways—and the Government's policy, presumably—predominated.

The message filed at Pouce Coupe, however, indicates definitely, in the Government Leader's opinion, that the sentiment of the interested spectators "overwhelmingly favored the Government." The last four are Mr. Oliver's own words.

Japan About to Reply To States on Saghalien

Tokio, Aug 7.—(Associated Press)—Japan's answer to the American note on the subject of the Japanese occupation of the north half of the Island of Saghalien was decided upon by the Cabinet to-day and later was approved by the Diplomatic Advisory Council.

The Advisory Council is composed of eminent Japanese and serves as a sort of modern body of Elder Statesmen, counselling the Cabinet with regard to the policies of the empire.

COLLISHAW TO GO TO POLAND

Now on Way to United Kingdom; Member of Commission

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—Squadron Leader Raymond Collishaw, D. S. O., D. F. C., D. S. C., who had been in Ottawa for a few days, left yesterday for Montreal en route to England. While in the capital he received notification that he would be appointed to a special commission for the Royal Air Force to be sent to Poland, but no details of the nature of his duties there were vouchsafed.

Collishaw, one of the most distinguished Canadian pilots in the Royal Air Force, also was notified by the Air Board in London that he had received the Order of the British Empire for services rendered while employed in Russia, and yesterday the purple of that Order was added to his already long string of British and foreign decorations.

He has been granted a permanent commission in the Royal Air Force, and has been spending the last few months in Canada on leave. Prior to coming to Canada, Collishaw had completed a period of service with the Denikine anti-Bolshevik forces in South Russia.

Collishaw left Victoria July 26 after spending a short time on Vancouver Island.

YACHT VICTORIA RUNS AGROUND

Party Landed in Maine; Craft Formerly Was Dunsmuir Yacht

York, Maine, Aug. 7.—The yacht Victoria, of Marblehead, Mass., went aground on York Ledge, four miles off shore, in a heavy fog to-day. The members of the party were landed at York Harbor in the yacht's tenders.

Headed for Montreal.

New York, Aug. 7.—The steam yacht Victoria, chartered by Sir Thomas Lipton for the international yacht races, was surrendered by him August 1 and sailed for Montreal last Monday. She is owned by Arthur Meeker, of Armour & Company, of Chicago, who with a party of friends was cruising along the North Atlantic coast.

The steam yacht Victoria is known to Victorians, having formerly been owned by the late Hon. James Dunsmuir, when she bore the name Dolaura.

U. S. MOTORBOAT AT COWES FOR RACE BURNS AND SINKS

Cowes, Isle of Wight, Aug. 7,—The racing motorboat Whip-Poor-Will, Jr., here to represent the Motorboat Club of America in the contest for the Harmsworth Trophy, beginning August 10, caught fire in Osborne Bay to-day and sank. The crew was rescued.

TEST PAPER SUITS IN THE STATES

Commerce Department Will Display Them in Cities; Sixty Cents Each

Washington, Aug. 7.—Paper suits, much in vogue in Germany and Austria, soon will make their appearance in the United States, and if inquiries to the Department of Commerce can be taken as an indication of the problem, they may become even more popular in the lower-the-cost-of-living campaign than was the lowly overall a short time ago.

Cable orders for samples of the suits have been dispatched by the Department of Commerce, it was announced to-day, and when the samples arrive they will be displayed not only in Washington, but also in the Department's district and co-

REPORT CLAIMS GREEKS TO OCCUPY CONSTANTINOPLE

Rome, Aug. 7.—Authorization to occupy Constantinople has been given the Greeks by the Allied nations, according to a dispatch received by The Osservatore Romana.

Direct Constantinople advices have given no inkling that any such action as indicated in the foregoing was contemplated by the Allies, and there is no confirmation of the report from any other source.

FOREST FIRES IN KOOTENAY DISTRICT

Big Blaze in Salmon River Valley; Fires at Other Points

Nelson, Aug. 7.—An area two miles square in the Salmon Valley, near Erie, is on fire and so far the blaze, which is as yet not in important timber, is not under control. With the wind variable, there is no certainty which way the fire will head, but the efforts of the forty-five men working on it is to head it off from good timber. The limits of the Northern Cedar Company, Lindsley Brothers, and the Clarksons of Toronto are around the outskirts of the area. Unless a wind springs up, the timber of the Erie Lumber Company is safe.

Thursday's reports of damage were exaggerated, the Arlington Mine buildings not having been damaged.

At Lake.

An area of about 2,000 acres of timber between La France and Lockhart Creeks, on Kootenay Lake, is burning, and there is also a serious fire on Krao Creek, a tributary of Coffee Creek, above Ainsworth. Each of these fires is being fought by a crew of twenty-five men. There are now fires in many parts of the district, usually of lightning origin, but owing to the dryness of the season, once started, they persist. Very fortunately there has been practically no wind since the drenching downpour of eight days ago. If a high wind should spring up, undoubtedly the conditions of July, 1919, would be duplicated in a few hours.

League Commission to Reduce World Armaments

London, Aug. 7.—Denial of published reports concerning the work of the permanent Armaments Commission of the League of Nations, with an explanation of the body's duties, is contained in a statement just issued by the Bureau of the League of Nations.

"Reports grossly misrepresenting the powers and purposes of the permanent Armaments Commission of the League of Nations have been published in certain newspapers," says the statement. "An effort seems to have been made to represent this body as invested with functions directly opposite to those actually entrusted to it.

"The whole object of the Commission is to secure a voluntary international agreement for the reduction of armaments throughout the world. This involves so many technical questions that it can best be dealt with by a body of military, naval and air experts, who will prepare recommendations for the civil authorities of the League as represented in the Council and Assembly, who in turn will prepare recommendations for the various nations to accept or reject as they see fit.

"It cannot be too strongly emphasized that the functions of this Commission are those set down in the covenant and none other."

Allied Leaders Are To Meet Tomorrow And Discuss Poland

Lloyd George and Millerand Will Hold Conference in Hythe, England; Reply From Soviet to Kameneff's Telegram Probably Will Be on Hand.

London, Aug. 7.—Premiers Lloyd George and Millerand will meet at Hythe, Eng., to-morrow, to discuss the Polish situation. It is expected that by that time the Soviet Government will have answered a telegram that M. Kameneff, one of the chiefs of the Soviet delegation in this city, sent to Moscow following a long conference with Mr. Lloyd George and other Government officials yesterday. It seems certain that there will not be an immediate break in the negotiations between the Allies and the Soviet Government and it is believed possible the French and British Premiers may have before them propositions from Moscow which may assist them in dealing with the serious situation confronting Poland.

GERMAN FORCE IN EAST PRUSSIA

Goeppert Informs Allies Berlin Intends to Organize Groups There

Paris, Aug. 7.—Dr. Goeppert, head of the German Peace Commission, delivered to the French Foreign Office yesterday a note relative to the organization of a special German military force in East Prussia.

The Berlin Government, according to this morning's newspapers, announced that armed groups will be formed in that province out of fear of the Bolsheviki, and that "in the interests of public order," the Government is obliged to take a hand in the organization of this militia.

The note presented by Dr. Goeppert further recalls the request recently made to the Council of Ambassadors for permission to send German Government troops into the plebiscite territory at Marienweorder and Allenstein.

To Violate Treaty.

Editorial opinion professes to see in this note an attempt by Germany to take advantage of the situation to violate the Versailles Treaty.

"Everything," says The Petit Parisien, "shows that an imposing force will be ready at the German-Polish frontier to hold up the hands of the Bolshevik advance guards."

EARNINGS OF G. T. R.

Montreal, Aug. 7.—Grand Trunk Railway traffic earnings for the week ended July 31, 1920, were: $3,837,589; for the corresponding period last year, $3,068,335.

CAN CLAIM NO COUNTRY AS HOME

Radical to Be Deported From States, But Scotland Bars Him

New York, Aug. 7.—(Canadian Press).—McGregor Ross, now detained at Ellis Island, appears to be, despite his name, a man "without a country."

Ross was arrested in Seattle as a radical and the United States Immigration authorities ordered him deported. His name indicated Scotland as the legal place to send him, but Scotland refused to accept him as a Scotchman. Ross himself, claiming to be a citizen of the United States, tried to get free on a writ of habeas corpus, but the court turned him down.

Turned down by the United States and cast off by the land of his ancestors, Ross seems likely to have Ellis Island as his address for some time. He is sixty years old.

Paris, Aug. 7.—Premier Millerand will leave at 7.30 o'clock to-night for Hythe, England, where he will confer to-morrow with Premier Lloyd George relative to the Polish situation. Newspapers here declare Marshal Foch will be present at the Premiers' conference.

Poles Resisting.

London, Aug. 7.—Russian Bolshevik armies hammering the Polish lines northeast and east of Warsaw seem to have encountered stern resistance. With the exception of the area around Brest-Litovsk, east of Warsaw, no new advances by Soviet troops have been reported, and even there they have been limited by the desperate fighting of the Polish troops.

Polish forces have been forced to retire from Terespol, about four miles west of Brest-Litovsk, and have lost Muramie, about five miles to the south. Thus the Bolsheviki have gained a foothold on the west bank of the Bug River in this region, but it is probable their further progress will be very slow, as permanent forts, erected years ago to defend the city, must be stormed if the Bolsheviki are to gain ground there.

Drive Reds Back.

Northwest of Brest-Litovsk, along the Bug River, the Polish forces have launched vigorous counter-attacks and have succeeded in driving back across the river Bolshevik detachments which had succeeded in reaching the left bank of the stream.

Farther north along the battle-front, toward the East Prussian frontier, a great battle is being fought, but no details of the outcome have been given in late dispatches. At Mysxyniec, about five

BOLSHEVIKI STATE TOWN RETAKEN FROM WRANGEL'S TROOPS

London, Aug. 7.—The Bolsheviki have begun an offensive against General Wrangel, the anti-Bolshevik leader in Southern Russia, who in his recent campaign advanced some distance northward from his base in the Crimea. In Friday's official statement from Moscow the recapture by the Russians of Alexandrov is claimed, with further advances by the Soviet troops.

SAYS NEEDED COAL WILL BE SUPPLIED

Carvell Says Canadians Will Have Fuel, But at High Price

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—(Canadian Press)—Hon. F. B. Carvell, chairman of the Board of Railway Commissioners, in discussing the coal situation in Canada, said that all of Canada west of Fort William, as well as the maritime provinces, will be able to secure whatever coal it requires. While there would be a scarcity of anthracite, there would, in his opinion, be enough to meet the actual needs of the people provided they were willing to purchase their supplies as rapidly as the coal could be delivered, instead of following their usual custom of waiting until Winter. He regretted that the price would probably be excessive.

No Price-Fixing.

Since all the anthracite and a large percentage of the bituminous coal comes from the United States, where there is no price-fixing, Mr. Carvell stated it would not be feasible for the Board to fix prices in Canada at present. However, if there should be further evidence of profiteering the Board would deal with it.

Regarding the embargo, he pointed out that 100,000 tons per month had been exported for some months past from Eastern Canada. This all would be saved for Canadian use except the small amount needed for bunkering. There was plenty of shipping available and this coal would be rushed to Montreal as rapidly as it was mined.

REDS ARE BITTER AGAINST ALLIES

Berlin, Aug. 6.—Intense anti-Entente feeling is rampant among the Russian Bolshevik troops, and hatred for the French is pronounced, according to a dispatch to The Deutsche Zeitung from Koenigsberg (East Prussia). Men of the Bolshevik army, it says, openly boast that no quarter will be shown Entente officers and men who dare show themselves along the frontier.

The dispatch asserts there is no animosity shown toward the Germans, and the Russians reiterate that they don't propose to violate German territory.

The message credits Red army officers who walk across the customs barriers at Prosken with declaring that Moscow is determined to incorporate Poland in the Russian empire and restore to Germany territory taken from her through the peace treaty.

ALPINE CLUB HAS ELECTED OFFICERS

Banff, Alta., Aug. 7.—The Alpine Club of Canada, at its annual camp held at Mount Assiniboine, elected the following officers for the coming term:

Director, A. O. Wheeler; honorary president, Sir Edmund Walker; president, Lieut.-Colonel W. W. Foster; vice-presidents, H. B. Mitchell and C. B. Sissions; honorary treasurer, Major Selby Walker; honorary secretary, Sir James Outram; secretary, S. H. Mitchell.

IMMIGRATION IS ON THE INCREASE

49,242 Entered Canada During April, May and June Last

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—Immigration to Canada during April, May and June of the present year showed an increase of 68 per cent. over the corresponding months in 1919, according to a statement made public by Hon. J. A. Calder, Minister of Immigration and Colonization. The greatest increase was shown in June, when the immigration to Canada was 109 per cent. greater than in June a year ago.

Of the 49,242 immigrants who entered Canada in April, May and June of this year, 28,487 were British, 16,397 were from the United States, and 4,358 from other countries.

Some interesting figures showing the movement of immigration previous to the war, during the war and in the year since the war also are presented. In the five years previous to the war the total immigration to Canada was 1,661,42,5 of whom thirty-seven per cent. were British, thirty-six per cent. from the United States, and twenty-seven per cent. from other countries. During the war period immigration from Great Britain fell off very greatly and from the United States considerably. The total from all countries was 405,476, of whom eighteen per cent. were British and sixty-seven per cent. from the United States.

With the conclusion of the war, British immigration showed a rapid increase, and the proportions for the first year after the war were fifty-one per cent. British, forty-two per cent. from the United States, and the remainder from other countries.

The shipping situation is still a factor limiting British immigration, but this is gradually being corrected.

ROUMANIANS STATE THEY ARE NEUTRAL

London, Aug. 7.—M. Titulesco, Roumanian Minister to France, notified the British Government yesterday that Roumania's attitude toward the Russo-Polish conflict was one of strictest neutrality, but in event of any joint action becoming necessary, Roumania would co-operate with the remainder of the Allies.

It was stated in official Roumanian quarters that there was no foundation for the statement that Roumania was willing to give Poland military support if Great Britain and France should supply financial aid. Roumania's concentration of troops on the frontier was declared to be merely precautionary.

BRITISH LABOR MEN TO MEET AND CONSIDER RUSSIA

London, Aug. 7.—Members of the Parliamentary Committee of the Trades Union Congress and members of the Labor Party have been recalled by telegraph from Geneva to meet in London next week to consider the Russian situation.

Meanwhile a strongly worded manifesto, signed by eight members of the House of Commons and eight other Labor leaders, including James O'Grady, John Albert Clynes and Arthur Henderson, has been issued, warning the British public against the possibility of drifting into another war, and declaring that labor will not co-operate in a war supporting Poland.

TO OPEN TARIFF INQUIRY SEPT. 15

Three Ottawa Ministers Will Come to Coast After Visiting Winnipeg

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—The Tariff Commission will open its sittings at Winnipeg on Wednesday, September 15.

The Commission will consist of Sir Henry Drayton, Minister of Finance (chairman); Hon. J. A. Calder, President of the Privy Council, and Senator Robertson, Minister of Labor.

"It is necessary," Sir Henry stated to a Canadian Press representative, "that the Commission's sittings should commence as soon as possible, so that the labors of the Commission may be completed in time for consideration at the next session of Parliament.

"It has been determined to open the meetings at Winnipeg on Wednesday, September 15. The Commission, after the initial sittings in Winnipeg, September 15, will proceed direct to the coast and take evidence there, and hold sittings in the Prairie Provinces on the return journey in October, so as to meet the convenience of those whose farming operations would render their attendance in September difficult. On the return journey a second meeting also will be held in Winnipeg. The exact dates of the sittings at other points will be stated in the near future."

The proposed itinerary of the Commission is as follows:

Winnipeg, September 15; Vancouver, Victoria, Vernon, Nelson, Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Regina, Brandon, Winnipeg, Port Arthur, Sault Ste. Marie, Windsor, London, Hamilton, Toronto, Kingston, Montreal, Sherbrooke, Three Rivers, Quebec, St. John, Moncton, Sydney, Charlottetown, Halifax, Ottawa.

It is hoped that at the initial Winnipeg meeting the broad outlines of the cases parties desire to make from any standpoint will be presented.

TURKISH TREATY TO BE SIGNED ON TUESDAY NEXT

Paris, Aug. 7.—The signing of the Turkish treaty has again been postponed, this time until next Tuesday, owing to the Greeks and Italians having failed to agree on certain provisions of the document. The treaty was to have been signed yesterday.

JUGO-SLAVS WERE DISPERSED BY FIRE OF ITALIAN SHIP

London, Aug. 7.—Firing upon an Italian battleship from Fiume by Jugo-Slavs near Bukar is reported in a Central News dispatch from Rome, which gives as its authority the Fiume correspondent of The Rome Popolo Romano. The battleship returned the fire and dispersed the Jugo-Slavs.

It was officially announced, the dispatch adds, that the Albanians had occupied Kastrati, capturing three machine guns, and were driving the Serbians, who recently seized the town, over the frontier.

OTHER STATES FEAR BOLSHEVIK DESIGNS

Washington, Aug. 7.—A general conference of representatives of the Baltic States on general questions affecting these States, including the Bolshevik situation, began yesterday at Riga. Advices to the State Department said delegates were in attendance from Finland, Poland, Esthonia, Letvia, Lithuania and the Ukraine.

New York, Aug. 7.—The formation of an economic union of Slavic nations lying in the triangle bounded by the Baltic, Adriatic and Black Seas will be considered at a conference between Prince Lubomirski, Polish Ambassador to the United States; Jan Masaryk, Czecho-Slovakian Charge d'Affaires at Washington, and diplomatic and commercial representatives of other Slavic nations to be held at Newport, R. I., to-morrow. The menace of the Bolshevik advance was given here by Count Jeam de Strelecki as the reason for the proposed league.

MINERS' CONGRESS AT GENEVA CLOSES

Geneva, Aug. 6.—Via London, Aug. 7.—The Miners' Congress, which had been in session here for some time, closed to-day amid much enthusiasm. Robert Smillie, of England, who presided, in his closing remarks said that the miners had given the Governments of the world a lesson as regards union and friendly co-operation.

William Savage, of Ohio, the American delegate to the Congress, told the Associated Press to-day he considered the general strike the most powerful instrument to prevent future wars.

"I suffered with Rheumatism for five years, having it so badly at times I was unable to get up without assistance.

I tried different medicines I saw advertised and was treated by doctors in Amherst, also in my home town, but the Rheumatism came back.

In 1916, I saw in an advertisement that 'Fruit-a-tives' would stop Rheumatism, and took one box and got relief; then I took them right along for about six months and the Rheumatism was all gone and I have never felt it since.

Anyone who would care to write me as regards 'Fruit-a-tives' I would be glad to tell them what 'Fruit-a-tives' did for me."

CANADIAN WHEAT FOR JAPANESE

Kobe Dealer Says New Market For Dominion Grain in Orient

Winnipeg, Aug. 7.—Canada will find a new market for wheat in Japan now that the Russian market, Japan's former base of supply, is closed, according to F. Fujita, of Kobe, Japan, who is in Winnipeg in the interests of a produce business which he represents.

"There is a big market for Canada in the East if it grasps the opportunity," he declared. "It is of the utmost importance to both countries that they maintain friendly relationship."

ALBERTA'S BUTTER OUTPUT INCREASES

1920 Total Probably Will Be 12,000,000 Pounds; 1919 Total 11,000,000 Pounds

Edmonton, Aug. 7.—The production of butter in this province in 1920 will in all probability reach 12,000,000 pounds, W. W. Prevey, one of the leading creamery men in central Alberta, predicts. In view of the scarcity of feed which prevailed in some parts of the province during the Winter and the very late Spring, this is regarded as a rather remarkable achievement, inasmuch as the entire production during 1919 was only 11,000,000 pounds.

Last year Edmonton produced more butter than any other city in Canada.

From New Zealand.

Edmonton, Aug. 7.—W. A. Sowman, of Blenheim, New Zealand, is a recent arrival in Edmonton from the other side of the world. He will spend the coming Fall and Winter in Alberta, and will take up livestock farming on a large scale as soon as he has had a good look around.

Mr. Sowman is an experienced sheep-raiser and poultry fancier, and for several years has been one of the most successful prize winners in both classes at the New Zealand fairs. It is his intention to import some standard breeding stock from the antipodes, and to try out in Alberta some of the sheep-raising methods that have made New Zealand a land of wool and mutton.

BOLSHEVIKI MENACE PERSIAN CAPITAL

Washington, Aug. 7.—Soviet Russia has followed up its successes against Poland with a thrust into Southwestern Asia, and its forces already are threating the Persian capital of Teheran.

This rather unexpected move is believed by some officials and diplomats here to be directed against British and French dominions in the Near East and Asia.

Intelligence of the Soviet's army advance south and west of the Caspian Sea was conveyed yesterday in official dispatches from J. L. Caldwell, American Minister to Persia, and the American Consul at Tabriz.

The Minister asked permission to remove the American Legation from Teheran in view of the preparations of the Persian Government to evacuate the capital, while the consul asked authority to move to Tabriz. Both requests were granted.

PLUMAGE SEIZED ON SHIP AT NEW YORK

New York, Aug. 7.—With the seizure of bird of paradise feathers, said to be worth $80,000, as they were being landed from the Italian steamship Duca d'Abruzzi here yesterday, revenue officials believe they have uncovered a ring of smugglers who have brought a million dollars' worth of prohibited plumage into the country.

Two of the vessel's crew were arrested. When the vessel was searched, pillows and mattresses in the firemen's quarters were found stuffed with the costly feathers.

B. C. UNIVERSITY PROFESSOR RESIGNS

Vancouver, Aug. 7.—Dr. D. McIntosh, Professor of Chemistry at the University of British Columbia, has tendered his resignation, to take effect on September 1. The resignation will be considered at a special meeting of the Board of Governors to be held about the middle of the month. So far no steps have been taken to fill the forthcoming vacancy.

Professor Klinck said the resignation was not over a question of salary or conditions, but Professor McIntosh felt that existing facilities were not such as to permit the proper carrying out of the work of his department.

PAPER PROBLEM OF UNITED STATES

Seventy-five Per Cent. of Newsprint Paper Pulp Imported From Canada

New York, Aug. 7.—(Canadian Press)—Warning that it is within the power of Canada to force the United States to "return, so far as the printed word is concerned, almost to the dark ages," is sounded by the writer of an article on the paper situation in the United States, which is printed in The Wall Street Journal.

"When Sir Auckland Geddes, Great Britain's Ambassador to the United States, spoke to the representatives of southern newspapers at Asheville, N. C., a few days ago," the writer says, "he had in mind among other things the newsprint paper situation. He did not refer in words to a condition which has become alarming, but he did speak of the importance of maintaining friendly relations between Britain, Canada and the United States. Should there come some irritation, some breach in these relations, Canada might be tempted to place an embargo upon the export to the United States of paper and of wood pulp. Should this happen, it would not be long before the United States would return, so far as the printed word is concerned, almost to the dark ages.

Seventy-Five Per Cent.

"Sir Auckland knew that the manufacturers of newsprint paper in the United States are now dependent for 75 per cent. of their pulp upon Canada. A few years ago we were producing so much wood pulp in this country that less than 20 per cent. of the pulp manufactured into paper in the United States came from Canada. Rapid has been the increase in the imports of Canadian pulp. The estimate now is that not more than forty years, and perhaps as few as thirty years, will have passed when the announcement will be made that no longer has the United States any wood pulp timber, so that we shall be dependent upon Canada for 100 per cent. of the pulp used in the manufacture of paper.

By 1950 Perhaps.

"Leaving Alaska out of consideration, our own pulp timber, large in the aggregate as it is, will, unless there be reforestration, have been absolutely exhausted by 1960, and perhaps as soon as 1950."

After detailing the available pulpwood supplies in the United States and discussing the possibility of developing the paper industry in Alaska, the article concludes:

"The paper manufacturers of the United States, who are deeply concerned over the situation, are persuaded that there should be such legislation as will tend to relieve the situation. This legislation if secured will not only open up the Government timber lands, of course under governmental supervision, but will also provide for reforestration. The best authorities say that for every pulp producing tree cut down there should be immediately planted under governmental supervision another spruce or hemlock tree, for it is upon reforestration that the safety and permanence of the supply of pulp for our newsprint paper depends. If the pulp timber now available is utilized and if reforestration takes place, then by the time the present supply is exhausted the new trees will be ready for the pulp mills."

FIRE IN PORTLAND CAUSE OF DEATH

Apartment House Burned; Woman Made Fatal Jump; Two More May Die

Portland, Ore., Aug. 7.—Mrs. Joseph J. Chaney, aged forty-five, of Portland, was killed; Miss E. Evans, of Portland, and Miss Edith Bogue, of Portland, were seriously injured, and ten others were slightly injured as the result of a fire which early to-day destroyed the Ellon Court apartment house at Eleventh Avenue and Yamhill Street here.

The apartment house, a four-story affair, was completely destroyed.

Mrs. Chaney died as the result of injuries received in a jump from the top story. Miss Evans also jumped from the top floor.

Hair-breadth escapes on ropes of knotted sheets featured the fire. Seven or eight escaped in this manner.

Acting Fire Chief John Young declared the fire probably was started by a cigarette carelessly thrown on one of the lower floors.

Slight hope of recovery of Miss Evans or Miss Bogue is held by attendants at the hospital to which they were removed. Miss Bogue received serious burns before being rescued by firemen.

PRAIRIE WATERWAYS COMMISSION URGED

Mayor of Winnipeg Says Prairies Need Use of Waterways

Winnipeg, Aug. 7.—Cost of food, fuel, building materials, and other necessities in the Prairie Provinces could be greatly reduced if the waterways of the West were developed, according to Mayor Charles F. Gray. "By developing the Hudson Bay route through Lake Winnipeg and the Nelson River to the open waters of the bay, and by developing the Saskatchewan River, an undreamed-of waterway would be opened up to Western Canada," he said.

"The time has come," the Mayor declared, "for the formation of a western waterways commission essentially for the development of waterways in Western Canada."

HARBINGERS of the Autumn

Modes of

Word comes from Paris that almost everything is embroidered, especially among frocks.

Suits promise to give unusual prominence to various shades of brown; blue is also considered good.

Fur on some of the most attractive coats is used in chic band effects instead of solidly.

Style authorities say that the fashionable wardrobe will have to include a coat of the brief sports type.

Announce the Departure of Summer and the Approach of a New Season

Truly women of fashion are going to have abundant cause for rejoicing this coming Autumn. Even the most fleeting glance at these authentic apparel originations will assure you of that. We assembled these particular wraps, suits and frocks because of all the styles the foremost fashion creators have designed they were the most indicative of the trend of the new modes. In them beautiful soft fabrics and lovely color tones find the best expression and their lines reflect the gracefulness of idealized youth. Come and see them. You'll get a lot of enjoyment and a number of ideas about your Autumn wardrobe out of a visit to these advance showings.

The New Wraps

—Have an air of simple elegance about them that makes an enthusiastic admirer out of every woman who sees them.

The New Suits

Are everything but monotonous. Slender long lines, clever panels, scallops and fur trimming lend them individuality and charm.

New Frocks for Which Great Vogue is Predicted

Long sleeves for woolen street frocks; elbow length sleeves for afternoon modes. Such is Fashion's verdict regarding frocks for Autumn. Effective motifs of soutache braiding and chemise lines are outstanding features. Colors vary, with navy blue and black well in the lead.

How Soviet Russia Is Compelling Recognition

In all the fighting that has been going on in Eastern Europe and in the negotiations involving Moscow and Warsaw and Paris and London there is but one certainty, observes the New York Globe, that is, that the situation is approaching what we may call a "show down." "Shaking hands with murder" is Lord Northcliffe's phrase, but as the New York Sun is forced to agree the murderer is now in a position to say whether we shall shake hands with him or whether war-weary Western Europe must take arms against him. Strange as it may seem, says the Sun, "the international vagabond of 1919 has gained the amazing position of being in control of European stability, and perhaps of World stability in the year 1920."

The Russian situation is the biggest problem that America and the rest of the world has to face to-day, and in the leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST for August 7th, the most recent phases of this perplexing complication is dealt with comprehensively.

NEWS AND NOTES OF THE MINES

Are Investigating Prospects

Several promising ore prospects are being investigated at Marne, by Vancouver interests, and visits were paid this week to the head of McGillivary Creek, which flows into Anderson Lake. At an altitude of more than 5,000 feet, free milling gold has been found, and it is understood further investigations will be carried on this fall. Should entensive bodies of ore be discovered in this district, the P. G. E. will provide adequate transportation.

Heavy rains all over northern Lillooet dirtrict have been general, in places the downpour amounting to almost an avalanche. Between the Mountain House and Big Creek, tons of boulders were washed off the slopes on to the government road, but the delay to traffic was brief. The benefit of the rain to the range lands more than offset the damage done.

Looking Over Prospects

W. Y. Williams, the Spokane engineer, who originally opened up the Granby property and who reported for the Granby on the Hidden Creek proposition at Anyox, is looking over prospects on the south fork of Kaslo creek.

Valuable Silver Lead

Situated twenty-six miles from Athelmere a rich silver-lead deposit is to be mined by a group of Vancouver business men who have incorporated themselves as the Toby Creek Mining Company. The claims, known as the Maple Leaf and Silver King, are at the junction of Jumbo Creek and Toby Creek, in a proverbially rich mineral country. One lode alone, extending up over the hill, is said to be sixty feet wide and rich in high-grade ore. The bridge crossing Toby Creek has now been repaired and supplies and machinery are being taken in by pack-horses. Only the surface work has been attempted so far on the mine, but already large heaps of ore are stacked up outside the mine for shipment. The ore has assayed from $100 to $200 per ton, and in some cases scarcely any work is required to make the ore ready for treatment by the smelter.

Working Energetically

Messrs. Honeyman and Barnwell, who have been working on the geology of the Stewart section for the past few weeks, and who passed through Prince Rupert over the week-end, report that everything is progressing very favorably at the mining camp. The town has nothing of the appearance or spirit of being a boom town and mine owners and operators are working on the assurance which many samples and projects have established by satisfactor results. A recent find in the Marmot section raised a great deal of excitement as it assayed from the specimen well over the $00 mark.

Rocher de Boule

More development work will likely follow the visit of W. H. Hargrave, of Edmonton, to the Delta Copper Company's holdings, at Rocher de Boule mountain. Last week, accompanied by W. G. Norrie-Lowenthall, he visited the mine where some ten men are now employed. While on the ground a programme for further operations was discussed with the company's engineer.

Mrs. F. H. Dartt Likes the Flavor

Mrs. Dartt says they use Pacific Milk for everything but tea.
She had tried canned milk "as a makedo" on several occasions, but could never learn to like it, as she thought.
Finally one day when they were out of milk she got a tin of Pacific.
The flavor was so natural and a cake turned out so well that she tried it again.
Now they use about 30 cans a month.

MR. LLOYD GEORGE AND POLAND.

The Paris press, which for a large part lately has been criticizing Great Britain and her Government with a vehemence that recalls the lively Fashoda days, blames Mr. Lloyd George for the present Russian situation, contending that he should have given Poland more support.

If Mr. Lloyd George were to blame for the Russian situation in any way, it would not be because he did not give Poland sufficient support, but rather because he did not use all the pressure his Government was capable of using in restraining Poland's mad ambition. He sent only a remonstrance to Warsaw, which was ineffective in the face of the encouragement Poland received from Churchill and others sharing his reckless views in London, and the incitement she received from Paris. If these elements, particularly France, had kept their fingers out of the trouble in the East, it is open to doubt if Poland would have embarked upon the most foolish enterprise ever attempted by any country—a military invasion of Russia, while philanthropists all over the world were soliciting funds for the relief of the starving Polish people!

If Great Britain had pursued the policy an important part of the French press wants her to pursue, and went to war with Russia, she would have to bear the chief burden of it. She would have to pay the bill while the struggle was in progress and probably help France out of the hole after it was over. And the cost of such a war would be much greater than the amount Russia owes France, the collection of which would be one of the chief objects of the adventure. Mr. Lloyd George will be on sane and sound ground if he declines to permit British policy to be dictated by any such considerations, or by the chauvinistic spirit which appears to be rampant in France these days, certainly in the greater part of the French press.

There is not propaganda on foot for a fresh war over Poland, propaganda more dangerous to Europe than all the silly nonsense that ever rolled or ever will roll off Lenine's presses. If that propaganda were successful the consequences not only would be fatal to Europe but would have a most serious effect upon this Empire. If Russia wantonly attacked any part of the British Empire, the Empire necessarily would defend itself with all the resources at its command, but to engage in a punitive war for the sake of every neighbor of Russia's who, crazy with ambition, invades Russian territory, would be as foolish and futile as was the Franco-British war against Russia in the Crimea in 1854 in behalf of Turkey, the same Turkey which helped to precipitate the conflagration of 1914 and stabbed her quondam deliverers in the back.

As far as Bolshevik propaganda is concerned, it is as old as the hills. It has been heard in Hyde Park from time immemorial. During the French revolution Jacobinism, as it was called then, was propagandized in England quite diligently. On this continent it was advocated by the I. W. W. years ago, and Trotzky was one of its chief pamphleteers in New York. If the British Empire were so frail a structure as to be overthrown by such frowsy nonsense it would not deserve to survive. Moscow cannot hurt this Empire by propaganda. Prolonged warfare, however, undoubtedly imperils the stability of the whole world

LUDICROUS CENSORSHIP.

At the opening session of The Imperial Press Conference in Ottawa yesterday the Hon. Theodore Fink, of Melbourne, informed his journalistic colleagues that the Australian censorship during the war had proved to be ludicrous in principle and irksome to a degree. He said that newspapermen must be recognized as equally patriotic with any other class, and that there must be no repetition of the censorship programme of the last few years. His remarks were greeted by "hear, hear" from a number of the delegates whose experience through five years of the greatest strain ever placed upon the newspapers of the British Empire was doubtless recalled by Mr. Fink's reference to a policy of news suppression and dilution which in not a few cases was the result of clothing a uniformed nincompoop with the authority to prohibit news to which an expectant and responsible public was entitled, and by the publication of which neither comfort nor chagrin would have been occasioned the enemy.

JOHNSON THE SPORTSMAN.

Supporters and opponents of William (Pussyfoot) Johnson will agree that he has all the sporting instincts of the Anglo-Saxon race. His calling is that of an international worker for prohibition. The world is his field and he counts no task too difficult. Until he has convinced humanity in general that the use of alcoholic beverages is society's greatest enemy he will not consider his mission ended. So far his labor in behalf of the temperance cause has cost him the loss of an eye. But he is by no means dismayed. Thirty-eight representatives of the Johnson family circle met in Nebraska yesterday and heard from the prohibition worker himself his intention to return to England, from whence, by the way, he proposes to go to India to assist the organization of "dry" workers there. No sportsman ever has accepted longer odds.

EVERYBODY DELIGHTED?

When Mr. D. B. Hanna reached Toronto yesterday he informed a representative of the press that he had found no opposition in the West to an increase of freight rates for the railways. He declared that he had spoken to members of Boards of Trade during the course of his tour and they had agreed that the railways needed an increase; indeed, said he, the only thing that worried them was that "we might not get an increase high enough." Everybody agrees, of course, that if a transportation system is to do effective work it follows that it must be assisted to earn a revenue commensurate with the service it is able and expected to give. But that is scarcely sufficient reason for the President of the national road to indulge himself in the suggestion that the country has become so accustomed to high prices for everything that an increase in such an intangible commodity as railway freights is something in the nature of a long looked for blessing. Is Mr. Hanna really serious, or is he merely coloring his hopes for what he describes as "the battle" next week?

AN IMPORTANT BODY.

Judging by the arrangements being made by Governments, municipal councils, boards of trade and other bodies for the entertainment and enlightenment of the delegates to the Imperial Press Conference, now in session in Ottawa, Canada generally appreciates the incalculable importance of this visit, which, in many ways, is unique in her annals. Never before has this Dominion had an opportunity of displaying its attractions and advantages to so important a company of visitors, for the delegates comprise the leading publishers, journalists and publicists of the Empire—from the United Kingdom, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Egypt, India, Malta, Straits Settlement, as well as from Canada and Newfoundland. The great daily newspapers of every important city under the British flag are represented, while the big trade and technical publications have sent either their editors or able members of their staffs to record their impressions of the Canada of to-day, and the opportunities she offers for investment. The Dominion should benefit to an inestimable extent from the visit of so influential a body, especially those parts of the Dominion whose citizens have sufficient foresight and public spirit to make the most of so rare an occasion.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Poland took a strong draught of the spirit of nationalism and it went to her head. Moscow took advantage of the inevitable attack of the "staggers."

Friends of the League of Nations passionately demand that it be made an operative power. The danger lies in the obvious fact that many of its luke warm supporters favor "the balance of power."

From Constantinople comes the news that the forces of General Wrangel have defeated the "reds" in Southern Russia. This means that a small strip of Russian geography has been conquered. About three-fourths of the whole is virtually unconquerable.

Mr. Winston Churchill's repudiation of the interview with the Russian General Golovin has not removed from the public mind the impression that there was a good deal in the disclosure which suggested that the Minister of War was working under the orders of Admiral Koltchak.

It is asserted that when the present chaotic condition of the world has been resolved it may be possible for the League of Nations to fulfill its functions. Precisely, but by what process can the world emerge from its unhappy state as a result of continuing those international rivalries and unrestricted national ambitions which actually produced it?

It is becoming increasingly obvious that Russia cannot be treated as negligible on the map of Europe, said a well-known British publicist recently. Mr. Lloyd George realizes the truth of this statement; but the relations of Great Britain with Moscow have been hampered because there is nothing approaching unanimity upon the subject within the British Government.

OTHER PAPERS' VIEWS

THE COAL PROBLEM

(Montreal Herald)

There is a decided coal scarcity at present in the United States, due partly to the fact that the mines are running about 15 per cent. behind their normal output, but chiefly because there is no immediate prospect of the clearing up of the transportation tangle. The cars are not getting to the mines, the mines are working half or two-thirds of the time, and the price of coal is soaring.

The Canadian problem remains. The Montreal and St. Lawrence districts which formerly obtained their supply of soft coal from Nova Scotia are now largely supplied from the United States. A great deal of Nova Scotia coal goes to the United States. It is up to Mr. Meighen and his colleagues to formulate a national policy on this most important issue. The people will expect it.

STANDARIZED CODE OF COMMERCIAL LAWS FOR EMPIRE IS URGED

until late in the afternoon, instead of adjourning at noon, as scheduled.

Foster Spoke.

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—(Canadian Press)—Empire trade formed the subject of an address by Sir George Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce, before the Imperial Press Conference this morning. Sir George said he was glad the question of Imperial trade had been placed in the forefront of the convention.

As to the name "Imperial," he did not object to it one iota. In fact he rejoiced in it, because of its influence in beckoning forward to greater things within the Empire. If this Imperial Press Conference would throw its weight and influence behind the advocacy of Empire trade development and stay with it for twenty-five years the progress would eclipse anything ever accomplished of a like nature.

Canada's Position.

Canada, said Sir George, had taken a very strong position in regard to Imperial trade. There were many ways in which it could be fostered, one of the most essential being the method of preference between the component parts of the Empire. He then traced the preferences granted by Canada since 1879 down to the one consummated only a few days ago with West Indies. The lead given Canada had had an inevitable reaction in the United Kingdom where the principle of a preference was recognized by an actual preference on overseas products.

BOY DROWNED.

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—When he jumped into water about twelve feet deep, being unable to swim, Edward Bellman, aged thirteen years, met death in the Ottawa River yesterday afternoon.

REMOVES RIGHT OF TRIAL BY JURY

England to be a person of legal knowledge and experience, and regulations under the Principal Act may be made accordingly.

Magistrates.

3. Regulations so made may also:

(a) Provide that a court of summary jurisdiction, when trying a person charged with a crime or with an offence against the regulations, when hearing and determining any application with respect to a recognizance, shall, except in the "Dublin Metropolitan Police District," be constituted of two or more resident magistrates, and that a court of quarter-sessions, when hearing and determining an appeal against a conviction of a court of summary jurisdiction for any such crime or offence, shall be constituted of the recorder or county court judge sitting alone.

To Keep Peace.

(b) Confer on a courtmartial the powers and jurisdiction exercisable by justices or any other civil court for binding persons to keep the peace or be of good behavior, for entreating and enforcing recognizance and for compelling person to give evidence and to produce documents before the court.

(c) Authorize the conveyance to and detention in any of His Majesty's prisons in any part of the United Kingdom of any person upon whom sentences of imprisonment have been passed in Ireland, whether before or after the passing of this act.

Court of Inquiry.

(f) Provide for any of the duties of a coroner or any coroner's jury being performed by a court of inquiry constituted under the Army Act, instead of by the coroner and jury.

(h) Authorize the trial without a jury of any action, counter-claim, civil bill, issue, cause or matter in the high court or a county court in Ireland which, apart from this provision, would be triable with a jury.

TEST PAPER SUITS IN THE STATES

operative offices located in important cities of the country.

In its statement the Department said:

"This action was taken because of the wide interest created by the publication of a recent dispatch from England that a large quantity of such suits were on display in English stores.

Asked For Suits.

"The Bureau of Domestic and Foreign Commerce has received many inquiries from interested parties in the United States as a result of the publicity given the report. A good number of the inquiries were from persons under the impression that the Bureau had a supply on hand. One man asked for fifty. Several orders from three to ten came. Practically all stated the size desired.

"It is understood that the suits are supposed to retail at about sixty cents each."

ALLIED LEADERS ARE TO MEET TO-MORROW AND DISCUSS POLAND

miles from the German boundary, the Poles are well entrenched and appear to be holding their own despite savage assaults against their positions.

On the southern sectors of the front fighting of a serious nature is going on and the Poles seem to be gaining ground at some points.

Polish Counter-Attacks.

Paris, Aug. 7.—Polish counter-attacks against the Russian Bolsheviki have been successful, according to newspapers here.

France and Great Britain, say The Matin, can, without furnishing troops, give powerful assistance to Poland in her battle against the Soviet armies.

The Czecho-Slovak Minister to France declares in an interview printed to-day in The Excelsior that the Czecho-Slovakia would consider intervention only if Polish territorial integrity and sovereignty should be threatened.

Note to League.

Warsaw, Aug. 6.—Via London, Aug. 7.—(Associated Press)—The Polish Foreign Office has sent to the League of Nations a note presenting the Polish side of the peace and armistice controversy with the Soviet Government of Russia.

A proclamation was issued calculated to quiet the Polish people, asking the people to remain quiet and support the Government officials.

By Wireless.

Warsaw, Aug. 6.—Via London, Aug. 7.—(Associated Press)—Essentials of the terms of peace Poland would agree to were set forth in the note sent by wireless to Moscow Thursday night accepting the Soviet proposal to send delegates to Minsk to negotiate simultaneously an armistice and peace.

The note declared that Poland was compelled, however, to demand formal guarantees that the Polish delegates would be permitted free and direct communication with the Polish Government by wireless and couriers.

Hostilities Should Cease.

The Government also said that because of the fact that the Soviet had previously refused to negotiate an armistice, hostilities should now cease on both sides from the moment of the beginning of the negotiations at Minsk.

The note stated that Poland could not accept any terms that would be an attack on her sovereign rights or interfere with her internal affairs, and she asked an answer that would be the basis for future peace terms.

Free Effort.

The note added the fact that the first armistice negotiations had been broken off because the Polish delegates were empowered to negotiate only an armistice and not peace, had compelled the Government to conclude that the Soviet would make an effort to continue military operations and that therefore the Russians must take all responsibility for the continuance of hostilities. The Polish Government was making every effort to win the war, the note asserted.

To Allies and U.S.

Warsaw, Aug. 6.—Via London, Aug. 7.—(Associated Press)—The Polish Foreign Office sent a note to the Allies and a special note to the United States on the political situation, it was learned to-day.

Not Received.

Washington, Aug. 7.—(Associated Press)—The special note on the political situation in Poland which the Foreign Office at Warsaw has dispatched to the American Government has not been received, it was stated to-day at the State Department.

Exchanges between Washington and London and Paris on the Polish crisis still are continuing, officials stated, but they declined to discuss their purport or to say whether the views of the American and French and British Governments were in accord. The Allied nations are known to have suggested a tentative programme for aiding the Poles, but its details are being carefully guarded.

Religious Fervor.

Czestechowa, Poland, Aug. 5.—Via London, Aug. 7.—Religious fervor has been aroused against the Bolshevik advance into Poland.

Streams of refugees have reached this city and purpose to climb the high hill outside the city limits to worship at the ancient shrine of Yasna Gora, Poland's patron saint, and pray for the country's deliverance.

Women to Aid.

Cracow, Poland, Aug. 5.—Via London, Aug. 7.—Forty-nine women's civic organizations, having a membership of 100,000, were merged into a Women's National Service Society here to-day, and offered their services to the American Red Cross for emergency work.

PRAIRIE INDIANS EXPECT GOOD CROP

Regina, Aug. 7.—Indians in the three prairie provinces will have an excellent crop this year, according to information to W. M. Graham, Commissioner here. They have approximately 70,000 acres in crop, roughly divided as follows: Saskatchewan, 30,000 acres; Alberta, 25,000, and Manitoba 15,000.

Cutting started on the farms in the Qu'Appelle Valley Thursday. Fifteen binders are at work on 5,000 acres on greater production farms in that district, and the yield is estimated at eighteen bushels to the acre. Cutting on greater production farms in Alberta is expected to start early next week.

The crop on 12,000 acres in what is expected to average thirty bushels to the acre.

DEATH OF RABBI.

Toronto, Aug. 7.—Rev. Solomon Jacobs, rabbi of the Holy Blossom Synagogue in this city, died at his home here yesterday afternoon. He was born in Sheffield, Eng., in 1861.

In England the number of women as compared with that of men is steadily becoming more disproportionate, and within another year it is predicted that the country will contain at least two million more women than men.

HEAVY FINE GIVEN OWNER OF LIQUOR

Valuable Whisky Supply Confiscated in Addition to Fine; Appeal Will Follow

Charged with being in possession of liquor with intent to sell, Frederick H. Forbes was fined $400 yesterday in the Oak Bay court by Magistrate Jay.

J. A. Aikman and W. C. Moresby, who appeared for the accused at once announced their intention of making an appeal against the decision and the confiscation of the valuable liquor.

C. L. Harrison prosecuted for the municipality, and put Chief Syme in the witness box.

The police chief testified to the fact that he had stopped a motor truck after it had called at the premises of the accused and had found a suitcase on the truck containing fourteen bottles of whisky. Later he had called at the house of the accused and had him detained by Constable Kirby, while the chief himself searched the cellar and found a large quantity of liquor stored there.

Thomas Ard was next called, and stated that he had called at the house of the accused to ask for the loan of a case of whisky, and the accused had lent him the whisky on the understanding that Ard should replace the same later. When caught by the police Ard had been in the act of removing the load on a truck.

Magistrate Jay sustained the prosecution's contention that the loan under an understanding calling for replacement of the liquor was tantamount to selling it, and fined Forbes.

W. C. Moresby, counsel for the defence, in moving for acquittal, stated the police had issued a second warrant before the first had been executed and that they had no right to try the accused on an altered charge. His objection was overruled and the trial proceeded as stated.

J. S. M. Worlock was fined $20 for driving his automobile in excess of the legal speed limit.

NEW TAXES MEAN THIRTY CENTS A DAY

And Everybody in Victoria Now Pays 40 Cents Daily to Inland Revenue

Forty cents a day for every man, woman and child in Victoria was paid for every working day in July into the coffers of the Inland Revenue Department of the Dominion Government here to help this country pay her war debts and other expenses.

Nearly thirty out of each forty cents collected came from the luxury and sales tax put into force a couple of months ago. The total collections of the department here average nearly $2,000 for every working day of the month.

The total collections for the month, according to figures issued by Richard Jones, collector, come to $40,775.23.

Of this total these amounts are classes as excise taxes; spirits, $178.20; malt, $7,880.40; raw leaf tobacco, $264.05; cigar stamps, $225.90; seizure fine, $200.00.

The other items not classified as excise are: Stamp tax, $2,240.76; luxury, $9,030.17; jewelery, retail licences, $24.00; manufacturers' tax, $1,177.61; sales tax, $19,554.14. These make a total of $32,026.68.

For July, 1919, the total collections of the Inland Revenue Department here came to only $11,357.17.

A pretty home wedding took place on Friday afternoon at 454 Griffith Street, Victoria West, the home of the groom's parents, when Reginald, only son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Betts, was married to Florence Mary, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stapley, Ashford, England. Rev. Dr. H. N. Maclean, pastor of St. Paul's Church, Victoria West, officiating. The bride, who was attended by Miss Beatrice Betts and given away by G. W. Betts, looked charming in a blue georgette dress trimmed with beads. The groom was supported by his brother-in-law, James Slessor. After a dainty supper served by the groom's mother, the happy couple left on a motor tour of Vancouver Island. They will make their home at Luxton.

Scene of Brilliant Social Function

"RESTHAVEN"

The former military convalescent hospital near Sidney, where Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Burdick entertained at a delightful dance last evening. Originally planned as a private hotel, the place lends itself admirably to entertaining on a large scale.

One of the most brilliant events of the Summer season was the dance given by Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Burdick last night at "Resthaven," when over two hundred guests danced until the early hours in a most delightful setting. The glow from numerous Japanese lanterns hung in the driveway and grounds gave a cheery welcome to the guests on arrival and, later, attracted many dancers into the cool retreat of the gardens in the intervals between dances. The erstwhile military hospital was transformed for the occasion into a veritable bower of flowers, while the introduction of comfortable lounges and inviting "cosy corners" imparted the atmosphere of a country mansion en fete. Dancing took place in the main lounge and the spacious hall. Hanging baskets of Ophelia roses and greenery were suspended around the walls with charming effect, mural decorations of flowers of every hue adding to the artistic effect. Rose-shaded lights cast a soft glow over the animated scene, throwing into relief the dainty gowns of the women and the more sombre attire of the men. Mrs. Burdick received her guests in a beautiful gown of white satin charmeuse and silver lace. A delicious supper was served shortly before midnight in the diningroom, the long tables being charmingly arranged with bowls of Ophelia rosebuds and sweet peas. Professor Heaton's orchestra furnished the dance music.

APPLE PICKERS GO TO THE OKANAGAN

The Government Employment Bureau Now Arranging Parties of Girls

During the next few weeks numbers of girls will be going to the Okanagan District to help in the harvesting of the apple crop. For the last four years this work has been done largely by women and girl harvesters. Many young women look upon the apple picking as a profitable and enjoyable annual jaunt.

The Government Employment Bureau, at 532 Broughton Street, is registering women pickers. Parties are now being planned and made up, and parties will leave every few days for the remainder of the month.

The first group of fifteen young women will go to Okanagan Centre next week-end. A cook will go out with this party and the pickers will be charged for their board.

Contrary to conditions existing during the strawberry picking, most of the camps in Okanagan have a cook and cater to their pickers. The season is likely to last until the end of October.

Groups of friends will be kept intact. Generally the requests are for large parties, and in many of the larger camps a matron is on hand to make camp life as pleasant as possible for the girls.

To the pickers going through the Government Employment Office a certificate is granted, which obtains a reduced fare on the passage to the destination. A few more girls would be acceptable for the group starting out next week-end. All possible information will be furnished as to these different groups upon application to the Government Employment Bureau.

TO BE MARRIED AFTER SEVENTEEN YEARS

Quebec, Aug. 7.—Among the passengers on the C. P. O. S. liner Pretorian which arrived in port from Glasgow on Friday morning were eight brides-to-be, the majority of whom were going to marry ex-service men whom they had met during the war. One of the women, however, came out to marry a man to whom she had been engaged for the past seventeen years.

GIRL'S THRILLING JOB AS PARACHUTE TESTER

London, Aug. 7.—Surely the queerest of all occupations the war has created for women is that followed by a young English girl, Miss Sylvia Boyden, who makes parachute descents from aeroplanes flying at a great height? At the great aerial "circus" over London on Saturday last—in which aeroplanes of all sorts took part, under the control of various young pilots, whose combined war record makes a really astonishing total of German airmen and machines put permanently "out of action"—she made her thirteenth parachute descent. It was the first time she had jumped from the tail of a machine, but, as usual, she landed lightly as a fairy, and with the utmost unconcern lit a cigarette. This remarkable young woman, who is only twenty-four years of age, has tested all sorts of apparatus in connection with parachutes, and has been of the very greatest assistance to the Royal Air Force, to whom her services are given gratuitously. Her descent is a first-class thrill, no matter how often one may have seen it.

Though a bride's attire may be varied, in some rural districts in England neither blue nor green must be worn, both colors being considered unlucky.

ASQUITH GRANDCHILD IS CHRISTENED

Greek Ceremony For Infant Daughter of Princess Bibesco in London

London, Aug. 7.—Queen Alexandra was godmother to the infant daughter of Prince and Princess Antoine Bibesco and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Asquith, who was christened at the Greek Church, Moscow Road, Bayswater, London.

Before the ceremony there was a purification service in the vestibule, and the infant, who wore a robe of lovely old lace which belonged to the Prince's mother, was then brought into the church. During the first part of the baptismal service she was undressed and wrapped in a shawl by her nurse.

Countess Benckendorff, widow of the former Russian Ambassador, who acted as chief godmother, took the baby and handed her to the Archimandrite, Dr. Pagonis, giving her the names of Alexandra Priscilla Helen. The child was immersed naked in the font three times, the Archimandrite holding her under the arms, after each immersion raising her up on high before the altar. She was annointed with holy oil on the head, hands and feet.

The child was returned to Countess Benckendorff, and a large lighted candle was handed to the Duchess of Portland, who represented Queen Alexandra and had stood at the countess's left. They then wentround the altar, and the Archimandrite, standing oppsite to them, censed them from a silver censer.

After the baby had been re-dressed she was again handed to the Archimandrite, who in turn handed her to Princess Antoine Bibesco.

SPENCERS TO GIVE HUGE STAFF PICNIC

Will Take All Employees to Guernsey Bay For Outing

Joining together for the day's revels, the staffs of the Victoria, Vancouver and Nanaimo stores of David Spencer, Ltd., will picnic at Guernsey Bay on August 11. Elaborate preparations are under way, and the affair undoubtedly will be the most enjoyable ever held by the big firm.

The Victoria people will journey to the bay on the Princess Royal, while the Princess Patricia has been chartered to take the Mainland company. The voyage will not be the least pleasant phase of the day's outing, for it will be enlivened with music, songs and dancing.

At the bay a big programme of sports will be staged. Entries from among employees of all ages will be received. Rowing, swimming and running races of every description will comprise the athletic bill of fare. Moving pictures will be taken of the different events and of the picnic as a whole.

Between five and six hundred Victoria employees will journey to the bay, about one hundred and twenty-five will go from Nanaimo and probably twelve hundred from Vancouver.

In making her latest picture, a well-known American motion picture actress travelled 10,000 miles in six months, and visited Japan, China, Korea, the Philippines, and Hawaii.

WOMAN CENTENARIAN ENJOYS AIR FLIGHT

London, Aug. 7.—Mrs. Sissons, of Mansfield, Notts, is the first centenarian to undertake an air flight. Mr. Herbert Sykes offered to give her a joy ride in an Avro machine, and, although her friends tried to dissuade her from the adventure, Mrs. Sissons was determined to make the flight.

The airman drove her to the flying ground. Mrs. Sissons looked a quaint figure in her mob cap, shawl and white apron. She donned an air cap and overalls and was helped to her seat in the aeroplane and strapped in.

The machine encircled the town for five minutes, and when Mrs. Sissons was lifted out she said: "I have enjoyed it; it was beautiful. I thought you would loop the loop, as they call it." She showed no sign of nervousness and asked to be taken for another flight. "I could see nothing to be afraid of," she said. "I was safe enough."

GYPSIES MISSING FROM HAUNTS; INDIAN WOMAN AGGRIEVED

Mrs. Julian John, from the Esquimalt Indian Reserve, reported to the police yesterday afternoon that she had been made the victim of a too trusting nature and had subsequently lost her purse containing $5 and several trinkets of personal value rather than intrinsic worth.

It appeared, as far as Constable Littlefield could understand the excited lady, that Mrs. Julian John had been passing up Johnson Street, when a gypsy, who formerly was accustomed to tell fortunes there, rushed out of her store and pulled the astonished Indian lady into the premises. Although not quite clear on what transpired next, Mrs. John states that she lost her purse, much of her jewelry and all of her composure in that place, and later the gypsy had vanished.

Police investigation later elicited the fact that the gypsies had pulled up their stakes, and left their familiar haunts, though not far, as some of them were seen on the Esquimalt Road in the early hours of the evening. A visit to the store on Johnson Street found that place vacated, as was the dwelling place of the gypsies on Douglas Street.

Laura Bromwell, an experienced New York aviatrix, has issued a challenge to any or all the air women in America to meet her in a 100-mile air race to be held over a Long Island course this September.

ROYAL VICTORIA

Frank Lloyd, Goldwyn director, staged scenes as late as six-thirty and seven o'clock, while working in the northwest on the production of Rex Beach's "The Silver Horde," which will be shown at the Royal Victoria Theatre for the last time to-night. This would have been impossible in Southern California where the Goldwyn Studios are located, unless the Cooper Hewitts were going full blast; but in the state of Washington and the far northern country it is daylight until much later. This abundance of extra working hours enabled director Lloyd to film some remarkable scenes showing the great salmon run that was on while he was up north and which plays an important part in the theme of "The Silver Horde."

DOMINION

The new Wallace Reid picture, "The Dancin' Fool," at the Dominion Theatre this week, is a veritable revue of the latest jazz dance steps as well as an unusually entertaining screen comedy.

As a country youth lately come to New York to work at a six-dollar-a-week job in his Uncle Enoch's factory, Mr. Reid, as "Ves" Tibble, discovers that his fortune lies, in his feet and blossoms forth as the sensation of a Broadway cabaret. With pretty Bebe Daniels as his partner Wallie exhibits a choice variety of unique dances, ranging from an Apache number to a jazzical expose of the manner in which the caveman used to woo his mate.

The latter dance required the handsome star to don a costume of animal skins.

"The animal used for my outfit must have been very small," laughed Wallie afterward. "The scene was made on an outdoor stage at the studio on a February morning. If my caveman's dance degenerates into a quite modern shimmy, please blame it on the cold."

VARIETY

Do you believe there is significance in the things you dream, or are you convinced that dreams are the results of indigestion or an uneasy conscience and mean nothing? There is food for thought on this score, as well as some rare entertainment of an unusual character, in "The Dark Mirror," in which Dorothy Dalton, the pretty Ince star, is screened at the Variety Theatre this week. Miss Dalton has the role of Priscilla Maine, a society girl, who confides to her admirer, a Dr. Fosdick, the dreams of a peculiar character that have been troubling her o' nights. In them she figures as a belle of the underworld and is involved in thrilling adventure. She can even name the people who occur in them. Subsequently the dreams come true, and the results is an exciting story of adventure and romance.

COLUMBIA

In the production of "Overland Red," Harry Carey's latest Universal picture now featured at the Columbia Theatre, Director Lynn Reynolds had to watch the most minute details with the greatest care. For he knew that if there was the slightest error in technique, such as one pack borro loaded incorrectly, there would be a storm of protest from the retired prospectors and reformed "desert rats" through the country. The moving picture producer, filming a story about life on Mars might possibly be immune from caustic criticism if he wandered a little from the real thing in costumes, background or equipment. That would be solely because no one really knows much about the planet.

ROMANO

One of the laughing spots in "Jack Straw," the picture starring Robert Warwick, which is shown at the Romano Theatre to-day, is the characterization offered by Lucien Littlefield of the wandering poet, Sherlo. His motto is "free verse, free love, and free lunch," and he tries to live up to it every day. "Jack Straw" offers Robert Warwick in the delightful character of an iceman who turns waiter to be near the girl he loves and later reveals himself as a long missing nobleman. William De Mille directed the picture, which was adapted by Olga Printzlau from W. Somerset Maugham's well known stage play. It is a Paramount Artcraft production.

PRINCESS

This week's offering at the Princess is without doubt a most satisfying and finished production in every respect. The players are all appearing in splendid parts, and the gowns and stage settings are something to delight the eye of an artist. Mr. Goodwin, the new member of the company, is doing splendid work in a difficult role, and Miss Page and Mr. Aldenn, who are both so well known in Victoria, are living up to past records of their work by their splendid conception of what is decidedly a difficult situation. The next offering is a comedy of great merit, being "Fair and Warmer" of New York fame, and those who are familiar with things theatrical already know "Fair and Warmer," and will no doubt be able to recommend it to friends; but to those who know nothing of the wonderful success of this clever comedy, the play is highly recommended. Decidedly, "Fair and Warmer" is a comedy well worth the seeing. "Fair and Warmer" beginning on Wednesday next. To-day, either at the matinee or evening performance, will be the last opportunity to see "The Thief."

PANTAGES

The Pantages screen will show on Monday and Tuesday of next week a very unusual picture with Blanche Sweet in the leading role. It is entitled "The Deadlier Sex." Heaven and earth could not stop the ferver of this impulsive girl. She lured; she kidnapped; she tamed the man who opposed her. She hated with the passionate hate of an elemental woman. She tortured by the destruchim prove his right to be called a him prove him right to be called a man, and in the end she loved him. The eternal woman knows but one law—her heritage of intuition.

Blanche Sweet has to her credit some of the greatest emotional acting the screen has ever known, but it has remained for Mr. Hampton to discover that she also has a delicious sense of humor and a style of comedy particularly her own.

"The Deadlier Sex" was written for the screen by that master playwright, Bayard Veiller, who wrote "The Thirteenth Chair" and "Within the Law." The role of Mary Willard, President of a railroad and wholesome outdoor girl, who kidnaps a business enemy and cures him of his lust for money, provides Miss Sweet with every opportunity to display her comedy and emotional talents.

FIFTH AVENUE BUS A FILM LOCATION

The script of "Should a Husband Forgive?" a mammoth William Fox special which will open on Monday for the whole week at the Royal Victoria Theatre, called for a scene on top of a Fifth Avenue omnibus in New York.

Ten o'clock on a Tuesday morning was the time chosen by the director, R. A. Walsh, as opportune for this scene in which the Boy and the Girl first meet and fall in love. Miriam Cooper, the Girl, got on at Fifty-seventh Street, and Vincent Coleman, the Boy, a block further down. The cameraman followed.

The guard made his upper round for fares and the cameraman from the front, began to crank. The guard unconsciously played his part to perfection.

"Should a Husband Forgive?" is declared to be a picture of gripping heart interest throughout, superbly photographed and finely acted by an all-star cast.

Pipe Bands Compete.—The pipe band of the Comrades of the Great War left last night for Vancouver in charge of Pipe Major D. Cameron to compete for the championship of the Pacific Coast at a contest in the Caledonian sports to be held at Hastings Park this afternoon. The winning band will become the holder of the $1,000 Stewart Cup, which is held by the Seattle Pipe Band at present. Vancouver Police, the 72nd Highlanders, Seattle Pipe Band and the Comrades of the Great War of Victoria will all have bands competing. The local band has hopes of capturing the trophy.

FREQUENT HEADACHES

A Sure Sign That the Blood is Watery and Impure.

People with thin blood are much more subject to headaches than full-blooded persons and the form of anaemia that afflicts growing girls is almost always accompanied by headaches, together with disturbance of the digestive organs.

Whenever you have constant or recurring headaches and pallor of the face, they show that the blood is thin and your efforts should be directed toward building up your blood. A fair treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will do this effectively, and the rich red blood made by these pills will remove the headache.

More disturbances to the health are caused by their blood than most people have any idea of. When your blood is impoverished, the nerves suffer from lack of nourishment, and you may be troubled with insomnia, neuritis, neuralgia or sciatica. Muscles subject to strain are undernourished and you may have muscular rheumatism or lumbago. If your blood is thin and you begin to show symptoms of any of these disorders, try building up the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and as the blood is restored to its normal condition every symptom of the trouble will disappear. There are more people who owe their present state of good health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills than to any other medicine, and most of them do not hesitate to say so.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

RETAILER PROTESTS AGAINST INJUSTICE OF PROSECUTIONS

Beer Over Limit Sold by Manitoba Bar Nets Proprietor Fine

W. Carlisle, proprietor of the Manitoba bar, charged with dispensing beer over the percentage allowed by law, was to-day fined $50 in the police court after a spirited defence. The accused stated that the prosecution under the Act was rapidly becoming persecution in this respect. J. Aikman, asked by the court if he were appearing for the defence, stated that he was watching the interests of the Silver Spring Brewery. City Prosecutor Harrison called Sergt. Blackstock, who told of taking samples of beer from the taps and bottles at the Manitoba bar recently. When analysed these samples from the bottles ran slightly over the 2½ per cent. allowed for near beer.

The bottles bore the label of the Silver Spring Brewery, and Harry Maynard, called by the defence, stated that to his knowledge he had never delivered anything other than near beer to the defendant during the last fourteen months. Accused claimed that he had no intention of selling beer over proof, and that to his mind the law was proving an instrument of persecution in these prosecutons.

A Queston of Degree.

There was a wide difference between knowingly breaking the law and of being inadvertently guilty of some slight misdemeanor, he held. The shade of difference seemed very slight to him, between the man who sells beer that had increased half a point over the regular strength and the street car driver who travels over the ten miles an hour allowed for such vehicles. The driver of the street car which exceeded the regulation ten miles was never hailed into court, held the defendant, and yet he was as guilty of breaking the law as the unwitting seller of a near beer of some three per cent.

Questions Brewery Men.

"During the last fourteen months have you to your knowledge ever sold me anything other than near beer," asked the accused of Harry Maynard, manager of the Silver Spring Brewery, receiving a negative in reply.

"Are there, to your knowledge any other people using the Silver Spring label beyond your own manufacture?" Mr. Maynard denied that any other concern used that label.

Of Richard Woods, the driver of the Silver Spring Brewery truck, the accused asked the same questions and received the same replies.

In summing up for his own case Mr. Carlisle said: "I think this is working a hardship on everybody concerned. The two and a half per cent. law must have been framed by a rabid prohibitionist. We have no way of testing the strength of the beer if it rises after it is stocked. We have to take the manufacturer's word for that. Is it right that I should have to go to jail or be fined for one half of one per cent. increase in beer that is sold to me in good faith?"

Mr. Carlisle quoted a decision of Mr. Justice Murphy, who held that a man was not violating the statute unless he knew that the beer he was selling was over the strength allowed by law.

Magistrate Jay stated that under the law he had no option but to impose a fine, but that there was a good deal in what the defendant had stated. He imposed a fine of $50.

Mr. Aikman, representing the Silver Spring Brewery, sat through the trial, but did not enter into the arguments. Manager Maynard, of the Silver Spring Brewery, appeared as a witness.

PROHIBITION IN U. S.

Washington, Aug. 7.—Elimination of the wholesale liquor dealer as a means of simplifying prohibition enforcement appears a possibility with the announcement by Prohibition Commissioner Kramer that the issue of wholesale permits in the future will be "rigidly restricted."

MINISTER OF LANDS AND COLONIZATION

Defines Government Policy in Reply to New Enterprise Suggestion

Responding to the published suggestion that the British Columbia Government's land settlement policy and its housing scheme have failed to measure up to expectations, the Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, defines, in a statement printed below, what has been and is being done by the Oliver Administration in connection with colonization generally.

The Statement.

The statement follows in full:

"It has been suggested that the Government is mysteriously considering a huge colonization policy, and it was also suggested that this course was being followed by reason of an alleged failure of the Government's land settlement policy and the cessation of the Housing Scheme.

"Whatever any one may think of the individual areas which have been set aside by the Land Settlement Board, there is no doubt whatever of the signal success of the policy undertaken by the Land Settlement and Development Act.

"When the Government came into office, it found that practically all the areas of land contiguous to transportation had been alienated. Huge blocks, especially in Central and Northern British Columbia, were in the hands of people who were not using them.

What Was Intended.

"The policy laid down by the Government was not designed to force these lands back into the hands of the Government but to force the holders of these lands either to use them or to make way for somebody who would. The policy adopted by the Government has really been the means of making the owners of these lands colonizing agents. They are to-day getting busy endeavoring to get settlers on them and they are succeeding.

"In certain localities the Government thought it wise to establish land settlement areas under the terms of the Act, and these areas are rapidly being taken up by settlers. There is no doubt that what we need and what we must have in British Columbia, as indeed in the whole of Canada, is a larger population. British Columbia covers a huge area, with a comparatively sparse population, and we must get more people, both for economy of administration and for the development of our resources.

"We know from evidence visible to the eye, that the population of the Province is increasing and that a large amount of development is taking place. We have not, however, the definite information which we should have as to the numbers of people coming into the Province, and for this reason, as was announced some time ago, it is proposed to take means to secure specific information as to the number of people arriving in the Province, where they are locating and what they are doing. We wish, also, to be in a position to render all possible assistance to new settlers. A satisfied new settler is the best advertisement to secure further settlers, while a dissatisfied new settler will have the opposite effect. Major Clark, of the Department of Lands, is in immediate charge of the work.

Wants More People.

"While the one big necessity in this Province is more people, we have no desire that people shall come here faster than they can be assimilated. We want to get people here just as fast as they can be accommodated to the life of the Province, and to this end we must bend our best energies.

"Speaking of the Housing question, within the limits of the appropriation it has been entirely successful, in spite of the fact that it was opposed by a number of the municipalities in the beginning. The entire appropriation has been used up and applications were received for considerably more than the amount available, showing the popularity of the scheme.

Carefully and Wisely.

"Generally speaking, I believe that the people of the Province are of the opinion that the Government are carrying out new undertakings and pursuing a forward policy on as ample scale as the financial situation will justify, prudence would suggest and public opinion would support it."

THIRTY HOUSES UNDER HOUSING SCHEME IN CITY

Twenty-five Soldier Homes Are Already Occupied Here

Thirty houses are either completed, nearly completed or are being constructed under the city's better housing scheme, it was announced at the City Hall to-day.

Figures made public this morning show that twenty-four houses have been entirely built since the City Council decided to accept Victoria's housing allocation. Twenty-five houses actually are occupied by returned men, one of them still requiring a few finishing touches. Thus the big building drive under the scheme is just about over. Construction of two additional houses, however, have just commenced and arrangements are being made for the construction of three more. These buildings, of course, stand at various points throughout the city, according to the wishes of the returned soldier builders.

Loans to the returned men have averaged something over $3,000 each, it is announced. So far just over $100,000 of the city's $180,000 housing allocation has been loaned to thirty applicants, leaving between $60,000 and $70,000 for further building.

The Civic Housing Committee, headed by Alderman George Sangster, is now considering the disposal of this sum. If building materials, plumbing and so forth remain at their present high level it is considered unlikely that sufficient soldiers possessing the qualifications at present required will apply for loans to use up the remaining money. Under these circumstances some of the aldermen favor altering the qualifications so that other than Victoria soldiers may take advantage of the scheme. Numerous returned men who are living in Victoria at present, but who made their homes elsewhere before the war, are anxious to build houses under the scheme. The civic authorities likely will consider the matter in the near future.

Following the resignation of the Efficient Housing Secretary, A. M. Jones, who is going into his old business of public stenography again, the Housing Scheme is now in the hands of the Housing Committee, advised by City Comptroller James L. Raymur.

OPTOMETRY REGULATION

Young Optometrist Expresses View on Proposed Vocational Regulation.

Merrill Blyth has just returned to the city, having completed the course of optometry and ophthalmology of the Los Angeles Medical school of ophthalmology and optometry. Mr. Blyth is the second son of A. P. Blyth, optometrist, Central Building, and will assist that firm.

Referring to the recent attempt to secure optometry legislation in B.C., Mr. Blyth says: "Seeing that laws governing the practice of optometry have been passed by practically all the states of the American union and in four of the provinces of Canada, British Columbia will be bound to follow suit for its own protection in the near future. He characterizes the opposition of the medical society to an optometry law as a display of mistaken zeal, and believes the medical doctors will come into line when they realize the aims of optometry in no way conflict with their profession, and that the optometrist aims to eliminate the incompetent optical practitioner, and insists on the highest possible standard being set for those engaged in the work.

"Legislation is necessary to the accomplishment of these aims in B.C. Medical opposition has had to be reckoned with in the passage of most optometry legislation, but in every case has been ultimately set aside. The public is demanding more specialized and accurate service in every line of work, and in optometry this is markedly so.

"Where optometry has received its rightful standing the public have come to recognize that the optometrist is the specialist to consult in matters pertaining to the care and conservation of eyesight whether glasses be necessary or not," says Mr. Blyth.

Mr. Blyth was much impressed with the wonderful progress made by Los Angeles, and thinks Victoria could emulate some of the methods employed by the southern Californian city.

N. Y. K. VESSELS NOW UNDER CONSTRUCTION

Completion of 14 Ships Will Give Company 574,594 Gross Tons

In addition to one hundred vessels of 477,194 gross tons now in commission the Nippon Yusen Kaisha (Japan Mail Steamship Company) has fourteen vessels, of 97,400 gross tons, now under construction.

Three of these vessels are of 10,000 tons each, of the same tonnage as the big passenger liners now plying in the North Pacific service of the premier Japanese line.

Of the other vessels under construction, six are of 7,000 tons, two of 4,500 tons, one of 5,300 tons and one of 3,800 tons.

The completion of this fleet will give the N. Y. K. a fleet of 114 vessels with a total gross tonnage of 574,594 tons.

The three 10,000-tonners are believed to be the fast turbiners which the N. Y. K. has been contemplating building for some time to enter the trans-Pacific trade.

WALLACE ABOUT TO LAUNCH HIGHLANDER

First 8,300-Ton Ship Built at North Shore Yards to Float This Month

Vancouver, Aug. 7.—Officials of the Wallace Shipyards announce that the first 8,300-ton launching from the North Shore yards would take place late this month when the Canadian Government merchant marine steamer Canadian Highlander will be sent into the water.

The Canadian Highlander is a standard government steel freighter of 8,350 tons deadweight, oil burning, and similar in type to the Government steamers constructed by the Coughlan yards and by Victoria and Prince Rupert yards. The Wallace Company is building a sister ship, the Canadian Skirmisher, which is due to be launched early in November.

Service to Start Next Month in Conjunction With Royal Mail Line

Vancouver, Aug. 7.—"Commencing September 30 and continuing monthly thereafter, the Holland-American Steamship Company of Rotterdam, Holland in conjunction with the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company, of London, England, will inaugurate a service from Rotterdam and possibly one other continental port, and London to Vancouver via San Francisco and Seattle," was the announcement made last evening by F. M. Volk, of New York, assistant general manager of the Holland-American Company, who arrived in the city yesterday for the purpose of arranging the Pacific terminal of the new line.

Mr. Volk said the boats the company intends putting on this service will be 12,000-ton freighters, and will be especially fitted with refrigerator space for carrying apples and other British Columbia fruits, as well as mild-cured fish, from Vancouver to ports in Europe.

FERRY SLIP AT NANOOSE BAY IS ABOUT COMPLETE

The new ferry slip built for the Canadian Pacific Railway at Nanoose Bay is practically complete and will be ready for operation next month. WEST COAST DRAWS TOURIST BUSINESS

S.S. Princess Maquinna Carried Fifty Round-trippers on Last Voyage

The West Coast of Vancouver Island steamship route from Victoria is becoming increasingly popular with tourists. When the C.P.R. steamship Princess Maquinna reaches port to-morrow from Port Alice she will land fifty round-trip excursionists.

This party comprises the largest single batch of tourists that has made the trip to the West Coast this Summer, but from the inquiries that have been made there is every reason to believe that the tourist business on this route will be brisk during the remainder of the season.

It is announced by the C.P.R. that the Princess Maquinna will be a day late in sailing on her next trip to the West Coast. She will leave Victoria on Wednesday, instead of Tuesday, for Port Alice and intermediate ports.

ADVENTURE CRUISE ACROSS ATLANTIC

Four Daring Amateurs Navigating 45-Footer Built in Canada

New York, Aug. 7.—William Washburn Nutting, a motorboat publisher of Beachhurst, L.I., who departed from New York aboard his ketch Typhoon for Cowes, England, has with him a crew of amateur sailors.

Typhoon is a new yacht built at the laboratories of Dr. Alexander Graham Bell at Baddeck, Cape Breton Island, Noval Scotia, Canada, from designs by William Atkin. She is a forty-five-foot craft with a beam of fourteen feet and auxiliary powered for use only in case of calm weather.

The crew consists of Nutting, F. W. Baldwin; the head of Dr. Bell's laboratories; "Jim" Dorsett, Baldwin's right hand man, and Guy Matheson, who joined the Canadian Expeditionary Force as a private and came back an Acting Colonel with the distinction, it is said, of winning every military decoration within the gift of the British Empire, except the V.C.

The yacht will sail approximately the course taken by Alcock and Brown in their famous aeroplane voyage from Newfoundland to the British Isles. This is far north where there is plenty of wind and usually plenty of sea with it.

The Typhoon will cruise about the British Isles, then down the French coast and into the Mediterranean. Before snow flies the party will sail for the United States via the southern course, stopping at the Azores and Bermuda.

UNION LINE REPORTED IN LATEST MERGER

Lord Inchcape Said to Have Completed Arrangement With Australasian Co.

Vancouver, Aug. 7.—Unconfirmed reports from London indicate that Lord Inchcape has been successful in bringing the Union Steamship Company of New Zealand into a merger with his other two lines, the British India and the Peninsular & Oriental.

At the close of the war Richard Holt and his interests attempted to gather up all the steamship lines under one management with Lord Inchcape as a rival. In both instances these men have been very successful, and the latest report of the merger of the Union Steamship Company of New Zealand, which includes the Canadian-Australasian Line, operating between Sydeny, Auckland, Victoria and Vancouver, is of more than ordinary interest on the Pacific.

OBITUARY RECORD

Alfred Jones, of 104 St. Lawrence Street, died this morning at St. Joseph's Hospitad at the age of 64 years. He was born of English parents at Ferrieres, France, and had been a resident of Victoria for the past twenty-seven years. By trade a cut stone contractor, he was the foreman in charge of the stonework at the Parliament Buildings and the Merchants' Bank. He is survived by two daughters living here, his son having been killed during the war. The funeral will be held from the B. C. Funeral Chapel on Tuesday at 2.30. Interment will be made at Ross Bay Cemetery.

J. A. McArthur, for some time employed as a cook at the Metropolis Hotel, died yesterday at the Jubilee Hospital after a long illness. He was fifty-nine years of age and resided in the city for some considerable time. His relatives, who reside in Eastern Canada, have been communicated with, and due notice of the funeral will be given. The remains are reposing at the B. C. Funeral Parlors.

The remains of William Lowther, only son of Dr. and Mrs. F. M. Bryant, were laid to rest yesterday afternoon. Funeral service was held at the residence, 273 Linden Avenue, and was very largely attended by family friends. A wealth of beautiful floral tributes betokened popular sympathy with the bereaved parents. The following acted as pallbearers: Dr. C. B. Richards, L. A. Grogan, Dr. A. W. Kenning and Dr. H. F. Schoonover.

Successful Dance at Saanichton.—A big party of Victorians now camping at Brentwood were among the many who attended the highly successful dance held at the Saanichton Hall last evening under the auspices of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society. Perry's orchestra was in attendance and gave an exceptionally attractive programme of the latest "hits," and the demand for encores were many. Catering was in the very capable hands of the West Saanich Women's Institute, a delicious supper being served in the adjoining dining-room.

Killed The Cat. — Mrs. James Brown, of the Brown and Jackson sketch now at the Pantages Theatre, was fined $5 in the police court today for unlawfully allowing her bulldog to run loose within the fire area of the city, contrary to the by-law. The trouble arose over the fact that the bulldog, with the impetuosity of his race, spied the Pantages cat, and could not resist the temptation of chasing the poor animal. The agitated cat, underrating the running powers of the representative of the dog fraternity, was caught and seriously mauled by the teeth of Mrs. Brown's bulldog. Sgt. Boulton, of the city police force, had to shoot the cat to put it out of its misery, and the prosecution followed as a result of the tragedy.

Palmer was brought back to this city on Friday evening from Calgary.

Interesting News For Working Men

AN ARTICLE WELL WORTH YOUR WHILE TO READ.

This is a nerve-racking age—not a man in an office or behind the counter, striving hard to get on in the world, that does not feel the strain.

If nerves are in order, a man is strong, eats and sleeps well. Unstrung nerves means weakness, worry, sleeplessness and a general decay of bodily strength.

Most men are careless of their health. They trust to luck and that kind of thing instead of taking Ferrozone for a few weeks when they feel dull in the morning, or when they sleep poorly or lose appetite.

Ferrozone quickly brightens up the mind. It creates an appetite and improves digestion. Ferrozone makes blood, quiets the nerves, makes muscle like steel and induces refreshing sleep.

Ferrozone is a body builder, thousands have proved it. If you are sick or out of sorts, use Ferrozone and enjoy the splendid health it so surely brings.

Permanent in its results, the greatest health-giver in the world is Ferrozone. Because nourishing and perfectly harmless all can use it, even children. Get Ferrozone to-day. 50c. per box, at all dealers or by mail from The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

TEETH REMOVED WOMAN BECOMES SANE

Atlantic City, Aug. 6—Esther Miller Blake, wife of James M. Blake, a Philadelphia real estate operator, who was sent to the New Jersey State Hospital for the Insane, at Trenton, last December, after she had drowned her young son, Buddy, by throwing him from the Ventnor pier, is said virtually to have been cured of her mental disorders. It is expected that she soon will be discharged.

A noted alienist, according to the reports from Trenton, extracted all of Mrs. Blake's front teeth, in a scientific test to restore her mind. This operation, together with the injection of a special serum, has been followed by what friends describe as a complete restoration of Mrs. Blake's mental faculties. Those who have visited her recently say it is impossible to detect any marks of insanity. Physicians at the state hospital are confident a permanent cure will be effected.

MALAHT SHOOTING REMAINS MYSTERY TO ANXIOUS POLICE

No further light has been thrown on the mysterious shooting affray that happened on the Malahat on Thursday night, when a car driven by William Thomas, steward of the Princess Alice, was struck by a bullet fired by an unknown man. In the car with Thomas was Mrs. R. Johnson, of the Carlton Hotel; Mertis Wood and Alfred Williams. Mrs. Johnson was sitting next the driver and was badly cut about the face by flying glass, chipped from the windshield by the stray bullet.

The occupants of the car noted a man on horseback on the highway ahead of the car, and traveling in the same direction, but they state that in their opinion it would have been impossible for the man to have fired the shot. The police are anxious to locate the man on horseback, as he may serve as witness to the shooting.

The theory advanced by Inspector Frank Murray, of the Provincial Police, is that the shooting was just a case of somebody hunting in the woods out of season, and when he saw what had occurred he became frightened and ran. The theory seems to cover the case, as there has been ample evidence of indiscriminate shooting out of season.

Every effort is being strained to locate the person who fired the shot in this automobile case, and if the police catch him there will be no tendency to deal lightly with an offender who fires and runs away.

Mrs. Johnson is reported to be doing well.

GRAND ARMY SEEKS DRASTIC CHANGE IN LAWS

Nationalization of railways, telephones, cold storage plants, abattoirs, stock yards as well as forests, mines and oil to be publically owned, are among the political ideas of the Grand Army of United Veterans, which has now a branch here.

The platform published below favors fiscal reform, a 44-hour week, and also goes farther than most organizations on the question of re-establishment.

The Platform

The proposed policy of the G. A. U. V. will embrace the following proposals:

The re-establishment of the returned man by the payment of $2,000, $1,500 or $1,000 according to the extent of service. On the matter of pensions it is the purpose of the G. A. U. V. to endeavor to secure for all members of the C. E. F. complete compensation for loss of earning power, while widows and orphans must receive pensions adequate enough to ensure them a living according to the Canadian standard

Parents of deseased soldiers, in need, to receive pension, and pensions are to be continued during the vocational training or medical treatment of returned men.

Pensions belonging to deceased pensioners to be paid to the next of kin for the term of one year.

Re-establishing Artisans

The re-establishment of the commercial and industrial workers to be as efficiently taken care of as the re-establishment of the agricultural workers under the Soldier Settlement Board.

The plans for the vocational training of men disabled to be elaborated upon, provision made for minors up to twenty-one, with increased pay and allowance.

Preferance for appointments in the Civil Service, where there is an equal degree of efficiency, to be given to returned men.

The moneys received for war indemnities to be set aside for the benefit of the Canadian soldier or his dependents.

The establishment of an insurance in case of sickness or unemployment.

Old age pensions and pensions for mothers with children who are dependents to be sufficient for them to live upon.

The G. A. U. V. is also interested in the educational possibilities of the growing generation, and advocates more schools and provision made for those students who are unable to complete their studies through lack of funds.

Grouping Constituencies

Politically the G. A. U. V. advocates proportional representation, with grouped constituencies.

Abolition of property or monetary qualification for all electoral offices.

They suggest an eight-hour day, with a maximum of 44 hours a week, better inspection of factories and the establishment of a minimum wage for men and women, said wage to be changed according to the report of a commission authorized to look into the cost of living. The minimum wage to be sufficient to meet prevailing conditions.

A fiscal policy designed to foster and consolidate the industries and manufactures of the country in order to protect the interests of returned men by making unemployment a negative possibility.

Tariff Revision

The reduction of tariff on obvious necessities and heavy taxation on luxuries.

Incomes in excess of $1,500 to have a graded tax.

Emigration to be restricted, except within the Empire, and the rigid exclusion of all Asiatic and enemy aliens.

Emigrants physically or mentally defective to be barred. This clause not applicable to soldiers maimed in the late war. The onus and responsibility to rest with the transportation company.

Ownership of Press Open

Complete abolition of the patronage system. Ownership and control of daily newspapers and periodicals to be made public.

Nationalization

Reservations of water powers, construction of hydro-electric railways to work in conjunction with national railways, telephone, cold storage plants, abattoirs and stock yards. Forests, mines and oilwells to be publicly owned and operated.

The repeal of the Ontario Temperance Act, and proper legislation to control the liquor traffic.

Abolition of class legislation.

Hottest Ball Series of Season to Open Monday

Yakima Will Make First Appearance Here and Exciting Games Are Looked For; Tealey Raymond and Bill Leard Should Have Fine Time Together; Fans Keyed Up.

Ball fans are all primed for the greatest series that has been played on the local lot this season. On Monday the Yakima ball players will make their initial appearance at the Stadium, and will hook up with Bill Leard's pets in six whirlwind games. Both teams are hot-footed after the pennant and the series will practically determine which of the pair has the best chance of securing it.

Yakima has a hustling crowd of ball players and they are under the guiding hand of Tealey Raymond, the fox of the diamond. The team is hitting very hard and the pitchers are going strong. Gorman, who plays second and may move up to New York at the end of the season, Lafayette and Strand are slugging the ball at a terrific clip and may find the short rightfield fence at the Stadium to their liking.

A Good Match.

One thing is quite certain that one William Leard and another Tealey Raymond are going to have the time of their lives matching their wits, brains and tongues in every game. There will need to be an Iron Man as umpire to keep everyone in their place.

The fans are anxious to see the much-touted fruit-pickers in action. Raymond has gathered a squad which is a credit to the little town down in the apple country.

Split Even.

Yesterday the Capitals took the count in the first game of a double-header with Vancouver, but came back in the second game and flattened out the Beavers. Victoria has made a very remarkable showing against Bob Brown's squad, taking five out of six games.

"Dummy" Collins, Victoria's new southpaw from the Texas League, worked in the first game and favorably impressed the critics. He was beaten by two errors, one contributed by Zienke, when he muffed a fly, and the other by Carty Elliott, who fell down on a squeeze play. Collins showed plenty of stuff. He has a fast ball and good control. Collins only lost the game by the odd run in five.

In the second game Russell James, with Grover Land catching him, turned the Beavers back, letting them down with three runs and seven hits. Bob Brown sent in three pitchers to tame the Capitals, but they were ineffective. Victoria made the eight hits count for seven runs.

Dempsey's Home Run.

Dempsey knocked out a home run in the second inning with two men on bases. The drive was the longest ever made in the Vancouver Park. It cleared the centrefield fence. In the fifth Dempsey laced out his second hit, McNab tried to block it but it nearly knocked him over. In the three games at Vancouver Dempsey has collected eight hits, including a home run and two doubles. Dempsey's hitting will be a big feature in Victoria's final drive for the pennant.

The box scores follow:

First Game.

Vancouver—	AB.	R.	H.	PO.	A.	E.
McNab, l.f.	3	0	2	0	0	1
Purtell, ss.	3	0	0	3	6	0

DEMPSEY TO START TRAINING FOR BIG BATTLE NEXT WEEK

Benton Harbor, Mich., Aug. 7.—Jack Dempsey, who will defend his title as heavyweight champion against Billy Miske here Labor Day, will come here the latter part of next week to begin active training, according to Floyd Fitzsimmons, promoter of the match.

The champion will train in the big arena to accustom himself to the sun, Fitzsimmons said. Bill Tate, Joe Gans and two other sparring partners will accompany Dempsey here from New York.

HUGE CROWDS TURN OUT TO WATCH RUTH

Over 126,000 Attended Four Games Between Yankees and White Sox

Chicago, Aug. 7.—The three leading batters in the American League fattened up their averages during the past week, but "Babe" Ruth, the home run champion, who is in fourth place, suffered a slump before Dick Kerr in the last game of the series between Chicago and New York. He was at bat five times, but connected only once.

Tris Speaker, the Cleveland manager, who tops the batters, gathered 11 hits in seven games and boosted his mark from .411 to .417, which is fifteen points better than that of George Sisler, the St. Louis star, who is runner-up. Joe Jackson, of the Chicago White Sox is third with .398, while Ruth is hitting .391.

The averages are of players who have participated in fifty or more contests and include games of Wednesday.

Ruth Is Sensation.

Ruth continues to be the sensation of the league. This was evidenced again in the series just played in Chicago between the Yankees and the White Sox. For the four days a crowd officially estimated at 126,000 witnessed the games with a hope of seeing the big southpaw slugger crack the ball out of the field. Only once during the series was Ruth able to "deliver." That was on the second day. Claude Williams was pitching, and it was the third home run Ruth had collected at his expense. This smash marked Ruth's thirty-eighth home run.

Rice, of Washington, is far out in front among the base-stealers with a total of 43 thefts.

Other leading batters:

Rice, Washington, .366; E. Collins, Chicago, .364; Meusel, New York, .354; Weaver, Chicago, .341; Hendrix, Boston, .337; Felsch, Chicago, .332; Judge, Washington, .332; Jamieson, Cleveland, .332; Jacobson, St. Louis, .331; Milan, Washington, .326; Cobb, Detroit, .322.

Hornsby Still Leads.

Roger Hornsby, of St. Louis, leads the National League batters who have played in fifty or more games. He knocked out 13 hits in his last six games, making his average .372. J. Smith, a teammate, went into a slump and dropped to fifth place with an average of .326, while Nicholson, of Pittsburgh, came along strong and now is runner-up to Hornsby with .336. Rousch, of Cincinnati, has third place with a mark of .333, and Young, of New York, fourth, with .327.

Cy Williams, of Philadelphia, bagged a brace of homers in the past week, and now tops the circuit drive hitters with eleven. Robertson, of Chicago, is next with eight.

Max Carey, of Pittsburgh, is setting a hot pace among the base-stealers with 36 thefts, while Rousch, of Cincinnati, has 22 and Neale, another member of the world's champions, has pilfered 20.

Other leading batters:

HESSE HEAVILY FINED FOR HITTING UMPIRE

Tacoma, Aug. 7.—President Burnett, of the Pacific International League, assessed the stiffest fine of the season on player A. J. Hesse, of the Seattle Club, yesterday for assaulting Umpire George Engle in a baseball game here on Thursday. The fine was $100 and suspension for the balance of the season. Player Hesse was also arrested on a city disorderly charge and fined $10 in police court yesterday morning. This is said to be the first case in years where a ball player has been fined by city authorities here.

POLO BALL TO BE DROPPED FROM AIR

The Vancouver Island Aerial Service has kindly consented to execute a series of aerial manoeuvres with their seaplane in connection with the Pacific Northwest swimming, diving and water polo championships at the Gorge next Saturday afternoon. One of the features will be the dropping of the water polo ball for the first international game of ladies' water polo that has ever been played on the American continent. Aerial pictures will also be taken of the game and of other events included in the record-breaking programme of events. This picture should be one of the most picturesque ever taken in this city. Messrs. Brown and Smith will manipulate the seaplane and camera. The manoeuvres will consist of events allowed by the Aerial Board of Canada.

"Ranji" Great Scoring Cricketer Back in Game

His Highness Maharaja Jam Sahib, of Nawanagar, better known to followers of Old Country cricket as "Ranji," tried to stage a comeback with his old teammates from Sussex in a match last week. The former batting king, however, found that his eye was not as good as it used to be for he was clean bowled after hitting 16.

"Ranji" for many years was perhaps the greatest batsman in English cricket. Several years ago he retired. Besides having acquired world-wide fame through his remarkable performances on the pitch "Ranji" is a reigning prince in India and one of the most popular members of the royal circle.

"Ranji" was born in the province of Kathiawar, India, on September 10, 1872, and when quite young was adopted by his uncle, Jam Shri Sir Vibhaji, Jam Saheb of Nawanagar. After receiving his early education in India he was sent to Trinity College, Cambridge. Here he became a keen student of cricket and in 1895 made his first appearance with the Sussex County Cricket Club, and was the head of the Sussex averages that year. He continued to lead the Sussex club in averages until 1902. In 1896 and 1900 "Ranji" was champion batsman for all England, scoring 2,780 runs with an average of 59.91.

One of Stoddart's XI.

"Ranji" was selected as one of Stoddart's All England Eleven, which visited Australia, 1897-98. Owing to the fact that "Ranji" was not of European birth it was necessary for special regulations to allow the Indian to enter the country.

"Ranji" continued to play consistent cricket and in 1904 was still reckoned as one of England's three best batsmen. Some years ago he retired. Recently he was urged to again play for Sussex and he has decided to try a comeback.

Every Old Country man knows the name of "Ranji" and they will watch with interest his endeavor to get back his former stride. He was one of England's most popular cricketers. He served with the Imperial forces in France during the war and turned over his house at Staines to the wounded soldiers.

TWO MORE HOMERS TO RUTH'S CREDIT

Bag for Season Now 41; Cleveland Lost Close Game

American League.

Detroit, Aug. 7.—"Babe" Ruth, home run champion, added two more circuit blows to his string in the second game of the Tiger-Yankee series to-day, bringing his total for the season to 41. New York won the game 11 to 7.

Ruth's first homer came in the third. The first man up, he knocked the ball to the top tier of the bleachers in centre field. The second, in the sixth, cleared the wall over right. The second drive scored Peckinpaugh and Ward ahead of Ruth.

CHICAGO TO BID FOR NEXT OLYMPIC GAMES

Chicago, Aug. 7.—Everett C. Brown, for years a member of the executive committee of the Olympic games, who left New York a few days ago on the Lapland, will extend an invitation to the Olympic games committee August 10 at Antwerp to hold the 1924 Olympic games in Chicago at Grant Park, it was announced here yesterday. Mr. Brown will present the invitation in the name of the city. The invitation will suggest to the committee that Chicago will have one of the largest stadiums in the world at Grant Park on the lake front when work started yesterday on a $130,000,000 lake front improvement plan is completed.

B. C. RIFLE TEAM TO GO EAST MONDAY

Five Victoria Men Secure Places in Team of Ten; Good Chances

Three crack shots from the Canadian Scottish Rifle Association will leave Victoria to-morrow night for Vancouver, where they will join five Mainland riflemen who will make up the British Columbia team to shoot at Ottawa on Monday, August 16. The party will leave Vancouver for the East on Monday morning.

The British Columbia team will consist of the following: Pte. Richardson, Corp. Ashe and Sergt.-Major Wood, of Canadian Scottish, Victoria; Lieut.-Col. Keen, Major Blair and Pte. Caplin, Vancouver Rifle Association, Vancouver; Lieut.-Col. Graham, 11th Machine Gun Brigade, Vancouver, and Pte. Johnson, of the 104th Regiment, New Westminster. This party will be joined at Ottawa by Major Fred Richardson and Sergt.-Major Read, of Victoria, who are now on their way back to Canada from the Bisley shoot.

This will give Victoria five representatives on the British Columbia team. Vancouver will have four and New Westminster one. The team is conceded a good chance of winning much of the prize money which will be at stake in the meeting, which is being held by the Dominion Rifle Association.

WARWICK PILES UP TREMENDOUS SCORE

London, Aug. 7.—(Canadian Associated Press)—In the cricket championships yesterday, Middlesex defeated Kent at Canterbury by five runs. Nothwithstanding its defeat Kent remains at the head of the championship table with a very slight lead over Yorkshire and Surrey.

The Yorkshire and Leicestershire match was much hindered by rain and was drawn.

Sussex defeated Essex by an inning and 40 runs. Ranjit Sinji appeared again after many years for Sussex, but made only 16 runs.

At Birmingham, Warwickshire, with the huge total of 603 for nine innings, including Stephens' 111, and Holdsworth's 141, defeated Worcestershire by an inning and 340 runs.

There was remarkable bowling in the Gloucestershire and Hampshire match which was won by the former by 193 runs. Hampshire only scored 36 and 55 runs. Parker took eight of their wickets for 33 and Mills 11, for 50 runs.

YARROWS LOST GAME TO VETS BY ONE RUN

Although the Collieries-Vets won from Yarrows at the Stadium last evening there is still a lot of discussion as to which is the superior team. It was expected that this game would have decided decisively the old argument, but the score was so close that there is still room for a lot of talking.

The game went seven innings and the Vets won out 8-7. At the outset it looked as though Yarrows were going to run up a record for runs scored in one inning. Roy Copas seemed to have a clamp on his elbow joint, and gave the shipbuilders everything they wanted. The result was that six runners dug their spikes into the plate before the first three men were retired.

The Vets gradually crawled up, but were three runs shy when they came to bat in the seven. The bases filled up, and Smiler Petticrew knocked one of Todd's shoots to centre field. The sacks were soon emptied. In trying to catch Petticrew at second Tobin threw wild and "Smiler" crossed the plate with the winning run.

WINNIPEG, TENNIS

Winnipeg, Aug. 7.—With representatives from all the large cities in Canada and from St. Paul, Minn., and Portland, Ore., entered, the Canadian tennis championship tournament will be opened here this afternoon.

POLICE WRESTLE FOR NEARLY THREE HOURS

Winnipeg, Aug. 7.—After wrestling two hours and forty-five minutes actual time here last night for the police championship of America, Constable Tom Johnson, of Winnipeg, and Sergean John Albrecht, of Minneapolis, failed to come to a decision, and the match was stopped by agreement, both wrestlers having registered one fall.

DR. SIPPRELL TO BEGIN ACTIVE MINISTRY NOW

Rev. Dr. Sipprell returned to-day from an extended vacation at Howe Sound, and will preach morning and evening in the Metropolitan Methodist Church schoolroom to-morrow.

Dr. Sipprell is delighted with Victoria, and its people, and is looking forward to a successful pastorate, in the leading church in British Columbia Methodism.

An enthusiastic welcome has been tendered Dr. Sipprell and his family by the officials of the church, and members of the congregation.

Dr. Sipprell is desirous of making a success of the work of the church to which he has been appointed, and also to assist in every worthy civic enterprise.

Rev. Dr. Esler to Preach.—Rev. Dr. Esler, of the Robson Memorial Church, Vancouver, has arrived in the city to substitute for the Rev. J. G. Inkster during the latter's absence in Portland. Dr. Esler will preach at to-morrow's services in the First Presbyterian Church. He will commence two courses of sermons, taking for his morning subject "The Messages of the Books of the Bible," while in the evening he will discourse on "Vital Questions." Dr. Esler was for some years special evangelist at the John Wanamaker Church, Philadelphia, and before coming to Vancouver held the pastorate at Cook's Church, Toronto. An Irishman by birth, he is an eloquent preacher on evangelical subjects.

COSTS IMPERIL ABBEY

Westminster's Fixed Income Inadequate to Meet Necessary Maintenance.

London, July 24. — Westminster Abbey, the most famous shrine of the British Empire, is imperilled by the high cost of existence, according to The Daily Express. The ancient cathedral's fixed income is inadequate to meet necessary repairs for maintenance of the structure's fabric.

About $15,000 was spent annually before the war in order to maintain security of the walls, many centuries old, but building costs have advanced 150 per cent. Now the income cannot be stretched to meet requirements.

Officials of the Abbey, The Express says, are "faced with a problem of the greatest gravity."

PLAN CATHOLIC LAY FEDERATION

Will Operate Among Three Million Catholics Throughout Canada

Winnipeg, July 31.—With national headquarters in Winnipeg, where the plan had its inception, and where the first unit in the proposed Dominion-wide organization will be established, a Canadian Lay federation, which is expected by its promoters to develop into the greatest association ever instituted among the 3,000,000 adherents of religion in this country, will enter the preliminary stage within the next few weeks.

The first public intimation that such a federation was contemplated was received this week, when it was learned that the constitution, in the preparation of which a committee of laymen has been engaged for several months, will be presented for the approval of Archbishop A. A. Sinnott, of Winnipeg, probably next week.

Will Eschew Politics.

The National Catholic Welfare Council, in the United States, and the Party of the Centre, in Germany, are the only organizations with which the projected federation can be compared, although it will undertake none of the political activities for which the German body is most widely known.

Social welfare work and the establishment of a definite Catholic opinion on all matters of public interest are two of the objects for which the federation will be formed. Rigid provisions in its constitution will guard it against any political affiliation.

The committee which has been preparing the constitution is under the chairmanship of Rev. A. D. Rheaume, and is composed of A. H. Kennedy, P. B. Goffney, R. Grant, P. J. Henry, R. McRorie and G. Benniger.

The parish unit, in which every Catholic man or woman more than 18 years old will be eligible for membership, will be the basis of the federation. Representatives from all parish units will constitute the diocesan units, and delegates from the latter will make up the national convention.

Clergy Will Supervise.

Although it is intended as a lay movement, through the fact that parish priests as such will be members of the diocesan convention, and through the activities of the diocesan executive, it will be directly under the supervision of the clergy.

Parish units will function in a manner similar to that of community clubs. Nominations for office will be entirely by mailed ballot, to prevent machine tactics. Matters of public interest will be discussed in open forum, and there will be an interchange of speakers between the units. One of the duties of the secretary will be to keep a correct census of the Catholics of the parish.

Each parish will send seven delegates to the diocesan convention, which will be limited in power so that it may act only on recommendations from the units, although it will have the privilege of presenting referendums to the parishes.

The first units in the Dominion will be established in Winnipeg within the next few weeks, and the first diocesan convention will be held in this arch-diocese as soon as organization has proceeded to that stage. It will take similar action, and when the movement is successfully under way in other parts of Canada, the first national convention will be called.

CARCROSS INDIAN SCHOOL PROGRESSES

Far North Institution Is Model to Happier Climates

The Synod of Yukon recently held at Dawson noted with gratification the present high state of efficiency maintained by the staff at the Indian school at Carcross, and was especially pleased at the progress attained in the agricultural products under the direction of C. F. Johnston. The output was valued at $3,318.40 for 1919, an increase of $400 over 1918, and fully $1,000 over 1917.

From little over an acre of ground the pupils of the school have produced, among other things, 245 bushels of potatoes, 400 pounds of cabbage, 31 bushels of turnips, 21 bushels of carrots, 4½ bushels of beets. In addition, the students picked 230 quarts of berries, which were preserved, while 155 dozen eggs were obtained from the poultry and 1,219 gallons of milk from the cow at the school. Additional livestock in the form of a herd of goats and an extra cow have been placed there this year. Altogether the school has never been in a better condition than at present.

Bishop Stringer presided. This is the fourth Synod to be held.

Cycle of Prayer.

The Synod gave its formal approval to the establishment of a cycle of prayer by which each phase of the diocesan work should be remembered in private and public devotions of the church all over the territory. Certain definite districts were assigned to each day of the week, and the Synod felt it would be a great source of strength to the workers to know that prayers were being offered for them by the whole diocese on that day. The Bishop and Rev. W. W. Williams were entrusted with the task of preparing the cycle.

The Synod gave its approval to a suggestion that conferences of workers be held at the discretion of the Bishop at each end of the territory when it is impossible owing to the expense involved to convene a full Synod of the diocese.

The following missionaries gave reports to the Synod: Rev. F. H. Buck, Mayo and Klondike Creeks, Rev. W. W. Williams, St. Paul's, Dawson, Miss Martin, Selkirk, Rev. B. Totty, Moosehide, W. D. Young Champagne Landing and Dalton Post, Miss Brewster, Chooutla Indian School, Carcross.

The Indian workers also gave graphic accounts of their work: Rev. Julius Kendi, Mayo and head of the Peel River, Richard Martin, head of Porcupine River, Jonathan Wood, Selkirk and Fortymile, Chief Isaac and Johnny Semple, Moosehide.

The Bishop gave reports of work at Carmacks, Little Salmon, Teslin, Rampart House, Herschel Island and Whitehorse.

The afternoon session closed with short speeches from Rev. G. H. Moody, the new missionary for Rampart House, and Rev. W. A. Geddes, who is going to take charge of the Arctic work at Herschel Island and Shingle Point.

At the evening session of the Synod the chief topic of discussion was the financial situation of the diocese, presented in a most complete and comprehensive statement by Mr. Coldrick.

TO TEACH TALMUD

Seattle Jews Will Have Own Institution For Hebrew Study.

Seattle, July 31.—The Hebrew language, Talmud, literature, history, religious code and traditions will be taught in the newly incorporated Seattle Hebrew School to be erected at 17th Avenue and East Alder Street.

It will differ from the school maintained here for twenty-five years in that it will be under the supervision of the entire Jewry of the city, through a board of trustees and board of education.

The school will be supported by membership fees and contributions. It is quartered temporarily in the Bikur Cholum Synagogue. The new building to be ready in about three months will have eight class rooms, an auditorium and teachers' and committee rooms.

Officers of the corporation are: M. Goodglick, president; M. Homberg and M. Aronin, vice-presidents; A. Rosenthal, financial secretary; B. W. Oseran, recording secretary; Solomon Prottas, treasurer; N. Anches, L. Berman, L. M. Pollock, S. Rogers, A. Sandet, Jacob Arline, Jacob Kaplan, Joseph Hurwitz and A. Horovitz, board of trustees.

ENGLISH BISHOPS HIT SPIRITUALISM AS MORAL MENACE

Vicar's Account of Life After Death Results in Attacks

London, Aug. 7.—Seven Church of England Bishops have made public statements in denunciation of popular spiritualism. This is undoubtely the beginning of what will grow to be a formidable opposition to the wave of popular interest in that subject which has swept over England.

The campaign of pro-spiritualism reached a climax with the publication in Lord Northcliffe's Sunday Weekly Dispatch of a series of full-page articles purporting to give in great detail an inspired account of life after death by the Rev. G. Vale Owen, an English vicar.

Undoubtedly it is this last outburst from an English churchman which has rallied the Bishops to concerted action against spiritualism. Here is what five of them say:

Bishop of Hereford.

"Nothing is more certain than that spiritualistic investigations are, for ordinary people, mentally and morally debilitating. No progress is made in them and it is difficult to believe that any genuinely scientific character attaches to researches so barren, so heavily shadowed by fraud and so plainly unwholesome to the investigators."

Bishop of Norwich.

"So far as spiritualism relates to communication with those behind the veil I do not believe that we can obtain anything so strong and comforting as the consciousness of our fellowship in Christ, who unites the living and the dead."

Bishop of Truro.

"In this life the future is veiled from our eyes. If it were not so, life would be hardly tolerable and our very freedom of will would be in jeopardy. Therefore, fortune-telling, crystal gazing and all such things are clearly, so far as they are in earnest, efforts to cut across the wisdom of the Divinely-ordered plan.

"Of the life to come we are told some little and then the veil is drawn. If spiritualism attempts to lift this veil that we may gain from its lifting some knowledge of the future, then clearly we are going outside the divine plan of life. Success in this endeavor would make us all, not creatures of circumstance, but mere automata at the will of the future."

Bishop of Lincoln.

"Those attempting to probe the future are trying to open a door closed by God."

Bishop of Lichfield.

"On the main point the welcome I should give to any scientific demonstration of the conscious existence after death of personalities whom I have loved and reverenced on earth and of real intercourse with them, then I am sure I am not prejudiced against spiritualism.

"But it is impossible for me to read without some prejudice the exposition of the nature of that conscious existence, which spiritualists hold to be revealed to them by the departed through 'controls' and 'mediums.'

"Their conception of survival—that is, the continuance of a life closely resembling our present life—is not identical, indeed, with my conception, which I believe to be the Christian conception of a 'revival,' a renewal of spiritual life, a being with Christ. Everlasting life is not to us as it seems to them, very like earthly life prolonged everlastingly."

OLD AND NEW IN MODERN CHURCH ART

The rich carvings on the stone reredos in the chancel of the new St. Thomas' Episcopal Church, New York, have been attracting wide attention because of the artist's interpretation of traditional church symbolism in the light of modern events. Says a writer in The Churchman:

"We find the animals of the Bible, the young lions seeking their prey, the wolf and the lamb, the lion of Samson's riddle, the lion eating straw from the same manger as the ox, the phenix, the swallow who hath built her nest upon the altar, the dove returning to the ark with her olive branch, the foxes who have holes and the birds who have their nests, and side by side with them are carved the beasts and birds symbolic of the nations, the American eagle plucking the imperial eagle, the French cock Lenine and Trotzky feeding the Russian bear soviet syrup.

"Together with these are carvings symbolic of ancient struggles side by side with struggles of modern times. St. Christopher crossing the river, St. George slaying the dragon, prohibition in similar fashion slaying Bacchus, labor and capital binding the consumer, a Salvation Army lassie with a plate of doughnuts, St. Philip baptizing the Egyptian eunuch.

Choir Gargoyles.

The gargoyles above the choir stalls in similar fashion are appropriate to the present day. On the epistle side, King George, King Albert, Clemenceau, Poincare, Admiral Beatty, Marshal Joffre, a naval aviator, a sailor, a nurse, and beyond them Tertius Noble, the organist of St. Thomas; Charles Steele of the vestry; Bertrand Goodhue, the architect; Dr. Sires (the rector of the church), and Mr. Casson of the firm of wood carvers. On the opposite side of the gargoyles are: President Wilson and Secretary Lansing, in peaceful juxtaposition; Paderewski, King Victor Emmanuel, Admiral Mayo, General Pershing, Marshal Foch, Admiral Rowarth, Gen. March, Herbert Hoover, Gen. Allenby, a soldier, a Red Cross nurse, a field artilleryman, Bishop Burch, Bishop Brent, Burgomaster Max, and Cardinal Mercier.

"The choir stall frieze is beautifully carved with scenes depicting the history of the old and the new dispensation. Adam and Eve's expulsion from Eden, Abraham's sacrifice of Isaac, Jacob's dream, the fall of Jericho, David and Goliah, Solomon supervising the building of the temple, Naboth's vineyard, Queen Esther, Nehemiah's rebuilding of the Holy City, the Nativity, and the visit of Magi, the feeding of the multitude, the first Whit-Sunday, St. Paul on Mars Hill, the Oxford martyrs, the landing of the colonists in Jamestown, and finally Allenby entering Jerusalem."

Dean Quainton at Cathedral.—The life of Samuel is announced as the subject of to-morrow night's address in the course of Summer Sunday evening sermons on Old Testament characters being delivered by the Dean of Columbia, Very Rev. C. S. Quainton, in Christ Church Cathedral at the 7.30 p.m. service. At the morning service at 11 o'clock, the series of sermons on the Sermon on the Mount will be continued.

Keeps Hair in Curl On Hot or Windy Days

Here's a hair curling secret that is decidedly "worth while." Just apply a little liquid silmerine before doing up the hair, using a clean tooth brush for the purpose, drawing this down the hair from crown to tip. In three hours you will have as beautiful curls and waves as you could wish for. The waviness will look so natural no one will guess it was artificially acquired. And it will last ever so long, regardless of heat, wind or dampness.

You can obtain liquid silmerine at any drug store and a few ounces will last a long time. It is neither sticky nor greasy and is pleasant to use. It is doubly useful because of also serving as a beneficial dressing, keeping the hair soft, silky and lustrous.

CONDUCTOR'S HOUR STRIKES.

Why the Man With the Baton Is King-Pin of the Orchestra.

Now that all the big orchestras in the country are either making their initial appearances of the Winter season or working feverishly over their final rehearsals, let it be candidly acknowledged that despite the growing appreciation of symphonic music among all classes of the people, audiences in general still have every little idea of the mechanics involved in good concert production. Take the matter of the conductor for instance. Few outside of trained musicians realize that he is one of the biggest factors in the success of a programme, and even these few can seldom say just why.

To the average man and woman the isolated gentleman with the baton appears a mere figure-head. To be sure he occupies a prominent position physically, but what exactly does he contribute musically to the total effect, and why do the critics usually give him more space than all the other players together? His mannerisms register, of course. We are quick to notice his gestures, and, in fact, we think a certain amount of waving of arms is necessary to what otherwise doesn't seem a very hard task.

Musicians however know that the conductor's lot is not an easy one. At rehearsals he puts in hours and hours of the hardest kind of work, nine-tenths of his work, indeed, being done there, behind the scenes. To whip a great ensemble into shape, to have it interpret according to his own conception the subtlest thoughts embodied in the music, to bring out of what would naturally be an uninteresting and possibly discordant soundmass, the finest blends and shadings in tone and color—this is more like a giant undertaking than a "snap job." Obviously none of it can be done at public performances before an audience. Obviously too, the conductor can manage to appear bland and smiling as he wields his stick and accepts the applause of the crowd.

Besides having a thorough knowledge of music, the successful conductor must be a master of men, one who can direct and work harmoniously with conflicting temperaments. Other qualifications are a strong beat and a certain amount of keeness to catch the eye of a player watching for the signal to begin. The conductor must also be able to submerge his own personality to the extent of bringing out of the music before him what the composer intended and not what he himself might prefer.

BELLS TELL STORY OF DEPARTED HABITS

Some Customs Associated With Art of Bell Ringing

PART II.

The earliest mention of a chime of bells is the set given by the Abbott Turketulus to the Abbey of Croyland in the year 870. As far as can be ascertained there is no bell extant earlier than the year 800.

To Belgium belongs the fame of the "classic land of bells," where the science of bell-founding was coming into perfection at the time when the great violin makers — the Amatis family—were beginning to make some of the finest violins the world has ever seen (1620), though the workshops and furnaces of the renowned bell-maker, Peter Van den Gheyn, whose models for modern bells still exist. The fertile plains and campagnas of Belgium are dotted all over with beautiful towers, such as those of Ghent, Brussels, Louvain, Antwerp, Tournay and Mechlin, in which the ancient bells beloved and revered by its people peal forth their melodious language of music.

A peal of bells is several bells tuned to each other after the manner of a scale in music, and the pitch of a bell is higher the smaller it is. The first peal in England, consisting of five bells, is in Cambridge, a gift to King's College by Pope Calixtus III, in 1456. The largest peal in England is the St. Paul's, which consists of twelve bells, the tenor weighing over three tons. The custom of ringing peals or changes came into force in 1668, when Fabian Stedman, a Cambridge printer, evolved a system which made rapid progress. The Stedman changes were various and complex, and are known as "hunting," "dodging," "mapping," "place-making," "plain bobs," "bob triples," etc. Rings of bells increased from four to six to ten or twelve, the latter being the greatest number ever rung in peal. The variety of changes increased enormously with the increase of the number of bells. On three bells there can be rung six changes, thus: 123, 132, 213, 231 and 321. Four bells can, in the same manner, ring twenty-four changes; five bells 120, six bells 720, and so on until with twelve bells the enormous number of 479,001,600 different changes can be rung. At the rate of two strikes a second it would take ninety-one years to ring the changes of twelve bells. The simplest peals are those called grandsires on an odd number of bells, and bob on an even number.

A bell is said to be set when its mouth is turned upward; it is at hand-stroke when set up so far that only the "tufting" or sallic is held by the ringer, and it is at back-stroke when rung so far round that the end of the rope is held. The treble bell is the highest of a peal, and the tenor is the lowest.

The passing bell was tolled when anyone was passing out of life—a custom retained at the Reformation and still survives in many parts of England, but the bell is now tolled at deaths or while funerals are being conducted. The pardon bell was tolled in England before the Reformation, before and after Divine service. The curfew bell was introduced from Normandy by William the Conqueror, and was strictly observed till the end of the reign of William Rufus. This curfew bell was rung at eight o'clock to warn the public to extinguish their fires and lights, a precautionary matter in those days, when all houses, public buildings, etc., were made of wood. The curfew is still continued in parts of England and Scotland.

GEORGE J. DYKE

GETS MUSIC FROM SAW

The conventional saw has recently appeared in a new role, namely, as a musical instrument. Indeed, one of the leading novelties of a current musical revue is the musical carpenter who uses his saw as a violin.

After protracted experimentation and untiring practice, Sam Moore, of New York City, has succeeded in getting very agreeable music from the ordinary carpenter's saw. He holds the saw handle between his legs, holds the tip of the saw in one hand and works the usual violin bow with the other. The vibrating steel blade emits soft, appealing notes, the pitch of which is varied by changing the curvature of the blade. All sorts of queer effects can be obtained by the adept manipulation of the blade; in fact, the music derived by this means can hardly be described. If anything it resembles the human voice, then again it has the queer wail of the Hawaiian Ukelele. All in all, the effect is startling and pleasing.

THEY EJECTED THE ORGAN

The first organ ever used in a Scottish Presbyterian Church was built by the famous inventor, James Watt. It was a small chamber affair set up for his own use. Upon going to Birmingham to live he left it behind him in Glasgow. There it came into the possession of the minister of St. Andrew's Church.

For some time the organ was used for week-day choir practice only. On a Sunday in August, 1807, however, an organist of the Episcopalian faith played it during the regular service. It earned that denomination the name of the "whistling kirk." The shocked presbytery declared the use of the "kist of whistles" contrary to the kirk law, and it was ignominiously cast out after a single service. Not until 1860 was the organ tolerated in St. Andrew's.

The ancient instrument ejected by the presbytery of St. Andrew's is said to be still in existence in the house of a Scottish squire near Biggar.

SWANS AT BEACON HILL.

To the many tourists now arriving here daily, and to the many hundreds who attend the Sunday Band Concerts in Beacon Hill Park, a great attraction is the twelve or more swans in the lake. It is interesting to know that in the "good old days" the principal owners of swans on the River Thames, with the Crown, were two of the London Companies—The Dyers and the Vintner's Companies. These two companies for a long period enjoyed the privilege of keeping swans on the river. In the month of August, 1841, between the City and a considerable distance above Windsor, the following number of old and young swans belonged to Her Majesty and the two London Companies:

	Old Swans	Cygnets	Total
The Queen	185	47	232
The Vintner's Company	79	21	100
The Dyer's Company	91	14	105
	355	82	437

The Vintner's Company alone at one time possessed 500 swans. In the matter of gender, the male bird is called the Cob, and the Pen bird is the female swan.

LYRE BEGAN AS LUTE IN ITS FORM

The lyre came into being as an instrument of accompaniment. In its rudest form it was probably a string or two stretched over a board or a stick and twanged with the fingers—a small, light instrument that would lay the least possible tax on the player and allow him to give his best attention to song. Its form was the first easy development of the Jew's harp form, that is to say, more like a lute than a lyre.

Such an instrument would be quite sufficient for the purpose for which it was intended—to prelude or strike a note or two by way of accompaniment to the song. Strings would be added in course of time; for the art of stopping had not then been discovered, nor how one string contains all harmonies as one ray of light all colors; but each new note meant a new string. After four strings were added there was a pause; for none of the primitive stringed instruments that we know of have more than four strings.

The next development of this primitive instrument or lute was to take the step by which the true lyre came into being. This was effected by cutting away part of the board at the back of the strings and leaving an empty space, from the end of which to the other the strings ran, having now the benefit of a frame to be fastened to and thus allowing far tighter stringing than when they were merely confined by pegs at each end of the board. Or perhaps the object of cutting was to allow the strings to be struck instead of twanged, and struck, that is to say, by something else than the fingers, as a piece of bone or metal, which would deal a sharp blow and make the strings sound louder. The Scythians struck the strings of their lyre with the jawbone of a goat, and the Massagetae struck theirs with the splinters of spears, and perhaps this may have been the reason. Now the development, having proceeded thus far, instead of going on regularly through the lyre to the other stringed instruments, breaks into two branches. These are: (1) the lute and its descendants, including the lyre, and (2) the lyre's descendants.

It must be particularly gratifying to Bandmaster Millar and his band—the G.W.V.A.—to have handed in such a large number of "requests" from the large gatherings of people at the Sunday afternoon band concerts in Beacon Hill Park. The two hours' programmes are carefully and well selected and prove quite popular. No less than four requests were received last Sunday, to which response will be made when the music arrives. A feature to be noticed from the requests is the fact that good music is asked for and that there must be present each Sunday many people who appreciate and understand, too, the best in music. Whilst we are on this subject we would like to add that we understand beside the efforts put forth by the chairman of the Park Board, Alderman Andros, the Mayor, too, who, by the way, was a frequent listener to the band at its last Winter Sunday concerts held after the church services, had a great deal to do in the arrangements for the present series of concerts. On behalf of music, as we thanked Alderman Andros, we now offer our thanks to Mayor Porter.

The Chinese turn the susceptibility of fish to color to a practical use. Alongside their boats they fix a white canvas screen, stretched out just under the water. The fish are attracted by the gleam of this screen, and they usually leap at it—and into the net provided for them.

Took Role of Hero in Gluck's "Orpheus" at Covent Garden

Dame Clara Butt made a mythological appearance in opera at Covent Garden, London.

The myth was "Orpheus," by Cluck, in which she played the hero, well qualified by heroic stature and form, which were enhanced by the short tunic of the antique Greeks; well qualified, moreover, by that wondrous mighty contralto organ so famed in our concert halls, but hitherto unknown in opera.

Here in this old classic music, so pure in its line and elevated in its tragedy, is the true realm of this astonishing voice, for so long devoted to more trivial things. If the astonishing voice did not at this debut always describe the line of Cluck with classic certainty and feeling, there were immense moments when its rich accents were extraordinarily satisfying and thrilling.

ANCIENT OPERA IS PLAYED IN PARK

Purcell's "Dido and Aeneas" Presented in Hyde Park; Fine Spectacle

London, Aug. 7.—The earliest of English operas "Dido and Æneas" (1688), was performed in Hyde Park W. by students and friends of the League of Arts, and the sight and suggestion of the show were alike uncommon.

Near the Magazine and close to the Serpentine there is a natural amphitheatre. The players were on the level patch and on the slopes around were massed several thousand spectators, the sight of whom called to one's fancy the conditions, the vast audiences and the open-air amphitheatres of the classic dramas of ancient Greece.

There was this difference: that while to the ancient Greeks the persons of the classic dramas were household names, a good part of the audience in Hyde Park cannot have known even that the spectacle was entitled "Dido and Æneas." They were content, however, to sit (or stand) in their thousands and to listen—and with remarkable gravity and attentiveness—to as much of Purcell's music as floated to them.

This music is, of course, chiefly famous for the great lament of Dido of Carthage on the departure of her Trojan lover, a marvellous page. But it was less the solos that "told" in these conditions than the choruses, dances, and interludes. These went extraordinarily well, and the conductor, Mr. Geoffrey Shaw, whose band was in a marque while his mass of singers and dancers were disporting themselves over some hundreds of yards of greensward, did marvels in co-ordinating such a scene.

But it was the general picture that was chiefly the thing, and this picture was delightful, given the Serpentine and the rich elms on its far side as a background, and the players in their scores all garbed not, indeed, archaeologically, but very vividly and gaily.

Even the conductor, not to be a blot on the picture, wore a robe of many colors. The players had a sorrowful tale to tell in the luckless love and fate of the Carthaginian queen, but their spectacle added to the gaiety of an evening in Hyde Park.

TO PROMOTE INCA MUSIC

From far Peru has come Carlos Valderrama, composer-pianist, to New York to bring into greater prominence the tribal music of the Incas, the ancient mountain-dwellers of Peru. By close association with the remaining natives of this little-known race during his two year's stay among them, Mr. Valderrama was able to transcribe their native melodies from their racial rites and ceremonies.

Himself a composer of great originality, the Peruvian pianist has incorporated many of these weird and characteristic themes into some of his own compositions, among them the Inca Nocturne and Inca Rhapsody, which he has lately recorded for player-piano rolls.

Recently a programme, comprised entirely of native Inca music was given by Mr. Valderama of the MacDowell Club, in New York, before an interested audience.

Inca music has a distinct tendency towards harmorization, and while more or less wierd in character, owing to the minor scale which is generally employed, is more highly developed than most primitive music.

The Peruvian government is reported to be back of a project now being promoted by Mr. Valderrama, to create a demand for inca folk melodies among the orchestras of the United States.

MUSICAL NOTES

(By George J. Dyke)

There was sold in Chicago recently an old Italian violin—a Rugieri—on which Johann Strauss, the "waltz king," played in Vienna. The violin belonged to Andrea Proudfoot, daughter of a Chicago barrister, but on hearing of the great need for food in that once the gayest city in Europe, Miss Proudfoot parted with the valuable instrument, the proceeds of the sale being turned over to the Vienna Relief Committee. This violin was brought from Italy over a century ago and became the property of a concertmaster in the court of a prince in Vienna in the period following Napoleon's regime. Eventually the violin came into the possession of a grandson of the concertmaster, Wendlik by name, a banker at Vienna, who one day happened to hear Miss Proudfoot play, with such marked ability, that he let her have the violin to use. Shortly after the beginning of the war the banker died and Miss Proudfoot brought the instrument to America. It will be interesting to follow the further history of this old fiddle, such instruments getting every day more and more valuable. Two old Cremona violins were offered for recent sale at $10,000 apiece.

Arthur Leslie, the celebrated English tenor, is the idol of Covent Garden.

Richard Mulcaster was a famous schoolmaster in the time of Queen Elizabeth. He was a Cumberland man, was educated at Eton, and was learned in Greek, Latin and Oriental literature. He was a veritable "Tartar," and his clever Latin plays were often acted before the Queen and her court at Hampton. Many of Mulcaster's pupils became renowned actors in Latin plays also, and frequently acted for both Elizabeth and James.

It is said that William Shakespeare founded his "As You Like It" on a novel called "Rosalynde," written by a physician and dramatist called Thomas Lodge, who lived in the time of Queen Bess.

A Stradivarius, Cremona, 1724, with original label, was recently sold by auction in London for nearly $4,000. The violin was the property of Lord Hartingdon.

Someone has said that there are two ways of getting an audience together. One is bullying your friends, the other, cajoling those indifferent to you. Perhaps so, but the writer knows of two other "ways"—but that would be telling. Another writer recently said: "years ago the fact of giving a recital in the centre of London was the goal of the artist's ambition—now it is his starting point."

The opera "Elizabeth," by A. Corbett-Smith, an Englishman, is to be given in September at the Savoy Theatre. The announcement is creating considerable attention. This work was written in 1913 for the Coliseum with Mme. Kirkby Lunn in the title role of the Queen. Corbett-Smith's books and recitals on the British Navy and "Old Army" are extremely popular.

Each year in September a great symbolic festival and pageant is held at Taos, New Mexico. The festival is known as the Feast of San Geronimo—sometimes called the Taos Passion Play, and is one of the best known festivals in New Mexico. It is largely attended by white visitors from Colorado and the Rio Grande Valley. Thousands of Mexicans, Jicarilla Apaches, Navajos and Pueblo Indians—an interesting and motley throng—come from far and near. "Taos" and "Pueblo"—what names to conjure with; linking art, picturesque life and experiences. It is said that Taos is the most "foreign" settlement in America, the Pueblos being there when the Spanish came in 1540. The songs and chants by the Taos Pueblo Indians—a feature of the feast—are unusually weird and impressive, and the effect of the festival is dramatic, elaborate and beautiful, forming a spectacular pageant of gorgeous coloring. The festival has been celebrated for nearly 200 years. It begins with songs of sacrifice, offerings of sheep, cakes and candies being made to their god. A chant and dance, just before the setting of the sun, starts the festivities, and is sung by 500 picked male voices in unison. The effect is impressive to a degree. This is kept up until the moment the sun drops behind the horizon, they then fall to the ground and remain there in meditation during the night. When morning arrives, just as the sun appears in the east they dance again, having received messages, as they imagine, from San Geronimo for their comfort and advice. Then camp fires are lighted and the procession takes place. A part of the festivities is the big race between the members of different clans. This race has a political significance, as the winners have the privilege of electing their governor for the next year. This is followed by a revel or carnival, when the Indians play games and sing their clown songs, called "chiffonetta." Then dancing follows the setting sun. Each dance has its separate song and must be used at its own appropriate time. As many as fifty types of these dances are given in one night and include love songs, buffalo dance songs, pleasure songs, squaw dance songs, corn-grinding and society songs, victory and "chiefs" songs, and working songs and "clan" songs. And so the festival goes on for nine or ten days—unique, instructive, symbolic, colorful and charming.

The opera comique, "Cosi Fan Tutte," a master work by Mozart, has been revived in Paris. The last time this opera was given there was in 1862. It is described as a "flawless jewel."

At the Rose Festival and the Shrine convention held recently in Portland, Ore., seventy-five bands participated. For days there was music in every block in the city district and to Portland belongs the honor of having the greatest massed band concert ever given in the United States, when on Multnomah Field all the seventy-five bands joined in a four-number programme.

It is announced that Mme. Patti's estate at Craig-y-Nos, Wales, consisting of about 400 acres, is for sale.

A professional singer, Elizabeth Caroline Wood, has begun suit for $25,000 in the Supreme Court of New York against a taxicab driver, in whose cab she was riding when a collision occurred. She is suing for a resultant loss of "poise and presence" as a singer.

The well-known London String Quartet is coming over to take part in the Berkshire Chamber Music Festival, Pittsfield, Mass., next month. This festival is provided by Mrs. Frederic S. Coolidge, who has again offered a prize of $1,000 in a string quartette competition.

Perhaps the most interesting folk music is found in Norway. The physical aspects of the country, with its high mountains and rugged sea coast, its deep forests and sunny meadows, all inspire a love for contrast in art. The bards or skalds who wove musical themes around the epic legends of the Norse gods were the first to tell the old mythical stories of the Volsung Sagas. These Norse songs are divided into two classes—one bold and vigorous, the other tender and plaintive, and deal with the simple events of life. The songs of Norway are most individual, as foreign art was never popular in Norway. That country has always retained her own independence in art. In the nineteenth century Norway established a national school. The music of Sweden has many points of similarity with that of Norway, but is not so individual in character. The Thirty Years' War brought Sweden into contact with the customs and manners of other lands, which fact is reflected in her music, even the folk song becoming influenced by foreign conditions. While all northern countries show a common relationship, the songs of Sweden are less tragic and melancholy than the Norwegian folk songs. The Swedish folk song is generally in happy mood and in some the Tyrolean yodel is suggested. The lute has become one of the national instruments of the country, and many of the best Swedish folk songs are sung to its accompaniment. Even the popular dances in Sweden have been borrowed, the Polska being a frank copy of the Polish dance. Sweden has been called "the land of singers," and the names of Jenny Lind and Christine Nilsson will be forever linked in the annals of Scandinavian song.

Oscar Thompson, in Musical America, who has been taking a musical ramble through this Dominion, has written a series of five articles on the musical life of Canada. He deals with the general condition of music found throughout the country, and especially with conditions in Montreal in his first article. The articles are so clearly wrapped with local conditions that if published here would prove exceedingly interesting and instructive reading.

Six pianos have been recently "installed" in the state reformatory for women at Bidford, N.Y. It is said the same can be said, too, of similar institutions that music has a refining influence upon the inmates, "soothing their nerves and preventing outbreaks."

Kids Always Know a Good Thing

At one of the High Schools recently the students had some Victory Bonds, which they wished to re-invest in a Phonograph.

The decision as to the make was to be left entirely with them.

Four "talking machines" and the Edison Phonograph were up before them for selection by ballot.

Out of 99 votes cast, NINETY-FOUR (94) were in favor of the New Edison.

Are Kids Good Judges of Music?

We say they are, and so will YOU if you will call and hear the Edison Phonograph.

OF SPECIAL INTEREST TO WOMEN AND THE HOME

Your House in Order

Cleaning "Orgy" Is Never Necessary if Daily Attention Is Given to Details

It is to be hoped you are not one of those "rabid" housekeepers of an earlier date who cleaned for the cleaning's sake—that is, with the idea primarily that everything should be "beaten," "moved" and every one made uncomfortable in the whole household. This refers to the weekly cleaning as well as the annual one. The latter has been delayed in many homes on account of the continued cold—one hears remarks about it frequently. Only the other day a woman said:

"I don't know whether to have a general cleaning or not. We clean all the time, it seems to me. The man washes all the white woodwork every other week and the maids do the rooms quite thoroughly every week, but I suppose I'm not a good housekeeper if I don't have everything upset and every one miserable—an orgy of cleaning."

A very systematic housekeeper made the remark, "If one takes care of one's house as one should all the time the annual cleaning is not necessary. It is because people neglect things so that they have to have "bedlam ever year."

Old-Fashioned Fetish.

Really, now, isn't it a fact that most of us have the old-fashioned fetish of turnings things topsy-turvy, and do we not lose sight in the mix-up of the real reasons why we should keep our house in order? The house of the mind often needs a more thorough cleaning than the material lares and penates of our menage. Have you thought about it from this viewpoint?

For instance, when you clean out the family medicine chest, do you, in addition to careful labelling of dangerous drugs and re-supplying of the things that are about used up, think along the following lines:

"Are my children having sufficient fresh air and nourishing food to make it possible to do without this medicine for anaemia? Would Jane have to take this bitter tonic if she got out more and took a greater interest in life? If I prepare certain laxative foods these tablets could be dispensed with, and these dyspepsia mints would not have to be always on tap if I studied out a certain form of diet for Charles. These toothbrushes are not as clean as they should be, and the waxed thread is all gone—perhaps that's why so many of my family have to go to the dentist. And just look at this assortment of cosmetics and creams! The girls must be more athletic and get some of Nature's bloom on their faces."

Chinese Custom.

"Am I looking after the hygiene of my children? Are the remedies in this chest as simple and harmless as is possible to use and get effects? Do I sufficiently consider preventives of illness instead of storing up cures? What do I think about the Chinese custom of paying their physicians only as long as they keep well? and as a summing up, I must see that the medicine chest is in order, but that does not relieve me of the responsibility of making it unecessary for my family to draw upon it. Soon we shall dispense with it altogether."

Now don't you see that if sensibly followed out this reasoning would almost regenerate a family, and thus the "cleaning" be based on sane grounds? Too many of us get "stuck" in our health and happiness when we zealously place pins in corks to remind us of noxious medicines because we are not thinking sufficiently of preventive measures.

Your emergency shelf, what about it? Haven't you stored it with all kinds of eatables, easily prepared, and given a sigh of relief as you feel "now I'm ready for any emergency!" But are you? Ten to one when the unexpected guests come your heart will begin to go pit-a-pat, nerves commence to go to pieces; you cut yourself opening a can, and chaos reigns. Perhaps if you had reasoned with yourself (when you were arranging that shelf) along these lines things might have been different.

Comfort and Hospitality.

"I wish to be hospitable and to thoroughly enjoy my friends. It is not a good example to set before my children for me to be harried and apologetic to visitors; a hostess must be calm, dignified, and not obsessed with the mere matter of eats. Therefore, I shall arrange this shelf so that when my friends drop in we can talk pleasantly of interesting things without a qualm as to what manner of thing we shall eat. I do not want my children to get the idea that people live to eat—rather that we eat to live!"

When cleaning rooms let these thoughts permeate your acts: "I shall not find it so necessary to be continually disciplining my children (and my husband!) if I put this fragile bric-a-brac and these delicately colored draperies in the back-ground. There must be no jutting expensive articles of furniture to impede the pleasant, unafraid progress of my family through the house. My carpets and mattings must be of a durable color and weave fit to resist the strong, manly tread of the masculine sex of the household. I do not wish them to be effeminate, toe dancing males, as some men declare they almost have to be in order to navigate the be-furnished and be-decorated rooms of their homes.

"I must keep things absolutely sanitary, so that my children will grow up well and strong and with the habits of cleanliness firmly (yet pleasantly and comfortably) ingrained in them. There must always be a place for the comfy old slippers, the fishing tackle and pipes—if used!"

FASHION'S FADS.

Deep pockets flaring sometimes, are much in favor.

Pastel organdie hats are excellent.

Many frocks are developed over pleated underclothes.

The wrap to match the dress is frequently seen.

Many of the new frocks are in Directoire style.

Fans of the Louis type are once more being shown.

AT THE CONCERT.

Mrs. Newlyrich (arriving nervous and much upset)—Am I very late? How far along are they? What are they playing now?

Head Usher—The "Ninth Symphony."

Mrs. Newlyrich—Goodness! Am I as late as all that?

FADS AND FANCIES.

Extremely long trains are seen on some evening gowns.

Some suits have coats of silk and skirts of glazed taffeta.

For daytime frocks, lines are more straight than ever.

Black stitching in squares is effective on brick-colored crepe.

Yellow will be used extensively for making frocks for the kiddies the coming season.

Some of the newest evening gowns have the exact effect of those quaint old-fashioned lamp shades made of silk and lace.

To fill in the entire background of an embroidery design the darning stitch is very effective.

Lace as a trimming is coming into its own again and will be very popular this Summer. Some very chic gowns are trimmed with Irish and Valenciennes lace dyed to match the material of the gown.

TIMELY TIPS.

If you do not like the odor of boiling cabbage burn ground cinnamon on the top of the stove and you will have an agreeable aroma in the room.

If you have a garden try cooking Swiss chard, beet tops and onion tops together and serving them as spinach. The onion tops give the cooked greens a delicious flavor.

An easy way to put the required hole in the machine strap is to heat a long pin—a hatpin will answer the purpose nicely—until it is red hot. You will then have no difficulty in piercing the strap.

Calves' livers make a nice warm weather dish. Try baking it instead of frying. Do not have it sliced. Take the chunk of liver and put it into a baking dish with a little water, a liberal bit of butter, and season with salt and pepper. Baste it frequently. Serve it hot for dinner.

Daughter Decides to Make Her Own Clothes

The other day a young woman was asked to go to a certain little town to start a sewing club. Upon her return home her mother laughingly said: "You didn't know much more about sewing than they did, did you?"

The things the daughter told her mother in connection with the club were significant.

The Teacher Taught

"There were girls of fourteen and on up to twenty years of age who did not know what 'hemming' was. I started them out on towels and much to my surprise I found some of the girls were just taking running stitches instead of hemming. Many had never had a thimble on; you could not believe how awkwardly they attempted to thread their needles, and the lengths of thread they used showed plainly that they were quite unaccustomed to the use of sewing implements.

"As I instructed them I could but think that it would be better to teach them how to mend their clothes and darn stockings instead of the towel hemming. I never saw such ludicrous examples of 'patching' in my life, and holes in stockings were simply drawn into a pucker with a random stitch of two. Some of the girls had on cheap, showy, ready made dresses, and I couldn't help but think how much better it would be and less expensive for them to make their own dresses—prettier and simpler. Why, mother, I knew a lot about sewing in comparison to those girls."

New Frocks and Made-Overs

Here is a lesson. Take it. This young girl will always be more interested in sewing and will note the different phases of it much more carefully for her attempts at teaching others. Here is another point. We take too many things for granted. The mother of this girl was wholly unaware that there were girls in her community who knew absolutely nothing about sewing.

Put the two "points" together with fagoting and realize that we can learn a lot by trying to show others (imparting our knowledge) and that we may remain totally oblivious to the need for instruction of those about us unless we make it a matter of duty to find out about things.

A young married woman made the remark the other day:—"Mother has about 'quit' me as far as sewing is concerned. She thinks I should learn. She is making things for herself now." Many mothers are in rebellion these days as to sycophantic, pasasitic daughters—but how much have they taught these girls?

"I tried to make a dress the other day," recently said a girl, "and just see the botch it is. Let's lay it aside mamma, and cut out one from new goods."

It would have been easier to do this, of course, but "mamma" knew it would be a very bad example, so together they ripped and recut and made the botched goods into a pretty and useful frock. The "hard" things in sewing teach us. We are more careful about how we cut if we have to make things over a few times. Sewing requires discipline and energy like everything else, but how wonderfully it pays these days!

It is very sloven to leave bastings in garments and not to press finished sewing. It is not "finished" until these things are done.

Your perhaps have a "little fairy" in your home, but have you a Mary Jane, Susie Damn, or whatever cognomen you designate dress forms by? They are very useful to fit garments on and drape over. If we make our sewing rooms complete with every device and convenience possible the actual fact of sewing becomes much less a task.

Practice and Pleasure

To have something always on hand, cut out, ready to pick up and begin work on, is a great factor in accomplishing a deal of sewing. If needles, thread, tape have to be searched for every time one starts to work, one's humor is frazzled before beginning.

Why not have more sewing clubs? The above quoted girl tells that her class was eager to learn—it was a sort of adventure to them. The work was lightened and made attractive by the introduction of some class singing and light refreshment.

The groups of children playing "house," "party," "show" could so easily be interestingly diverted now and then by a sewing game or party. Even though doll dresses, hats bed furnishings and doll table linen were made it would be helpful. It is a good time now to begin training children more domestically. Start branch sewing clubs. Enliven them with songs, dancing, refreshments. You give them a sewing party and then accept their invitation to a "tea party." If you enter into their childish pastimes you can easily win them over to your useful sewing bee!

First Essentials

Don't leave threads and scraps on the floor. If possible sew in a room with hardwood floors or on oil-cloth, linoleum. Tie pieces and scraps of different garments in separate little rolls and pin securely before relegating to the scrap bag. Keep patterns well smoothed out so that using them again will not be a Chinese puzzle. Use weights instead of pins to hold patterns to goods. A stiff breeze blowing patterns about will make you swear. Avoid it.

Do you ever do any dress or garment designing yourself? Why ape? You have some ideas in your head. Start a club and design something new and useful.

MAKE IRONING EASIER.

One way to make ironing easier in hot weather is to use mangle on flat pieces or else hang them to dry smooth.

Another way to do away with some of the work of ironing during the hot weather is to dispense with ironing the flat pieces.

If sheets, pillow cases and towels are hung on the line carefully they will dry perfectly smooth and when taken down need only to be neatly folded. They then, further, keep the fresh fragrance of the sunshine and out of doors.

Where there are many flat pieces the purchase of a mangle is the simplest and most efficient method of making the Summer laundry work easier. The damp clothes are folded and pressed between rollers. These may be heated with gas, gasoline or electricity.

For those things that cannot be ironed with the mangle, there are many kinds of irons on the market that are self-heated and do away with heating up the kitchen range. The most commonly used and most satisfactory is the electric iron. The gas iron also has been found to work well, as have also those using denatured alcohol and gasoline.

The gasoline iron has been found especially satisfactory, and it is highly recommended by those who have used it. The gasoline is generated into gas, which is burned to heat the iron. It is better to strain the gasoline used. A good gasoline iron is safe and easily regulated to any heat.

FOR TRAVELLING.

The one-piece dress is a comfortable garment, but when travelling any distance nothing can quite take the place of the smartly tailored suit. A fresh blouse gives the entire outfit a new lease of life. Even a change of collar and cuffs helps mightily. To carry a change of dresses in, a travelling bag is difficult, but a number of blouses may be pressed into a comparatively small space.

For Summer wear the suit of pongee, rajah or silk in natural color promises to be a great favorite, and the Eton or Bolero jacket model with plaited skirt is especially charming as a travelling suit. The plaited skirt gives the necessary comfortable width that a costume for travelling should have, and the short jacket completes the outfit without adding very materially to its weight or warmth.

Very narrow skirts are extremely uncomfortable for travelling, as car steps were quite obviously never designed by individuals who expected women passengers to go about in hobble skirts.

The best thing about a woman is a man's arm.

No woman has ever succeeded in making a pound beautiful.

Electricity—Modern Maid of All Work

Just imagine the good wishes of a score of electrical companies embodied in an all-electrical "hope chest" containing a complete outfit of electrical home servants instead of bric-a-brac and embroidered trifles! That's what was presented to a New York bride a few days ago.

Fancy starting housekeeping with the servant problems solved for all time, as does this bride. Imagine having all this modern equipment at once available without buying it bit by bit. She begins housekeeping on a twentieth century basis, putting the work of her home on a high new level which many housewives have hardly touched.

Novel "Hope Chest."

This novel "hope chest" included such practical wedding gifts as electric range, dishwasher, washing machine, electric iron, vacuum cleaner, electric heater, sewing machine motor, vibrator, percolator, toaster, set of portable lamps, five cartons of new white lamps and an electrolier.

When you come to think of it, why should not the modern bride have practical wedding gifts that will help her right from the beginning to put her home on an efficient auto-operative basis? Such a home will mean a happier kind of living than so far has been possible, for the home begins with the correct solution of the difficulties that have long centred in the domestic labor problem.

Now, why not present your friends, the bride, with something electrical? An iceless refrigerator, for instance? Ordinary household refrigerators, even of the best make, with the best insulated walls, are by no means as effective in saving ice as might be desired.

Efficient Basis.

Three points to remember in purchasing a refrigerator are low temperature, dryness and sanitation. The low temperature in the average icebox is obtained by ice and proper insulation. The ice compartment should be large enough to hold at least fifty to seventy-five pounds of ice and should be kept filled in order to avoid fluctuation in temperature which is favorable to the growth of micro-organisms that cause food to spoil.

A steady, unfailing cold is fundamentally essential to the preservation of foodstuffs, a condition that is hard to maintain with an ice-cooled box, for the reason that the cooling effect for the ice cake that the cooling exposed surface, and hence upon its size. As an ice cake melts away its cooling power diminishes and the temperature of the interior of the box gradually rises. Uniformly cold temperature below that obtainable from ice is now obtained through mechanical refrigeration.

Artificial refrigeration is not new, but until recently it has not been practical to build refrigerating machines of small capacity. Now there are several machines of a size suitable for shops, stores and homes. These machines serve both for cooling and to make ice; they are electrically driven and are practically automatic in operation. While demanding a moderate investment at first, they soon show practical economy over old methods of cooling.

Electrically lined up with the fine sewing mechanism of the modern sewing machine assures a rapid sewing device undreamed of by the housewife yesterday. The modern portable machine, cover and all, weighs less than a packed suitcase and can be carried wherever one wishes to sew. A cord can be attached to any electric light socket and electricity does the hard work. Women who use it declare that they get a great deal more work with far less fatigue than by the old method.

Small Motor.

Such a machine simplifies sewing. It does the daintiest as well as the heaviest work. It has all the attachments for all kinds of sewing, such as hemming and sewing on lace, piping with the binder, cross-tucking, ruffling, shirring and edgestitching.

Suppose a white lawn apron is to be made. The first operation is to tuck the material for the ruffle and then insert lace insertion and lace on edge of same; second, hem apron strings and sides of apron; third, gather ruffles and stitch it to the bottom of apron (this is done in one operation); fourth, gather top of apron and stitch it to the band. The total cost for material is about fifty cents. The cost for electricity may be disregarded, it's so slight. The time for making is about two hours. The time for making a similar apron by hand is twenty hours.

Willing Workers.

A small home motor is the most willing worker you ever saw. It is never tired and never demands a vacation. After running the sewing machine it is ready to do other tasks with the aid of attachments, one of which is a cream whipper that not only whips cream, but also beats eggs quicker and better than by any other method.

This attachment includes a funnel arrangement that permits oil to be added a drop at a time, and thus the cream whipper becomes an ideal salad dressing mixer for the making of mayonnaise sauce. Then there is a polisher, a grinder and a fan attachment that instantly changes the home motor into a strong fan sending cooling breezes through the room on warm days.

HOW OLD IS THE BLOOMER?

The bloomer dress for women was first worn at a ball July 23, 1851, at Lowell, Massachusetts, in order to demonstrate the dress reform movement of Mrs. Bloomer, who advocated it in a temperance publication, The Lily, issued by her at that time. Attempts to promote its popularity in New England and later in England failed, provoking merriment and fun, rather than the object of the crusade. Later it was revived with the popularity of bicycling in the nineties, in conjunction with tweed jackets.

WHEN MADAM IRONS.

An easy way to sprinkle clothes is to dip a whisk broom in water and shake over article to be sprinkled. Use hot water to sprinkle with when in haste to iron, as it penetrates and dampens more quickly.

Linen should always be ironed lengthwise, thus obviating the danger of stretching. Colored linens should be protected by a thin cloth or ironed on the wrong side to avoid fading by direct contact with the hot iron.

Thin dresses or waists that are badly mussed, but not soiled, may be freshened by pressing on a board covered with a damp cloth, which may or may not have been dipped in cold starch, depending on the amount already in the garment. When no starch is required a damp paper (not newspaper for light colored goods) may be used instead of cloth if desired.

When ironing waists, shirts, etc., turn sleeves wrong side out and leave till body of article is completed, then turn back and iron. This method makes ironing of shoulders and sleeves much easier.

Pleated lawn blouses in pastel shades are most delightful.

DIFFERENT WAYS OF SERVING FISH

Whether one buys one of the cheapest nourishing foods in the market or cooks the result of "his" fishing trip, there are many ways of cooking fish so that it will not be monotonous. And it is wise to vary the style of serving, as then this economical food can be frequently used. Below are given a dozen different ways to serve it.

Baked Stuffed Fish

Choose a rather large, nicely flavored fish. Wash with cold salt water and wipe dry. For a four pound fish use two cupfuls of bread crumbs moistened either with one egg or one cupful of milk. Season well with salt and pepper and such seasonings preferred as celery, onion, tomato, parsley or a fish sauce. Stuff the fish. Sew up and place in a greased pan. Thread with a coarse needle four or five thin inch strips of salt pork across the back. Bake forty minutes and serve on a hot platter. Garniah with parsley and slices of lemon. Horseradish is also a nice accompaniment.

Baked Chicken Halibut

Rub the halibut with olive oil, pepper and salt. Bake twenty-five minutes, basting with melted butter.

Boiled Halibut

Boil the fish in boiling salted water twenty minutes. Serve with white sauce to which has been added one hard boiled egg, sliced.

Turbans of Fish

Choose fish cut in long slices. Cut in pieces one-half inch thich, three inches long and two inches wide. Dip in fat and sprinkle with lemon juice, chopped onion, pepper and salt. Beginning with the widest end of the slice, roll it up into a little turban and fasten with a buttered toothpick. Bake in a moderate oven for twenty minutes. Baste with a little butter melted in hot water. These are nice looking for a luncheon and can be served with white sauce and slices of cucumber.

Baked Fish Balls.

To one cupful cooked fish such as halibut, blue fish, barracuda, salmon or tuna, add one cupful cooked rice. Season highly and mix together with one well beaten egg, and one teaspoonful of lemon juice. Shape into flat patty like balls and place on a greased pan and bake until brown. These are very appetizing served with tomato sauce and make a nice breakfast dish.

Cold Fish Salad

Pan broiled halibut is nice for this. Carefully bone and shred. Add sliced cold cooked beets, hard boiled eggs and cucumbers. Serve with boiled salad dressing.

Salmon Mold

Dissolve one-half envelope of gelatine in one-fourth cupful of cold water. Add this to one-half cupful of boiled salad dressing and one cupful of shredded salmon. Season with salt, pepper and one tablespoonful of vinegar. Turn into a mold to harden. Serve sliced on crisp lettuce. This is a nice dish for a holiday.

Fish En Casserole

Use any left over fish. Shed with an equal amount of bread crumbs or rice. Season with salt, pepper, celery salt and catsup. Add one well beaten egg and bake fifteen to twenty minutes in individual casseroles until a delicate brown. Garnish each with a sprig of parsley or an olive.

Creamed Fish

Scald two cupfuls of milk with a slice of onion and a blade of mace. Add two and a half cupfuls of flaked fish. Thicken with two tablespoonfuls of flour and three tablespoonfuls of butter. Salt and pepper, but if codfish omit the salt and serve on triangles of hot toast. Hard boiled eggs can be added to this if desired.

MOTORISTS OFTEN MISLED IN OPINION OF ROAD GRADES

"How steep is the grade on that road? Well—I should say that it is all of thirty or thirty-five per cent. But I didn't have any trouble in making it with my car. No, sir. She pulled it like a house afire. Made it in high all the way. Passed two ——— cars laboring along in second."

How often, with variations, do we hear these words from drivers proud of the achievements of their cars frequently to the disparagement of higher priced cars from which, presumably, a better performance should be expected. After listening to statements of this kind from hundreds of tourists anxious to tell of their trips and the remarkable exploits of their cars, one is at last convinced that not one man in a hundred has the proper estimate of the percentage of a grade encountered. No reliance is to be placed on such estimates expressed by any other than one who knows from actual measurement with a gradometer.

Approaching an ascent the grade naturally appears steeper than it actually is. This, coupled with the performance of the individual car which may or may not make the grade in high gear, gives rise to an incorrect estimate of the percentage of the grade.

Many motorists do not understand the process by which the designation of a grade percentage is arrived at, believing that a twenty per cent. grade, for instance, is one which rises at an angle of twenty degrees from the horizontal. This is erroneous. The designation of twenty per cent. to a grade means that in that grade there is a perpendicular rise of twenty feet in 100 horizontal feet. In other words, to generalize, the numerical percentage of a grade indicates that number of feet perpendicular rise in 100 horizontal feet. In relation to degrees it will be found that a grade percentage properly arrived at in this way forms an angle equal to about one-half of the angle formed when the numerical expression is taken to mean degrees. Definitely, a thirty per cent. grade is about one-half as steep as a grade formed by a thirty degree angle from the horizontal.

The steepest grade on which a car can obtain traction is forty-five per cent. and this is a very stiff grade indeed. You can be reasonably certain that if you have estimated a grade as thirty or thirty-five per cent. and your car pulls it in high gear that your estimate of the road's steepness is probably double or even more what it actually is.

Beauties of Beach and Woodland Are Being Fully Valued by All Classes of Citizens at Present

Sunshine and Summer breezes have taken Victoria to the great out-of-doors. The city is literally on its vacation by beach and woodland and lakeside at the present time.

Swimming clubs flourish as never before, canoeing parties enjoy the pleasures of the Gorge waters, and the seashore is alive with the Summer camper, whose phonograph and beach fire proclaim his al fresco life away from the business and social duties of the town.

Never have there been so many picnic parties, never so many Summer fetes and parties. How much of this circumstance is due to reunited families after the estrangements of war, how much to continued dry weather, how much to an awakened and enlightened spirit of love for the out-of-doors it would be difficult to say. At any rate, they all contribute to a great revival of pleasure such as has not been seen in Victoria for many a long day.

A Great Resort

A perfect day and the Gorge are about synonymous in the minds of Victoria kiddies—and, for that matter, in the minds of many of the grown-ups, too—these days. And well it may be. What with its delightfully warm water in which even the chilliest may splash for hours on end, its merry-go-round and scenic railway, its daily concerts and evening dances, and its many nooks into which a canoe only can make its way—nooks for "whispering lovers made" as the poet has it—the Gorge well deserves the reign of popularity it has enjoyed since long before most of its present patrons can remember. Not only is the Gorge a pleasure resort this year, it is also the training place of some of the finest swimming talent on the coast. Half a dozen swimming clubs are going now now, and Indian-brown boys and girls in bathing suits line the shore and keep the water in commotion at all hours of the day and night. In fact, it's not much that the young folks miss during a day at the Gorge.

Favored Places

There has been a marked increase in the number of places visited by parties this year. On the Saanich peninsula points served by the interurban, notably Brentwood and Deep Bay, have been greatly in demand, while the well-known resorts from Margaret's Bay, Gordon Head, right along the east coast to Roberts' Bay, Sidney, have all been visited extensively. There has scarcely been a day for weeks that Mount Douglas Beach has not been in use, and Cadboro and Cordova Bays have received a very large amount of patronage. Island View beach has become increasingly popular with farming sections desirous of an organized picnic in the district near home. The Experimental Station at Bazan Bay has been favored by those who desire profit with their pleasure, and the various farmers' institutes which have visited the trial grounds have had a most delightful as well as instructive day of pleasure. Professor Stevenson has certainly done all he could to improve the facilities for picnic parties at the farm.

West of City

Goldstream, the old-time resort, has been forced into competition with newer districts, but still has unique advantages of woodland and water-course not easy to rival. Some more adventurous spirits have preferred the higher slopes of the Highland district and Mount Finlayson, and even the Finlayson Flats, have developed a popularity now. In the beaches around Metchosin, Albert

Head and the Esquimalt lagoon there have been a large number of picnics and others are timed to follow. The improved transportation service has undoubtedly resulted in the development in popularity in that section.

Beaver Lake

The area of Elk Lake watershed, particularly that part around the intake at Beaver Lake, has suddenly developed a popularity which no one would have expected. To a chosen few it was known to possess all the attributes of woodland, lakeside and scenery which could be expected in an inland point, but to the general public it was almost unvisited until this year—perhaps stimulated by a publicity early in the season affecting the future control of the property.

Position of Motorist

To the motorist, who desires to tour and be independent of hotels and inns the question of camping sites is an important one. As stated in The Times earlier in the week, the authorities propose to issue a pamphlet indicating the various places where camping may be carried on in various points on the Island. Some of the best known are the Mount Douglas Beach one, of Victoria, the Duncan one, and the Millstream Park one at Nanaimo. There has been considerable complaint both from Shawnigan and from Qualicum that accommodation of this character is badly needed. Other Island points also require similar facilities.

HERE IT IS AGAIN

A recent test showed that to prevent excessive engine wearing crankcase oil should be changed at least every 1,500 miles, preferably every 1,000 miles.

A new engine that was run 6,000 miles with oil changed at proper intervals, upon being disassembled showed no signs of wear. The same engine, reassembled and run 6,000 miles with old oil plus new oil as needed, upon inspection, showed a wear of 0.015 inches.

NO EXCUSE FOR MOTOR HAVING GLARING LIGHTS

Still Many Cars Blind Approaching Drivers at Night

By H. C. Brokaw

"Let your light shine before men," is a precept alike of the Good Book and most state automobile laws, but both precepts presume that you will not try to let all your light shine in one spot; in fact, the state laws prescribe a penalty for doing it. A shining light properly controlled may inspire others to good works, but if it shines so that it blinds them it is apt to produce the contrary results.

In spite of the law requiring non-glare lenses, one sees many cars on the road which blind the approaching driver as well as pedestrians. Sometimes the roads are dark and rough, but the driver should realize that a glaring headlight not only endangers himself but others. It endangers himself because the driver of a car approaching is helpless and in his effort to keep on the road may very easily crowd the other fellow into the ditch or drive head-on into him. Selfpreservation, therefore, requires strict heed as to how one's lights shine, if the penalty of the law does not.

The law requires suitable lenses to keep the beam of light below the eyes of the driver and pedestrian. The exact height varies in different states, but is not far from forty-two inches from the roadway. The lens is supposed to throw the light downward to the roadway and also to each side, so that the entire roadway is illuminated. There are quite a number of lenses which are supposed to do this, and each bears the approval of state officials. But a very large percentage of the cars seen on the road to-day are not equipped with non-glare devices.

Approved Lens Required

Near my office is a busy block, where many cars are parked. Looking them over, I found about one-half dozen out of fifty cars properly equipped, and while I was looking as many more cars passed and about the same proportion was equipped. Of course, some of those cars may have used lamps of such low candlepower that they would not be a menace, but the law requires an approved lens regardless of the candlepower of the lamp.

An approved lens alone is not, however, a sufficient safeguard. They are all right if the lamp is set according to directions which come with the lens. The lens properly set will throw light to the reflector at such an angle that the rays will be reflected to the lenses in a proper way and there be refracted so that they illumine the roadway properly but a slight change in the focus of the lamp may throw the light rays upward instead of downward, or throw them in a straight beam of light which would be blinding to anyone who came within its range. The purpose of the lens is to bend the rays to the proper direction but it can only be done when the focus of the lamp is accurate.

Lamp Adjustments

From this it is apparent that a car might be equipped with the proper lens and yet be dangerous since the intent is to diffuse light so that, while the roadway is properly illumined, the rays of light do not strike the eyes of a driver or pedestrian approaching and blind them.

Practically all lamps manufactured now have an adjustment for focusing the rays so that there is no excuse for anyone having glary headlights. The adjustments are more or less accessible; some have a thumbpiece on the side of the lamp by which it can be turned to any desired focus. With others the lens must be removed to make the adjustment. But I am afraid that there are not many drivers who know how to make, or who care enough about it to pay any attention to, the adjustments.

Police Could Help

For this reason I would suggest that the authorities take cognizance of this fact and compel all drivers to have their lamps properly adjusted, so that the non-glare lens actually prevents a glare. This is quite a task, it is true, and it might not be a bad idea if the traffic policemen in cities were instructed how to adjust the lamps, then when they come across a glaring headlight they could stop the car and show the driver how to overcome the glare, and then report the number and if a second violation occurs the offender should be sent to a magistrate. Probably most night collisions are due to headlights which blind one of the drivers.

To turn off one headlight to overcome a glare is a decided evil. Another driver may think because there is one light that it is a motorcycle which has the headlight directly in front, and he would be unable to judge the distance required to pass a car which had one headlight, particularly if this was on the off side.

Test Lamp Brackets

This is not a light matter, notwithstanding it deals with lights, but it is really one of the most serious things with which the driver and the public are concerned. Particularly is this true in the suburbs, where no attention seems to be paid to the law and pedestrians must frequently halt because of the intense glare, or run the risk of stumbling.

Lamp brackets may have a bearing upon this feature as well. Sometimes they are bent, either from collision or because some one has tried to push the car around by pressing against the headlights. The light may be properly equipped and focused, but if the brackets are bent so that the light ray is projected higher it may be a source of danger. Brackets are made much more rigid than formerly, but it is a good idea to examine them and make sure that they are not causing one to break the law unconciously.

How to Test Lamps

It is possible for any driver to test his lamps to see if they are properly focused and comply with the law. Inasmuch as state laws differ he should first become familiar with the provisions, then place the car on the level facing a wall or building to determine if the light shines in accordance with the law's requirements, testing at fifty feet and one hundred feet, or whatever distance the law mentions. With each lens directions are given how to adjust the lamps. It is not a matter of simply putting the lens in the bezel but of seeing that the lamp is properly focused if it is to work as the manufacturer intended.

While it is permitted to carry a spotlight, in practically every state it is against the law to throw its light upon the roadway even for a fraction of a minute. The spotlight may be used for reading signs, house numbers and for similar purposes and it is mighty handy to have on a car, but when it is used for road illumination it is a menace that should not be permitted. Some drivers seem to think it is a good joke to throw a spotlight into the faces of people along the road, or the people in an approaching car. Such folks ought to be compelled to sit in the spotlight awhile and they would get over their fool notions of fun.

"Let your light shine before men," but not in their eyes. Let your lamp be a path unto their feet, or for the wheels of the car, but do not imagine that you have a sun on your car and that you are required to light up the universe.

It is estimated that it will take no less than six years for automobile manufacturers in France to catch up with their orders

Ruined Tires Are Due to Three Chief Causes

Under-Inflation, Heedlessness in Driving and Misalignment of Wheels Are Blamed

By Walter Milton, of Motor

Of all the ways that have been hit upon by careless motorists for ruining tires on the road, three may be accepted as standard — underinflation, misalignment of wheel and heedlessness in driving. There are many other methods short of placing a tire in contact with a whirling grindstone for divesting it of its tread and injuring the inner fabric, but these three are the most usual. Of them, underinflation is probably the commonest cause for the early demise of a casing.

The reason for this is readily appreciated when two things are taken into consideration: (1) the tendency to procrastination which is interent to some degree in every human being, and (2) the inability of any laminated substance to resist disintegration when it is constantly flexed. The second premise may require elucidation. Fabric tires are built up of layers of cotton impregnated with and cemented together by rubber. So long as sufficient air pressure is maintained in the tire to keep it hard under the weight of the car these layers, or piles, remain in practically fixed relation to each other. When, however, the tire loses air to such an extent that it flattens appreciably on the ground the piles weave back and forth. The energy developed by the weaving motion of the tire walls creates heat which disintegrates the holding power of the fabric and rubber. As there is more heat generated in this way than by contact of the tire with the road surface, it is a mistaken notion that tires should be slightly deflated on a hot day to allow of heat expansion. The air in the properly inflated tires will expand somewhat under the influence of heat, but the excess heat generated by running on soft tires is harmful.

Another item in the list of evils contingent upon underflation, is the damage likely to result when a soft tire strikes a sharp stone or other hard object in the road.

At the impact the tire, being insufficiently supported by the pressure of air within it, bends in and stretches the inside ply to such an extent that it is weakened or actually broken. This constitutes a bruise, and bruises are the origin of the most mysterious blowouts. No mark is left on the tread, but the tire is damaged nonetheless and it is only a matter of time before the fabric around the bruise is so weakened that it blows. Many supposedly defective tires are returned for adjustment because they were damaged in this way by a large stone or similar object.

The pressure in a tire should be based on the load it carries. It is obvious that a 30 by 3½-inch tire designed to support a static load of 500 pounds, will not stand up under double the load. Increasing the load gives the same effect as decreasing the pressure. So, when you put seven passengers in a three-passenger car you are overloading the tires. In order not to damage them you really ought to increase the pressure beyond that which the tires are normally supposed to carry. This is impractical, so the best the owner can do is to avoid overloading his car. The damage to a casing is considerably increased when an already underinflated tire is overloaded.

All cars are not fitted with tires of the right size; some are too small, some large enough, and others larger than needed for a given set of conditions. The largest tires can be operated considerably under the pressure specified and easier riding obtained. The tires that are just large enough ought to be carefully watched so the pressure always is kept to that specified for the particular car and size of tires. The small tires will always give trouble.

Embossed on the side of every tire is the inflation pressure for that tire, but not all makes indicate as well the corresponding maximum static load. This every owner should learn.

Misalignment of the wheel is almost as productive of tire troubles as underinflation. No one would willingly permit his car to be drawn sideways along the road, because the abrasive effect on the tires would be fatal in a short time. Thirty per cent. of the cars in service have misaligned wheels, however, and the result of dragging the tires ever so slightly as they rotate is almost as fatal. It is no uncommon occurrence for tires on wheels which are badly out of alignment to be destroyed in only a few hundred miles. Running in and out of ruts, crossing railroad tracks at speed, or bumping into curbstones may throw the wheels out of line, and the careful motorist will check them frequently if he wishes to obtain full service from his tires. Misalignments which are so slight as to be imperceptible to the eye may cause wear.

Examining tire treads closely will show whether or not the wheels are true. A roughening of the rubber tread, appearing as though a file had been drawn across the surface, indicates out of alignment. Front wheels can be checked for alignment quite easily and quickly by any garageman. It involves simply the taking of measurements between wheels at the top, at the bottom and at the front and rear. Camber and gather are the terms applied to these conditions of wheel positions. Gather is often called toe-in because the wheels toe-in in front. Usually the gather is 2 per cent. of the wheel diameter, but often it is slightly greater or smaller. The car maker or service station should be consulted on this point.

Wobbly wheels are almost as bad as misaligned ones because their tires touch the road during at least part of each revolution at an angle off the perpendicular. Looseness in rear wheels may be caused by worn bearings, and in the front ones by play in bearings, spindle bushings, and steering connecting rod bushings. Demountable rims which are not firmly bolted to the wheel are another, though infrequent, cause of trouble.

The motorist who starts with a rush and stops with a bang is responsible for tire loss through heedlessness. In starting quickly the rear wheels lose traction and tend to spin slightly. The spinning is not as pronounced as that of a locomotive's driving wheels when it is started under a heavy load. Anyone who goes back to examine his tracks after making a quick getaway on a dirt road will observe the slight blurring of the tread imprint in the dirt. This blurred track represents lost rubber. Sudden stopping, even though the rear wheels are not brought to a lock, makes for excess wear; and when the tires actually slide a flat spot is developed.

Swift driving over roads which are bumpy or covered with round stones cause wear which may be estimated by an examination of tracks. There are places where the rear wheels leave the ground. Where they touch again the surface is ruffled. This is caused by tire spin induced by accelerated rotation of the wheels while in air. Careless driving over sharp stones is even more destructive, because the stones cut holes in the rubber into which water and dirt work their way and rot the inner fabric. Most drivers will turn out to avoid a brick or a broken bottle in the road, but how many avoid the smaller obstructions with the same care?

The pride which causes one to bring his car flush to its curb when drawing up in city streets imposes its toll on tires if they are permitted to chafe against the stone. Tire walls are not supposed to withstand direct wear, and very little abuse of this sort will weaken them materially.

A species of pride is also responsible for the damage done to tires by driving in car tracks. There is no denying that the motion of the car is easier when the rough cobbles which so often accompany car tracks are avoided. But the little extra comfort is more than offset by the damage done the tires. Especially if it is under-inflated a tire attempts to adjust itself to the shape of the track, with the result that the fabric is wrenched along the line dividing the track proper from the flange below it.

The use of chains is the surest prevention against skidding on slippery street; but the misuse of them is one of the sure-shot causes of tire decompositions. Unless they are put on with enough play to permit them to creep as the wheels revolve they will inevitably dig their way into the tires at the points of contact. If they are worn promiscuously they reduce the life of the tires even though properly adjusted. Every motorist should make it a point to stop and remove his chains as soon as the need for them passes.

Uneven brake adjustments induce skidding, and the skid is as injurious to tires as it is dangerous to the car and its occupants.

MUST GUARD SPARES

Owner Will Lose 2,000 Miles on Extra Casing If It Is Not Protected.

Automobile tires are wrapped in paper by the manufacturer because tire makers know that sunlight and air sap the strength of rubber. It should be protected until it actually goes on the rim for road service.

Statistics prove that a tire good for and average of 6,000 miles when it leaves the factory will lose approximately 2,000 miles of life by being carried, unprotected, as a spare for one year.

A tire cover made of rubberized coated fabric will outlast many tires. It will cost less than 2,000 lost mileage on one unprotected spare.

Neatly covered tires look much better hanging on the back of the machine than do bare tires. The covers are waterproof and can be washed without injury as often as the car is washed. They come in colors to match the body finish.

VULCANIZING RUBBER BY SULPHOR PROCESS.

Experiments at the Manchester College of Technology are said to have led to the discovery of an important process of vulcanizing rubber which, it is claimed, may have far-reaching effects on the rubber manufacturing industry. The new discovery makes use of two gases, sulphurated hydrogen and sulpher dioxide, which react on each other to produce water and free sulphur. It has been found that when crude rubber, either in solid form or in solution, is treated with these gases, the sulphur produced vulcanizes the rubber. If the rubber is mixed with a waste material, such as sawdust, leather scraps or even paper, and the mixture vulcanized, the result will serve a variety of useful purposes. The importance of this discovery, says the American Chamber of Commerce in London, is said to lie in the fact that it makes cold vulcanizing possible, the present method being to heat rubber and sulphur to a temperature of 138 centigrade, and it has been difficult to get a combination of rubber with raw materials which would stand such a high temperature. It is claimed that the discovery will make possible the manufacture of one-piece boots without stitching, and that its uses will extend to the manufacture of linoleum floor coverings, artificial leather, upholstery and wall paper, and that it will probably affect the manufacture of motor tires.

Ignorance Causes Many Car Hitches

Owner at Fault Nine Times Out of Ten in Troubles With Automobile.

By H. A. Tarantous.

"How did it happen?" asks the irate owner. "I've driven this car less than thirty days and there's no gasoline in the tank, no oil in the motor and no water in the radiator. What kind of a car is this, anyway?"

You doubt this, reader? You wreathe your face in incredulous smiles?

Well, it hasn't appeared to our knowledge, but just listen to what did happen. A comparatively new owner telegraphed the service station that he would have to be towed in. His car had exploded and he didn't dare try to start under its own power. He was sorry that he had bought the car, but he wouldn't ask for a refund until the service wagon had come out and swept him off the road. Mystified by the tale of a car exploding in this day and generation, the service manager went along with the emergency wagon. Arrived at the scene of the catastrophe he heard from the owner's lips the harrowing details.

The owner had drawn up at the side of the road to admire the view. He had shut off the motor and then switch on to move to a slightly more advantageous position. Instantly there had been a poise like a German seventy-five exploding in a Belgian chancel and his wife had fainted from the shock. He himself had retained enough presence of mind to switch off once more, but his nerves were frazzled and he wouldn't touch the car again with a fireman's ladder.

The service man heard the testimony and cross-examined the complainant.

"When you started the motor after switching off, did you use the electric cranker?"

"No, but what difference does that make? The engine hadn't quite stopped and I just threw the switch into contact. The whole car exploded and——"

"So you said. Now, when you switched off, did you happen to step on the accelerator?"

"Yes, but what's wrong with that? I always do that, and this is the first time that the car has exploded. Why, it sounded like——"

"I'm sure it must have," interrupted the manager. "Now, if you will lie down on the grass here and look under your car"—and he suited his own action to the word—"I'll show you what happened."

The muffler was hopelessly and teetotally damaged. The act of shutting off the motor and opening the throttle had filled it as well as the cylinders with an explosive mixture. The sudden switching on had introduced a burning charge to the muffler, and the result was what you and I might have expected.

As the owner told the service man, it was the manufacturer's fault for not providing a muffler that would withstand the bursting pressure of a bushel of TNT. Ten times out of ten it is the manufacturer's fault (in the owner's estimation) when something goes wrong with a car during the first five months of its use. Analyses of troubles compiled by dealers show, however, that nine times out of ten the owner is at fault and that the tenth percentage of failures may be properly laid at the door of the manufacturer.

In what we commonly speak of as the last analysis (meaning the one that hasn't yet been figured) the dealer is responsible for a large number of returns that occur during the first 130 days of a car's life. He sells a car to a novice and gives him a few lessons in driving. In a day or so the dealer graduates his pupil cum laude, and as a diploma hands him an instruction book which he says must be followed implicitly. He mentions particularly the points that require lubrication.

So far he has performed his duty to himself and to the purchaser. But he forgets that a mechanism which is as familiar to him as a pocket-knife may seem an absolute mystery to the new owner. In common justice to every car, every manufacturer and every owner, the dealer should go over the car in detal, point out to the purchaser each part that requires oiling, and explain the function of every moving part. He should show how to make the simple adjustments and explain the necessity for making them. It is foolish to confuse the new owner with a multiplicity of names that mean nothing to him, expecting him to locate hidden parts without guidance. What does an affluent barber know about a torque tube; how much can a magazine illustrator grasp of the construction of a differential when he examines a sectional drawing for the first time in his life? The owner should be shown.

Some dealers have already seen the wisdom of educating the owner, and have made it their policy not to let him take his car away until he can operate and care for it with a full knowledge of what he is doing and why he does it. Some make it imperative that the car be returned to the service station monthly for inspection, stipulating that the guarantee will be void unless the terms are complied with. In years to come the education of owners will have progressed to such a degree that the returns necessitated by neglect will amount to practically nothing. At the present time, as intimated above, they comprise 90 per cent. of all the failures which occur during a car's infancy.

FRONT END OF CAR IS CHANGING TO MEET NEW NEEDS

Appearance Is Being Altered, But Other Changes Now Few

By Merle Shepard

There has been a change in tendency in radiator shapes during the last year or two. Up to about two years ago there was a marked tendency for stock car manufacturers to adopt the high, narrow radiator which has come to be associated with racing practice. This, however, has given way to a rather square and somewhat rounded top which has considerably altered the appearance of cars. In fact, motorists who used to pride themselves on their ability to identify different makes of cars coming towards them on the road have had to learn a considerable number of new radiator shapes if they expect to identify them by this method.

Some of the cars best known through the appearance of the front end of the radiator have altogether changed their appearance in this respect and now look like new makes. The reason for this is largely due to the fact that an effort has been made on the part of body builders to continue the edge of the body from the back end of the car to the extreme front end. In other words, there is no longer a break at the cowl.

This has necessitated a rather wide top to the radiator which does not allow it to conform to the high, narrow effect which was previously sought after. Furthermore, the radiating surfaces of practically every make of car have been increased. In certain parts of the country where long stretches of good roads now prevail and where the speed limit permits thirty-five to forty miles an hour, it has been found that cars which were provided with sufficient cooling area under conditions where they did not travel much over twenty-five to thirty miles an hour for any length of time, did not have sufficient cooling space for the higher speeds. This has been particularly noteworthy along the coast of California, where there are long stretches of excellen. roads permitting a steady thirty-five to forty mile an hour pace. It has been found necessary by some manufacturers to send engineers to the coast to study cooling conditions on account of the reports of overheating which came from dealers in that territory. It was found that continuous running at thirty-five to forty miles an hour, and even forty-five miles an hour, caused overheating eventually, and for this reason many of these concerns have altered their radiator design to give increased cooling space.

As far as appearance is concerned all opinions are not unanimously in favor of the new radiator shapes. There is something attractive about a high narrow radiator which gives it an appeal to the class of car owners who desire a racey-looking automobile. No doubt the racing car has suggested the sporty appearance of this type of front end. However, the practicability of the newer shape has much to recommend it, and no doubt this will be the recognized type of radiator used in the 1921 and 1922 cars.

In fact, as far as mechanical changes in cars are concerned, or even changes in bodies, very little is to be expected for the coming year. Manufacturers are not anxious at the present time to change their equipment of jigs, tools and fixtures for the manufacture of new model cars.

The highest priced automobile twenty years ago was the "Victoria" type, selling from $2,700 to $3,200.

Louis Chevrolet, the famous automobile racer, has retired from the game.

CARE WITH LITTLE THINGS WILL CUT MOTORING COST

Nowadays Economy in Operations and Upkeep Is Needed

Whether or not there is a shortage or a prospective shortage of gasoline, old High Cost of Gas is with us, apparently to stay for awhile. If most people are "to get away with" 41 cents gas—and nobody knows what it will be next—there must be some close figuring and an attempt to get the most out of every gallon. Of course, in figuring the cost to the gallon one must needs take into consideration a great many other costs besides the price paid for gas, and the novice would better spend an evening a week figuring out how to get the best run for his money.

The sky-high price of everything which enters into the operation of the automobile from labor to cotter pins is such an old story that it has almost gone beyond the point where it hurts us. We may turn pain into pleasure by a little close figuring. It is not the large items which eat up money in operating an automobile, but a succession of little items which make the cost per mile out of proportion to the pleasure or convenience derived from the automobile.

Make Car Last Longer

One hands over a quarter, or a dollar, or two dollars, without thinking anything about it, but a record of these items and of the tips which go along with the auto would show a very large total for the touring season, and doubtless a perusal of such a record would suggest many ways in which a large proportion of the expense might have be saved. Of course, this does not apply to the man who has so much money that he has a hard time spending it, but then most of us are not in that class and have to figure.

Then, too, the wear and tear of the car enter into the cost and a car which ordinarily would be ready to trade in after two years might be made to do for four or five years if there were more attention paid to its care and operation. The shortage of cars during the war has taught us a lot about this, but the novice has not had this experience and should profit by the lessons others have learned.

Many Cars Wasted

Many an automobile is wasted more than it is used. That is, ignorance of the car causes wear and tear greater than that occasioned by hard running. In the matter of the tires alone this item is the largest proportion of expense, according to the tire dealers. That is, the average driver might double the life of his tires if he knew how to treat them with respect. Such things as driving into holes in the road, or deep ruts, turning corners on two wheels, jamming on the brakes so that the car slides, and neglect of the clutch so that it jerks the car when let in, all causes wear which might be prevented.

Likewise neglect of the wheels themselves, letting them get out of true, under inflation, neglects of the small cuts in the shoe, permitting the oil or grease to remain on the tires, and excessive speed on country roads, all add to the cost.

Gasoline Economy.

Oils and grease have advanced in cost along with the gasoline, and are now so valuable that the least waste is almost unpardonable. But, on the other hand, enough of both must be used or there will be a lot of worn bearings to be replaced. The man who has bought a new car should watch all bearings very carefully until they have had time to work in properly. Screw down the grease cups at first twice as often as the rules call for and be over-particular to keep enough of the oil in the crank case.

All these things enter into the economical use of gasoline and by no means exhaust the list. Economy means that every moving part must work properly and it is the function of oil and grease to accomplish this. The brakes should not drag on the drum; the clutch should not slip; every cylinder should fire in its turn and the carburetor should feed in exactly the right amount of gas for perfect performance. The carburetor is presumed to be properly adjusted when the car is received, but it occasionally happens that it is not.

Carbon Often Costly

It is not necessary to be constantly changing this but it should be adjusted until it gives a mixture rich enough to give power but lean enough so that it is practically all burned and there is no wastage. Too much carbon in the cylinders also causes a loss of power and if the muffler is not clean, there is a back pressure which eats up power and this, of course, all means a larger consumption of gasoline.

The ignition system has a great bearing upon economy in gas consumption. The spark lever needs to be kept well advanced, although it may be necessary to shift it a great deal in touring with present battery systems of ignition. Plugs must be kept clean and properly adjusted, the interruptor points likewise, and the distributor must be free from dirt and excess oil. Then, too, the compression must be kept right so that there are no leaky valves or valve springs so weak that the valves jump, leaky gaskets, plugs valve caps, petcocks, or any other places past which compression may escape.

Learn About Own Car

In other words, it means that the engine must be kept at a maximum of performance if one is to get the very best out of a gallon of gas. It will be seen, therefore, that it is not always the man who makes the most miles per gallon who gets by with the least cost per gallon. His engine may be working fine and give him a high milage, and he may be so neglecting other things about the car that he is really adding items to the expense of which he is totally unconcious, even though he pays the bill finally.

The novice driver should not leave it to the garage man or anybody else to see that everything is in first-class order, clean, lubricated, adjusted, so that unnecessary expense is not added to the high price which one is obliged to pay in these days. If he will learn his car, not alone how to run it, but how to take care of it, to keep it in trim, he will be sure of getting the most possible out of every gallon of gasoline.

WHAT PLEASED HIM.

A young artist, out on a sketching trip, came across a sturdy youngster carrying a rod and quite a big catch of fish and for a consideration induced him to pose for a sketch.

In a few minutes there came along a man whom every sign proclaimed to be a father of a family.

For half an hour he stood watching the artist at work, then burst out in admiring enthusiasm:

"Well, sir, if that isn't wonderful! Beats all I ever saw!"

"Like the sketch, do you?" the flattered artist responded, with a pleased blush.

"Sketch? Oh, that! Yes, it's all right, I expect. What I meant was the way you have managed to keep that boy quiet for so long."—Answers.

Detroit, Mich., is reputed to be the fastest traffic city in the United States and an elysium of reckless driving.

200 ACRES OF THE SATWARD FARM NOW ON THE MARKET IN LOTS OF 2½ ACRES AND UP.

A BEAUTIFUL SUBURBAN SUBDIVISION.

TO THE MAN looking for a small piece of acreage for raising small fruits or going in for chickens and to the man seeking a suburban homesite commanding a beautiful view and only eight miles from the city, this property will appeal.

THE ADVANTAGES of living in the country (handy to the city) over those enjoyed in the city are tenfold, and with the present demand for such property being so great we expect to have this acreage sold out quickly.

TO THE MAN OF LIMITED MEANS the only road to independence is by owning and cultivating acreage. Small pieces of acreage devoted to the growing of raspberries, loganberries, strawberries, etc., or a few dozen chickens, guarantee a permanent income without the worry and ups and downs of city life.

THE SALARIED MAN, the man depending upon a monthly or weekly wage for his existence, is the very man who should get possession of acreage right now. True, it will take him longer to make his land revenue producing than the fellow who goes right in and gives all time to it, but a start has to be made somehow at some time, and in this subdivision we present him with the opportunity he most seeks, i. e., to become independent.

TO THE PURELY HOMESITE SEEKER this property will also appeal in every way. With its commanding view of the Straits, its outlook on the Islands and Elk Lake, its proximity to the city by a good road (part facea on the East Saanich paved road), and other desirable features, the location is ideal.

PRICES AND TERMS — Prices range from $125 per acre, with terms of only one-fourth cash.

IT IS PROPOSED to leave a right-of-way through the property by which water can be brought from Elk Lake for the use of residents.

THE PURCHASE of any of this property can well be looked upon as a safe and sound investment apart from any other consideration.

BLUEPRINTS may be seen and further particulars obtained by calling or phoning to this office.

CANADA anticipates a period of growth.

Her raw materials remain the envy of her competitors.

She commands capital and skilled workmanship.

Her position in the British Empire gives her prestige and opportunity.

But whether she realizes her hopes fully or only partially rests to no small degree upon her steam railways.

CLOSER to Orient or Europe than is any other part of the New World, Canada would lose this advantage if her railways proved unable to carry her goods quickly to these well-placed ports.

She must be prepared for any development of traffic eastbound or west—or south.

HER rail service must be elastic and dependable. It must have reserve capacity, whether to roll a bumper wheat crop east, or some other Canadian product westbound for Siberia or the Antipodes.

Elasticity, dependability and reserve capacity are profoundly affected by the overwhelming increase in operating expenses as compared to revenue.

This is another reason why increased freight rates are necessary in the public interest!

Real Help for Tired Feet

A busy day and on your feet most of the time—an afternoon of tennis or golf—new shoes to break in—all these mean tired, aching feet.

Rest them and take away the tiredness and soreness by gently rubbing with a few drops of Absorbine J.

Or, if you are very tired and your feet burn and feel swollen, rest them in a solution of "ABSORBINE JR." and water. My! what relief!

"ABSORBINE" JR." is highly concentrated; penetrates quickly; leaves no greasy residue; and is absolutely safe to use.

"NEAR BEER" BYLAW IS NOT QUASHED

But Judge Finds Certain Sections of Surrey Bylaw Bad

New Westminster, Aug. 7.—The application to quash the Surrey liquor license bylaw made by J. W. Dixie for B. D. Grant, of White Rock, was refused by Mr. Justice Murphy here to-day, although certain sections were held to be invalid. The case is of interest to the whole Province as bylaws are similar in character and all affected.

Mr. Justice Murphy finds the section charging applicants $2.50 for inspection fee over and above $200 license fee is beyond the powers of the Council under the statute.

The section providing that licenses may be granted, refused or cancelled by a committee of the Council is bad.

The section is declared invalid which prohibits persons under eighteen or females entering or remaining on the premises or buying near beer." The Council is stated to have no authority to make these distinctions.

The most hotly-contested clause, that of compelling applicants to have hotel accommodations, was upheld. Under this section, the judgment says, the Council has the power to prohibit sale altogether, if need be.

FRENCH AID TO POLAND OPPOSED

French Unified Socialist Party Begins Agitation Against Intervention

Paris, Aug. 7.—Opposition to intervention in Poland against the Russian Bolsheviki on the part of the French Unified Socialist Party has resulted in that organization appealing to members to take action intended to prevent France from becoming involved in the struggle before Warsaw.

"An appeal for the Russian revolution against capitalist imperialism" is the caption under which the committee makes its announcement.

"In concert with the General Labor Federation," the announcement continues, "it has been decided immediately to organize vigorous action against the plan of brigandage directed at the Russian revolution, which may again set fire to the whole of Europe. Until the projected action can be begun, sections and federations are invited to organize from now on all the agitation desirable so that public opinion may at once be informed of the criminal plans of our rulers and the consequences that may result.

"Not a man, not a sou, and not a shell for reactionary capitalist Poland!

"Long live the Russian revolution! Long live the Workers' Internationale!"

TELEPHONES MAY AFFECT RAINFALL

Saskatchewan Farmer Suggests Increase in Lines Decreases Precipitation

Regina, Aug. 7.—(Canadian Press)—Is there any connection between the extension on the prairies of rural telephone lines and the alleged decrease in rainfall? This question is raised in a letter from G. W. Booth, of Seamans, Sask., to The Regina Leader.

Mr. Booth writes as follows:

"There is considerable comment on the decrease in rainfall throughout the west. Each years seems a little drier.

"I have been a resident of the Seamans district for fourteen years and know that severe electric storms are very rare of late years, while in the early days we used to get every year a number of heavy rainfalls accompanied by severe electrical disturbances.

"There is, I believe, a possibility that electric wiring and rodding is doing much to lessen disturbance in the sky. For instance, read Professor Dodd on letting electricity escape from ground to sky through his lightning rods, and also his remarks on groundings.

"I cannot remember one close violent display of lightning or thunder near our home since 1912, when our first rural line was built. It would be interesting to know if there is anything in this."

News of Markets and Finance

QUIET SESSION TO-DAY ON THE MARKET

(By Burdick Brothers, Ltd.)

New York, Aug. 7.—There was continuance of liquidation in a few specialties, but the general list held well, particulraly the rails, which have been absorbed by substantial interests during recent easy periods. C. P. R. opened three points higher than yesterday's close, but lost two points, closing at 116¼. The course of the market will depend in large part on the tenor of advices from Europe, but taken as a whole, the list seems to have been pretty well liquidated and the short interest has expanded materially so that anything favorable will tend to result in a recovery. The advices relative to the foreign situation was somewhat more hopeful, particularly that which suggested that Russia had proposed peace with Roumania.

MAN IS KILLED DURING A RIOT

Loses Life in Further Outbreak in West Frankfort, Illinois

West Frankfort, Ills., Aug. 7.—Sporadic rioting broke out again in West Frankfort this morning and Louis Carrari, forty years old, was shot and beaten to death. This is the first known death since the rioting began Thursday night.

Carrari was dragged from his home by a crowd of rioters and killed while his wife was going for assistance. He was the father of five children. Two men are under arrest in connection with his death.

Two Sicilians were attacked and beaten by a crowd early to-day. One suffered a fractured skull.

Militiamen continue to patrol the streets, and additional troops are arriving.

Firing occurred in various sections of the town last night.

MACLEAN TROOP HAVE PLEASANT TIME IN CAMP

The scouts and cubs of Maclean troop of Boy Scouts treked the Goldstream July 17, and spent the following week under canvas on the Goldstream Flats. This place being an ideal camping place the boys spent a very happy week which was filled with many amusing and interesting incidents. The mornings up till 9 o'clock were filled with camp duties, after which time the scouts and cubs paraded for their signalling parade. For this parade the camp was split into two parties, one party going some distance along the Malahat Drive, and the other party stationing themselves at a point on the opposite side of the Saanich Arm, and from their respective positions the two parties would converse with one another, by means of semaphore and Morse codes, with untiring interest for a period lasting from one to two hours. At 11 o'clock the boys went for their regular daily swim, and those who could not swim were given swimming lessons. The routine for the afternoon as a general rule was a hike into the surrounding country. Several places of interest were visited, the chief of which was the visit to the Goldstream Power House, where the boys saw how electricity was generated. Then the climb up the surrounding hills afforded no end of fun and interest for the boys, the chief climb being that of the day when the boys ascended the steeps of Mount Finlayson and from the summit surveyed the surrounding district. With the unaided eye a good plan of the country could be seen, and several of the larger buildings of Victoria could be recognized distinctly, while with the aid of field glasses the view was extended. The evenings were spent in the water and around the camp fire, where the incidents of the day were gone over with many a jest. For meals and the cooking each boy had a day at providing three good meals under the direction of an orderly officer.

Maclean Wolf Cub pack meets Thursdays, 7 o'clock. Scoutmasters P. Trowsdale and A. MacArtair in charge.

Promotions—Second Ian Spence, to be made Sixer of the White Wolves, to date from July 29.

LITTLE CHANGE IN CHICAGO MARKET

(By Burdick Brothers, Ltd.)

Chicago, Aug. 7.—After a weak start, the market was largely an evening up over Sunday, with short covering rather conspicuous. Unexpected rains falling where needed in Illinois and Iowa took from the bulls their chief argument for higher prices in the corn market. The cash market was relatively weak in face of light receipts, declining about 3 cents. The forecast is for additional showers in this territory to-night. Small receipts are in sight for some little time, due to the demand for cars to move small grains, but the outlook is for liberal supplies when the new crop is well advanced and the producer begins to dispose of his old surplus. The domestic corn situation tends to be conducive to lower prices.

Oats had an independently weak appearance most of the day with the late relly due entirely to short covering and not based on anything constructive in the way of news. This market lacks an influential sustaining factor.

MONTREAL STREET CAR SITUATION IS NOT CLEARED YET

Montreal, Aug. 6.—A. E. Robert, president of the Montreal Tramways Company, yesterday afternoon flatly refused to agree to the ultimatum presented by the employees of the company following their meeting Thursday when the men rejected the increased wage award of the board of conciliation and demanded acceptance of their original demand with a twenty-four-hour ultimatum to expire at noon to-day, failing which they declared they would take such action as they considered necessary. The men will hold a final meeting to-night at which the problem of whether the dispute can be amicably settled or not will be solved.

The men are asking increases averaging roughly 76 per cent., an 8-hour working day and 50 per cent. overtime. The board of conciliation awarded a wage increase of 25 to 30 per cent., without touching on working conditions.

TO-DAY'S TRADING IN WINNIPEG MARKETS

Winnipeg, Aug. 7.—There was a much improved demand to-day for all grades of oats on the Winnipeg market, Eastern buyers being back in the market. The offerings, however, were very small and brokers had difficulty in filling orders. Spreads on all grades advanced one cent. There was also a fair demand for barley and spreads on feed and rejected grades advanced one cent while other grades were unchanged. The flax market continued dull, with very littel business being transacted. Spreads were unchanged. The rye market continued quiet, with prices steady.

BONDS FOR SAFETY

BONDS form the ideal investment for either large or small capital. First, because they are eminently safe, being secured by many times their value. Then because they are readily convertible into cash. There is always a strong market for bonds. The new issues by Governments and Municipalities are of small denominations and so easily available when needed quickly. Some of the new Municipals yield as high as 9 per cent.

I.O.O.F. PICNIC WAS A HUGE SUCCESS

Happy Gathering at Mount Douglas Park; Good Sports Programme

The annual picnic of the I. O. O. F. took place at Mt. Douglas Park on Wednesday afternoon, and added another link in the chain of pleasant events characteristic of Oddfellowship. At 1.30 p. m. the members of the Order and their families assembled at the hall on Douglas Street, where cars had been provided to convey the merrymakers to and from the park. Some 250 brothers and sisters were present.

The splendid programme of sports which had been arranged by the committee were keenly contested, the winning margin being very small, especially in the tug-of-war between the married and single ladies, and also the pull between Victoria Lodge No. 1 and Columbia Lodge No. 2. After a long, strong pull, the cup was won for this year by Victoria Lodge No. 1, Columbia Lodge No. 2 having been the winners the previous two years.

At the conclusion of the sports programme the ladies spread a bountiful supply of the usual good things, which was the most inviting item on the programme, and was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Much credit is due to Sisters Doane, Brown and Bowers, of Colfax Rebekah Lodge, for their untiring efforts in making the afternoon one to be long remembered. The sports were under the able management of Bro. McLean and were carried out with satisfaction to all present.

Relay race, between Victoria Lodge No. 1, Columbia Lodge No. 2, and Dominion Lodge No. 4, was won for the first year for Columbia Lodge No. 2 by Bros. Machail, Humber, Richardson, and Anderson.
Tug-of-war, between Victoria Lodge No. 1 and Columbia Lodge No. 2—Winner, Victoria Lodge No. 1.

CATARRH IS CAUSED BY Bad Breath

Canadians suffer more fro Catarrh than from any other disease. On this account Catarrh is dangerous and should be crecked at the outset.

It isn't necessary to take internal medicine to cure Catarrh. There is a far better method.

Doctors now treat Catarrh by sending a purifying, healing vapor through the breathing organs. In this way the germs of Catarrh are destroyed.

The only successful vapor treatment is CATARRHOZONE, which the patient breathes through a special inhaler to the real seat of the trouble. The rich, piney essences of Catarrhozone heal and soothe all inflamed surfaces. They effectively treat the nose, throat and lungs with a powerful antiseptic that destroys irritation at once.

Catarrhozone brings into the system the balmy air of the pine forest. It cures completely colds, coughs, catarrh, weak throat, and bronchitis.

Once tried, Catarrhozone is always used. Nothing so pleasant, so simple, so quick to relieve, so absolutely sure to permanently cure. Accept no substitute. Large size lasts two months, and costs $1.00; small size 50c.; sample trial size 25c.; at all dealers.

LOCAL FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS TO HOLD FIRST LUNCHEON WEDNESDAY

The newly-formed Victoria and District Fire Insurance Agents' Association will hold its first monthly business meeting and luncheon on Wednesday next at 12.30 p. m. at the Dominion Hoted, to which all the fire insurance agents have been invited.

It had been hoped that Walter G. Robertson, one of the most prominent fire underwriters of Seattle, would address the gathering, but he has wired to say that stress of business prevents him.

R. S. Day has been kind enough to step into the breach and will speak to the meeting upon "Some Present Day Problems Facing Fire Insurance Agents in Victoria."

Tickets for the luncheon can be obtained from Dan Campbell, the president, any member of the committee or the secretary.

Francis F. Fatt has been appointed secretary of the Association and has opened his office in the Sayward Building.

DR. TOLMIE TO OPEN SAANICH FAIR

Keen Interest Shown in Agricultural Society's Annual Show

Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Minister of Agriculture, has kindly consented to perform the opening ceremony at the fifty-second annual fair of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society, to be held at Saanichton on September 13, 14 and 15. A wire to this effect was received by the secretary, Colin H. Chisholm, from the Minister yesterday.

Interest in the fair this year is keener than ever, according to Mr. Chisholm, who states that present indications suggest that the number of entries will be larger than for several years past, in spite of the fact that the fair is being held three weeks earlier than usual. Crops in the Saanich area are exceptionally promising and the farmers generally are planning to send in some fine exhibits. A special feature is being made this year of the women's and childrens' sections, while the district exhibits promise to be finer and more comprehensive than ever.

LIMIT MISUSE OF BENVENUTO GARDENS

Picnics Have to Be Stopped; Arrangements For Public Visits

Mr. R. P. Butchart desires The Times to print the following announcement concerning the famous Benvenuto Gardens at Tod Inlet which, through his generosity, has become one of the show places of the Island:

"It is with regret that we find it impossible to maintain the gardens at Tod Inlet in such condition as we would wish and permit them to be used as picnic and play grounds. Therefore, in the interests of the garden-loving public and ourselves, we have decided that commencing immediately they will be closed to picnic parties.

"Visitors are very welcome to view the gardens every week day, excepting Thursday, Saturday and Sunday.

"May we take this opportunity to say that it is doubtful if there is another place on the continent, with the population of Victoria and vicinity, where private grounds such as Benvenuto Gardens could be thrown open to the public and sustain so little damage as has occurred there during the past three years.

"The great majority of visitors have been most considerate, and to them we would extend our sincere appreciation and thanks.

"We would ask those who in the past have thoughtlessly thrown their camera and cigarette papers and other litter over the place to kindly co-operate with us in the future in trying to keep the place clean."

COMPLAIN ABOUT WORKING OF ACT

Great War Comrades Say Compensation Not Being Paid to Some Workmen

Complaint that the Workmen's Compensation Act was not being applied properly to some Victoria workers was made at a meeting of the Comrades of the Great War last night. It was declared that men in the employment of the Harbor Marine Company were forced to pay their own bills when ill, contrary to the provisions of the Act. The Comrades appointed a committee of two to accompany the Association's legal adviser in a conference with Premier Oliver and the Executive Council on this subject.

Members present complained also that funds of the Canadian Patriotic Fund were being used in Britain for the support of veterans of other than Canadian nationality. A motion condemning such expenditures was passed by the meeting and will be forwarded to other returned men's organizations for their endorsation. The Comrades held that Americans and Australians should be cared for by their own people when money still was urgently needed for the support of Canadians.

The meeting last night transacted a large volume of routine business. Having in mind the excellent work of the I.O.D.E., in connection with military graves at Ross Bay, the Comrades voted a donation of $100 to the ladies. Fifteen new applications for membership were received and passed. Following a discussion in regard to the reported approaching resignation of Agent-General Wade, the meeting passed a resolution urging that returned men be given preference in oppointments to official positions. The resignation of Comrade Litchfield from the Ex-Service Council was accepted, but a motion that the remaining delegates be instructed to withdraw was tabled. The meeting appointed a committee of three to consider the extension of the association to include the sons of members.

Much discussion centred around the forthcoming convention and two representatives were selected to go to Vancouver in connection with the matter. President McNichol, who presided at the meeting, and Comrade Mason were chosen for this purpose and will leave for Vancouver to-morrow.

VANCOUVER ISLAND NEWS

Cowichan Health Centre

Duncan—At a well attended meeting of the Cowichan Health Centre board and representatives from the outlying districts held in the Women's Institute Rooms, Duncan, Wednesday afternoon, many matters were discussed and questions asked of Dr. Young who, with Mrs. Fleming, was up from Victoria expressly for that reason.

Colonel and Mrs. Moss, G. A. Cheeke, C. Wallich and the Rev. F. L. Stephenson were the chief speakers.

It was decided to have two nurses to cover the whole district, to call the centre Cowichan Electoral District Health Centre, and to make no charges for transportation of nurses in the car to the patient's home.

A scale of fees to be charged is to be made by the health centre board.

The amount that each district is to provide for this scheme is to be agreed upon later.—Cowichan Leader.

Native Sons Picnic.

Nanaimo:—The first annual picnic of the local Posts of Native Sons and Native Daughters was held Wednesday on Newcastle Island. The affair was a huge success. While many were on the grounds from early morning it was not until the afternoon that the big rush took place. The festivities were kept up to a late hour, the day's enjoyment being brought to a close with a big dance.

Going South.

Nanaimo:—After an extended visit in Nanaimo with relatives and friends, Mrs. Ralph Bell will leave for her home in San Francisco, and will be accompanied by her niece, Miss Gertie Quaggin. They will travel to Victoria by auto, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Aitken.

MEDAL ROLLS FOR R.A.F. IN PREPARATION

The Secretary of the Air Ministry announces that medal rolls of those who have qualified for the British War and Victory Medals are in course of preparation.

Demobilized and invalided officers of the Royal Air Force are requested to write to the Secretary (S. 7 Medals) Air Ministry, Kingsway, W.C. 2, as soon as possible for the necessary form of application, in order that their claim may be considered.

Medal rolls in the case of airmen are being prepared from their documents at the Royal Air Force Record Office, and no application on their part is necessary.
